The Speaker of the House of Commons.

A Message was delivered by the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod.

"Mr. Speaker, His Excellency the Governor General desires the immediate attendance of this Honourable House in the Chamber of the Honourable the Senate".

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, with the House, went up to the Senate Chamber, and Mr. Speaker spoke to the following effect:

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY:

The House of Commons have elected me their Speaker, though I am but little able to fulfil the important duties thus assigned to me.

If, in the performance of those duties, I should at any time fall into error, I pray that the fault may be imputed to me, and not to the Commons, whose servant I am, and who, through me, the better to enable them to discharge their duty to their Queen and Country, humbly claim all their undoubted rights and privileges, especially that they may have freedom of speech in their debates, access to Your Excellency's person at all seasonable times, and that their proceedings may receive from Your Excellency the most favourable construction.

The Honourable the Speaker of the Senate then said:

"Mr. Speaker, I am commanded by His Excellency the Governor General to declare to you that he freely confides in the duty and attachment of the House of Commons to Her Majesty's Person and Government and, not doubting that their proceedings will be conducted with wisdom, temper and prudence, he grants and upon all occasions will recognize and allow their constitutional privileges.

I am commanded also to assure you that the Commons shall have ready access to His Excellency upon all occasions, and that their proceedings as well as your words and actions, will constantly receive from him the most favourable construction."

And the House being returned:

Mr. Speaker reported that the House had been in the Senate Chamber, and that he had, in their names and on their behalf, made the usual claim of privileges, which His Excellency had been pleased to confirm to them.

Mr. Pearson, seconded by Mr. Martin (Essex East), by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-1, An Act respecting the Administration of Oaths of Office, which was read the first time.

Mr. Speaker reported that, when the House did attend His Excellency the Governor General this day in the Senate Chamber, His Excellency was pleased to make a speech to both Houses of Parliament, and to prevent mistakes, he had obtained a copy, which is as follows:

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

I welcome you to the first session of the Twenty-seventh Parliament of Canada. As we meet on the eve of our Centennial year, it is fitting to reaffirm the values and purposes that unite all our people, and to work, with resolution and patriotism for their realization. We should be very proud to be Canadians.

Our country is continuing to make economic and social progress while playing a responsible role in world affairs. As a member of the United Nations, as a member of the Commonwealth of which our beloved Queen is the Head, and as a partner in the North Atlantic Alliance, Canada will strive to make the greatest possible contribution to improve international relations and assure peace with justice to all peoples. Our capacity for national achievement, like that of other countries, depends on the peace and prosperity of the world community.

Canada will continue strongly to support the efforts of Britain, the Commonwealth and the international community to bring an end to the present illegal situation in Rhodesia. My Prime Minister has recently attended a meeting of Commonwealth leaders in Nigeria, at which this critical issue was discussed and the value of the Commonwealth as a multi-racial association confirmed.

The recent official visit to the Caribbean region made by the Prime Minister reflects the importance my Government attaches to strengthening relationships in economic matters between Canada and Commonwealth countries in this area.

In the United Nations, Canada will continue its efforts, in concert with other countries, to develop means of keeping the peace and strengthening the influence of the world organization. My Government will also do everything it can to assist in finding a basis for negotiating a peaceful settlement of the Vietnam conflict. We shall do our utmost through the United Nations and the Disarmament Committee to foster arrangements for preventing the spread of nuclear weapons and for progress towards disarmament. For the security of the North Atlantic community and the stability of Europe, my Government will seek to preserve and strengthen the unity and effectiveness of the North Atlantic Alliance.

International objectives must be pursued by economic and social as well as political means. My Government will recommend to Parliament further measures to improve and develop international economic conditions and to strengthen the Canadian economy.

My Government intends progressively to develop its external aid programs. You will be asked to approve Canada's participation in the Asian Development Bank.

My Government recognizes that Canada has an obligation to share in efforts to prevent or limit armed conflict. Our object, within the limits of our capacity, must be to improve the prospects of world peace and prosperity.

My Government will continue to strengthen the capacity of the integrated Canadian Defence Forces to provide for the security of Canada and to contribute abroad to the preservation of peace. Amendments to the National Defence Act will be laid before you.

The preservation and strengthening of Canadian identity and unity is the most important trust and responsibility of Parliament and of my Government. That unity rests on a Canadianism based upon the two main cultural strands, British and French, enriched by the contributions of other cultural groups, and recognizing the essential contribution of all to the development of Canadian identity.

The approach of the Centennial of Confederation makes it of the utmost importance that Canadians in all parts of the country should look to Ottawa as its true capital where they can feel at home. To this end my Government will continue to work toward the broadening of the bilingual character of the public service. The national capital should increasingly reflect the nature of the Canadian society.

In its relations with the Provinces, my Government is guided by the conviction that Canadian federalism must draw its vitality and strength from the mutual respect and co-operation of the national and provincial governments. The Canadian people can be well served by their political institutions only if each element in our federal system is able to act effectively within its constitutional sphere. While respecting fully the responsibilities of the provinces, the Government is equally resolved to maintain the constitutional responsibilities of the federal authority.

The Tax Structure Committee, in which the federal and provincial governments, by a common effort, are making a fundamental review of their relations in matters of finance, is nearing the end of its task. The Committee is expected to present recommendations to the Federal-Provincial Conference which will meet later in the year to consider how fiscal relations between the federal and provincial governments might best be adjusted to strengthen each authority in the discharge of its constitutional responsibilities.

My Government will accordingly submit to you legislation respecting federal-provincial fiscal arrangements to become effective in 1967.

It remains the objective of my Ministers to provide that the Constitution of Canada may be amended in Canada.

You will be asked to authorize my Government to provide that "O Canada" shall be the national anthem and that "God Save the Queen" shall be the royal anthem in Canada.

A measure will be placed before you to provide for the re-organization of certain departments of government, in order to adapt the structure of administration to new and changing conditions and so better meet the needs of our people. The purpose of this re-organization is to provide for closer and better co-ordinated action in the following areas of public policy: manpower policies, which are essential to the sustained growth of a highly productive economy and to the elimination of pockets of poverty within that economy; rural development programs, which are necessary to agricultural progress and a better rural life; integrated federal policies with respect to energy and resources; the special needs of the indigenous people of Canada and of the development of the North; the federal responsibility for laws relating to the conduct of business activity; the problems of corrections and crime, particularly in regard to the effective co-ordination of police services and intelligence in combatting organized crime; and improved management and administration within the public service generally.

For these purposes you will be asked to approve: the conversion of the Department of Citizenship and Immigration into a Department of Manpower; the broadening of the Department of Forestry into a Department of Forestry and Rural Development; the creation of a Department of Energy, Mines and Resources; the conversion of the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources into a Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Affairs; the establishment of a new department responsible for the special areas of legislation concerned with the conduct of business activity; the establishment of the office of Solicitor General as a full department of government; and the establishment of a Department of the Treasury Board under its own Minister. My Government believes that these changes in organization will enable the processes of administration to respond more speedily and efficiently to the problems of modern times.

Our country is enjoying an unprecedented period of prosperity and growth. Production, investment and trade have expanded rapidly. Employment opportunities have more than kept pace with the rapid increase in our labour force. Unemployment has fallen in all regions of the country, and has been at the lowest level in many years. Canadians have benefited from good harvests and a high level of demand for our farm products.

The opportunities and the need for further sustained economic growth have been indicated by the Reviews of the Economic Council of Canada. My Government intends to pursue policies to ensure that our prosperity and growth continue. It is important that the benefits this can bring to all Canadians should not be jeopardized by excessive costs and prices which would endanger the stability of our economy. My Government therefore intends to continue its policy of stretching out its expenditure on public construction projects in areas of heavy pressure on the construction industry.

With a high rate of employment, our economic growth and living standards will depend increasingly on how successful we are in improving the performance of our economy. Our economic efficiency can be improved by concerted efforts to adapt and develop our institutions, both private and governmental, to our real needs. Improvements in the skills and efficiency of our existing working force, and of those entering the labour force will necessitate increasing emphasis on training, on education and in general on enabling and assisting our people to qualify for the best jobs available. We work and trade in a highly competitive world which offers many opportunities but demands the best performance. Improvements in productivity will permit our economy to grow faster and should enable us to achieve higher standards of living and a better balance in our international payments.

Banking legislation and related proposals will be placed before you.

A Bill will be placed before you to amend the Railway Act, which has been modified in the light of consideration in the last Parliament and public discussion in the intervening period. You will also be asked to consider a measure respecting the capital structure of the Canadian National Railways.

My Government attaches great importance to improving the technical capabilities of Canadian industry. The program for the advancement of industrial technology, introduced last year, is well under way and a number of important individual projects have already been initiated. You will be asked to approve legislation to encourage research and development, which will enlarge and improve upon the present taxation incentive. You will also be asked to enact legislation to establish a Science Council of Canada in order to encourage further the progress of scientific research.

My Government will propose a vigorous program, in co-operation with the provinces, to foster the training of workers and to assist in bringing into productive employment those who are now unemployed or inadequately employed. You will be asked to consider a measure to improve the system of training allowances provided under federal-provincial agreements.

You will be asked to approve the creation of a fund for financing major rural development projects and, in order to facilitate wide-ranging action for rural development, amendments to the legislation regarding agricultural rehabilitation will be placed before you.

In order that farmers of this country may enjoy living and working standards comparable with those of Canadians engaged in other occupations, measures designed to raise and safeguard farm incomes will be introduced. Among other measures, my Government will propose a program for the purchase, re-development and re-sale of farms that are not now viable economic units. You will be asked to consider a revision of the Crop Insurance Act, for the purpose of enabling crop insurance to be available to all farmers.

Legislation to establish a Canadian Dairy Commission will be placed before you. A measure will also be proposed to provide cash advances for unthreshed grain when weather conditions prevent full harvesting. You will be asked to approve legislation to improve the movement and marketing of feed grain in Eastern Canada and British Columbia by creating a livestock feed agency.

The heavy demand for loans from the Farm Credit Corporation makes it desirable again to increase the capital of the Corporation.

In furtherance of the national fishery program, a measure for the development of the commercial fisheries of Canada will be proposed. You will also be asked to consider a proposal for income support for inshore fishermen in years of catch failure.

My Ministers will continue their efforts to promote Canada's trade through programs designed to bring this nation's existing resources and growing industrial capacities to the attention of the world, and through a full participation in international negotiations.

You will be asked to increase the ceiling for long-term export financing under the Export Credits Insurance Act, to facilitate the continued expansion of our export trade.

A resolution will be brought before you concerning the Canada-United States Agreement on Automotive Products, which my Government regards as one of the most important trading arrangements ever made between Canada and the United States.

You will be asked to approve legislation to establish a Canada Development Corporation. My Government is initiating consultation with the provinces for the improvement of securities legislation, and will propose a measure to improve the effectiveness of the Bankruptcy Act.

It is the intention of the Government that the work commenced by the joint committee on consumer credit in the last Parliament will be carried on in the new Parliament, and that a special committee of the House of Commons on food and drugs be again established.

My Government will continue to work for the effective co-ordination of measures to reduce poverty and increase security across Canada. In this respect, the Canada Assistance Plan is intended to enable the Provinces to provide, on a comprehensive and flexible basis, adequate assistance to individuals and families in need. Since the announcement of this measure by my Government early last year, satisfactory discussions have been held with all the provinces and legislation embodying the Government's proposals will be placed before you in this session.

It is the aim of my Government to provide young people with the opportunities they are seeking for constructive service to the community, at home and abroad, and to that end legislation will be placed before you for the establishment of a Company of Young Canadians.

In accordance with my Ministers' belief that public policy should be directed to ensuring that all Canadians can obtain needed health services, irrespective of their ability to pay, my Government last July announced its willingness to make fiscal contributions to provinces which provide programs of medical care meeting certain criteria. When discussions with the provinces have been sufficiently advanced, legislation to carry out this proposal will be placed before you.

To provide for the expected expansion of health services, my Government has announced its intention to establish a Health Resources Fund of $500 million. You will be asked to approve a measure establishing this Fund.

While fully respecting the jurisdiction of the provinces in matters of education, my Government recognizes a pressing obligation to foster more effective development of the human resources of Canada by assisting the expansion of institutions of higher education, and by providing greater and more equitable opportunities for young Canadians to attend such institutions. A program of Canada scholarships and bursaries for students undertaking higher education will be submitted for your approval. Amendments will be proposed to the Student Loans Act. As an initial response to the acute financial difficulties encountered by the universities and colleges, you will be asked to approve a substantial increase in the federal financial assistance to universities for the academic year 1966-67. After discussion with the provinces, my Government will convene a meeting to consider continuing action in a manner that recognizes differences in the educational systems and institutions of the provinces.

Legislation on unemployment insurance will be proposed. You will also be asked to consider measures respecting the Fair Wages and Hours of Labour Act and Safety in Employment.

Arrangements will be made for you to decide the issue of capital punishment at an early date.

My Government intends to place before you legislation regarding Term 29 of the Terms of Union with Newfoundland.

My Government will propose legislation to amend the Canadian Citizenship Act, in order to ensure equality of rights for all citizens; legislation to make collective bargaining available to the Public Service; legislation revising federal superannuation and pension plans to integrate them with the Canada Pension Plan; legislation to remit to provincial governments 95% of corporation taxes on investor-owned electric utilities; a measure to help the development of a feature film industry in Canada; legislation to establish the National Arts Centre and measures respecting the National Gallery and Museums; the extension of the Export and Import Permits Act; and legislation to extend the construction period for the Trans-Canada Highway.

Other legislative proposals which you will be asked to consider will include amendments to the Judges Act, the National Energy Board Act, the Area Development Incentives Act, the Aeronautics Act, the Canadian Vessel Construction Assistance Act, the Yukon and Northwest Territories Acts, the Bretton Woods Agreements Act, the Atlantic Development Board Act, the National Housing Act, the Defence Production Act, and the Post Office Act. Further measures may be brought forward in the course of the Session as a result of inquiries now pending.

Members of the House of Commons:

You will be asked to appropriate the funds required for the services and payments authorized by Parliament.

Honourable Members of the Senate:

Members of the House of Commons:

May Divine Providence guide you in your deliberations.

On motion of Mr. Pearson seconded by Mr. Martin (Essex East), it was ordered,—That the Speech of His Excellency the Governor General, delivered this day from the Throne to the two Houses of Parliament, be taken into consideration at the next sitting of the House.

On motion of Mr. Pearson, seconded by Mr. Martin (Essex East), it was resolved,—That a Special Committee be appointed to prepare and report, with all convenient speed, lists of Members to compose the Standing Committees of this House; the said Committee to be composed of Messrs. Grégoire, Knowles, Leboe, McIlraith, Pilon, Starr and Winkler.

Mr. Pearson, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, delivered a Message from His Excellency the Governor General, which was read by Mr. Speaker, as follows:

GEORGES P. VANIER:

The Governor General transmits to the House of Commons a certified copy of an Order in Council appointing the Honourable George James McIlraith, Minister of Public Works, the Honourable John Robert Nicholson, Minister of Labour, the Honourable Maurice Sauvé, Minister of Forestry, and the Honourable Edgar John Benson, Minister of National Revenue, to act with the Speaker of the House of Commons as commissioners for the purposes and under the provisions of the one hundred and forty-third chapter of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1952, intituled: An Act respecting the House of Commons.

On motion of Mr. Pearson, seconded by Mr. Martin (Essex East), Herman Maxwell Batten, Esquire, Member for the Electoral District of Humber-St. George's, was appointed Chairman of Committees of the Whole House.

On motion of Mr. Pearson, seconded by Mr. Martin (Essex East), Maurice Rinfret, Esquire, Member for the Electoral District of Saint-Jacques, was appointed Deputy Chairman of Committees of the Whole House.

Mr. Speaker informed the House that the Governor in Council had appointed Alistair Fraser, B.A., LL.B., as Clerk Assistant of the House of Commons.

Returns and Reports Deposited with the Clerk of the House

The following papers having been deposited with the Clerk of the House were laid upon the Table pursuant to Standing Order 40, namely:

By Mr. Speaker,—Report of the Proceedings of the Commissioners of Internal Economy of the House of Commons, for the period April 5, 1965 to January 17, 1966, pursuant to Standing Order 81. (English and French).

By Mr. Speaker,—Report of the Parliamentary Librarian, pursuant to section 2 of the Regulations respecting the Library of Parliament. (English and French), which is as follows:

To the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons:

The Parliamentary Librarian has the honour to submit his report for the Calendar year 1965. The last report was presented to both Houses on April 5, 1965.

The most important development of the year was the establishment of a Research Branch in the Library as recommended by the Special Committee on Organization and Procedure in its report to the House on October 7, 1964.

This new Branch carries our reference work beyond the stage of providing the raw material of books, pamphlets, clippings, and isolated facts in that it compresses this information into more useable form. Mr. Philip Laundry, A.L.A., an internationally-recognized authority on Parliamentary Affairs, author of The Office of Speaker, co-author of An Encyclopaedia of Parliament, and formerly Librarian of Parliament of Southern Rhodesia, heads this new service assisted by Messrs. L. A. Christie, M.Sc., P. MacDougall, B.A., R. J. Préfontaine, B.A., W. H. Hopkinson, B.A., and one secretary. Several reports have been completed, more are in preparation, and much indexing and abstracting has been done, but the real test begins with this session. Though the positions were advertised early in the year, and many applications were received, only six of the nine positions were filled by the end of 1965. In using this new service we hope all Senators and Members will realize that it is at present understaffed and the personnel inexperienced as a team. However, we look forward with confidence to carrying out this new function to your satisfaction.

In view of the importance of this new development we particularly regret that there was no meeting of the Joint Committee in 1965, for the formation of this Branch might have been greatly assisted by informed discussion at such a meeting. We anticipate an early meeting this year, however, to deal with this and other Library matters.

The publication of the Selected Additions List was continued for the benefit of Senators and Members. Three of these lists were bibliographies on Health Insurance, Capital Punishment, and Parliamentary Procedure. In September our Reference Branch also prepared a Selected Reading List related to topics on the Agenda of the Eleventh Conference of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association held in Wellington.

An extensive bibliography of material on Gerontology in the Library of Parliament was prepared for the use of the Canadian Conference on Aging and the staff also assisted in the preparation of a bibliography of Canadian reference books being compiled by the Reference Section of the Canadian Library Association. A list of Newspapers and Periodicals currently received by the Library of Parliament including the Reading Room of the House of Commons was prepared and printed and is now ready for distribution.

From January 1st to December 31st, 1965, our staff answered 2,543 reference questions, and circulated 16,407 books and periodicals, including 837 to other libraries. These figures are naturally lower than those of 1964 because of the longer absence of Senators and Members from Ottawa. During the same period 11,843 volumes were catalogued and classified, which brings to 225,465 the number of volumes recatalogued since the fire of 1952.

The Vertical File and Clipping Service clips some twenty Canadian newspapers and its increasing collection covers subjects of prime interest to Parliamentarians, including themselves, especially in the fields of economics and politics. Our Xerox photocopier enables us to provide copies of clippings, articles, or pages from books, and in 1965, 35,157 copies were made.

The Parliamentary Librarian was guest speaker at the British Columbia Library Association meeting in Kelowna, B.C. in May, and also attended the Annual Conference of the Canadian Library Association in Toronto in June, a C.L.A. Council meeting in Calgary in October, and a meeting of the Institute of Professional Librarians of Ontario in Toronto in September. He continued to serve on the National Library Advisory Council, and as Chairman of the Beta Sigma Phi Canadian First Novel Award Board. Both he and the Associate Parliamentary Librarian continued to serve as Directors of the Canadian Writers Foundation.

The Associate Parliamentary Librarian served as advisor to the Honourable J. M. Dessureault, Head of the Canadian group, at the official opening of the new Headquarters of the Inter-parliamentary Union in Geneva in November, where he attended the symposium on "The Problems of Parliament Today". The Associate Parliamentary Librarian then visited the Swiss National Library in Berne, and in Paris studied the organization and services of the Libraries of the French Conseil de la Republique, and Assemblée Nationale. The Associate Parliamentary Librarian attended the Annual Meeting of the Royal Society of Canada in Vancouver in June. This year he was elected one of the twenty-four members of the Académie Canadienne Française, and at the request of the Canada Council he organized and chaired a meeting of French-Canadian poets which was held at Stanley House, New Richmond, Quebec, on July 19-23, 1965.

The Associate Parliamentary Librarian, the Chief Reference Librarian, and three other professional librarians attended the Annual Meeting of the Association Canadienne des Bibliothécaires de Langue Française in Ottawa in October.

The Assistant Librarian was elected President of the Institute of Professional Librarians of Ontario for 1965-1966, and, in addition to attending the Board's bi-monthly meetings in Toronto, she attended the Annual Meeting at Niagara Falls in May, and a workshop in Toronto in September. In December she attended the Conference on Collective Bargaining and the Professional Employee at the University of Toronto. The Assistant Librarian also attended the Annual Conference of the Canadian Library Association in Toronto, and, with the Chief of the Research Branch, visited Washington in August to study the Legislative Reference Service of the Library of Congress.

Several members of our staff attended courses in French Conversation, Speed Reading, Information Retrieval, and Data Processing.

The final report of Mr. H. L. Laframboise, Chief, Organization Division, Advisory Research Branch, Civil Service Commission, on the Organization of the Library of Parliament was received in November. In addition, the Speaker of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Commons requested the Civil Service Commission to undertake a classification study of all positions on our establishment. This report was received in September, and most of its recommendations have already been implemented. The valuable assistance of the Civil Service Commission in these and other matters is very much appreciated.

A number of distinguished visitors called during the year to see the Library, and in some cases, to make use of it: the late Lal Bahadur Shastri, Prime Minister of India; His Excellency, Sir Kenneth Bailey, High Commissioner for Australia; Senator Edouard Bonneau, Paris, France; and Dr. Werner Blischke, Parliamentary Counsel, The Bundestag, Bonn, Germany. Many Librarians also visited the Library including M. André Roussy, Librarian of the Conseil de la République, Paris, France; Mr. Eiji Kobayashi of the National Diet Library, Tokyo, Japan, and Mr. Douglas Boylan, Legislative Librarian of Prince Edward Island.

We were particularly pleased to receive the following manuscripts or typescripts during the year from: Mr. Andrew Brewin, Q.C., M.P. Stand on Guard; Mr. Stanley Knowles, M.P., The New Party; Mr. Heath Macquarrie, M.P., The Conservative Party; Mr. Robert Thompson, M.P., Commonsense for Canadians; Mr. Terence Robertson, Crisis, The Bitter Hours, The Strategy of Peace. Many other welcome gifts of books were also received during the year.

We are happy to publicly acknowledge a debt of gratitude to Mr. T. E. Monette, formerly our Chief Reference Librarian, who celebrated 40 years of distinguished service in the Library on March 8, 1965. He has agreed to continue his service as Senior Library Consultant.

We should also note the addition of a well-designed display case provided by the Public Works Services of the House of Commons to show the original flag proclamation to the thousands of tourists who visit the Library every year.

Finally, we should like to thank our colleagues on the staff of the Senate, the House of Commons, and the Department of Public Works for their assistance in helping us serve all Senators and Members who make use of the Library.

Respectfully submitted,

ERIK J. SPICER,
Parliamentary Librarian.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: Honourable Members will have noticed that there are on today's Order Paper more than 100 Public Bills listed for introduction by Private Members.

It would be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, for the Chair to review the provisions of each of these bills at this time. May I therefore suggest to the House that we adopt the procedure which was agreed upon by the House in each of the past four sessions; namely, that we proceed to the introduction and first reading of these bills, so that each may be scrutinized between now and the time appointed for its second reading, in order to determine whether there be any defect therein with respect to the practices and usages of the House.

Therefore, in order to save the time of the House, taking into consideration that perhaps more than two hours would be required to introduce each of these measures separately, it is suggested that, by unanimous consent, all the bills listed for introduction on today's Order Paper be deemed to have been introduced, given first reading and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House, subject of course to a subsequent examination as to the regularity of each bill.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: If honourable Members have no other comments to submit to the Chair, I am ready to rule on the subamendment introduced by the honourable Member for Portneuf.

First, I should like to thank the honourable Member for Edmonton West and the honourable Member for Lapointe who were kind enough to offer their comments; that is always useful to the Speaker when he has to make a ruling as to whether or not a subamendment is in order. I must say to the honourable Member for Lapointe that I am not in agreement with his suggestion that amendments of this type have always been received in the past. On the contrary, the study I made on that matter, sometime ago, more precisely during the last session of the last parliament, shows that on several occasions subamendments moved in similar circumstances were ruled out because they did not deal directly with the amendment submitted to the house.

Allow me at this time to repeat an argument which was made last year, that is in February 1964, by the honourable Member for Edmonton West when an amendment and subamendment were submitted to the House. The honourable Member for Edmonton West quoted a ruling from Speaker Fauteux, as reported in the Journals of the House for 1948, at pages 220 and 221. I quote:

Obviously the amendment moved by Mr. Bracken constitutes a non confidence motion and deals exclusively with that question.

In my opinion, it is quite obvious that the subamendment does not in any way alter the amendment, since it deals with an entirely different matter. It is also obvious that the subamendment raises new and important matters. I now wish to quote Beauchesne's third edition, page 142, citation No. 367:

"A subamendment on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne may be moved subject to the same rules as any other amendment. It must be relevant to the amendment and cannot raise a new issue."

For the information of honourable Members, I now quote citation No. 202 from Beauchesne's fourth edition:

Since the purpose of a subamendment is to alter the amendment, it should not enlarge upon the scope of the amendment but it should deal with matters that are not covered by the amendment; if it is intended to bring up matters foreign to the amendment, the member should wait until the amendment is disposed of and move a new amendment.

The honourable Member for Lapointe has a point when he says that these two matters are related to social security measures, but I do not feel the relationship is complete and specific enough.

Under the circumstances, I must say that the subamendment moved by the honourable Member for Portneuf goes further than the amendment itself and cannot be accepted by the Chair.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Goyer, seconded by Mr. Stanbury,—That the following Address be presented to His Excellency the Governor General of Canada:

To His Excellency General the Right Honourable Georges-P. Vanier, Companion of the Distinguished Service Order, upon whom has been conferred the Military Cross and the Canadian Forces' Decoration, Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Canada.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY:

We, Her Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the House of Commons of Canada, in Parliament assembled, beg leave to offer our humble thanks to Your Excellency for the gracious Speech which Your Excellency has addressed to both Houses of Parliament;

"We respectfully regret that Your Excellency's advisers have omitted to provide for an immediate increase from $75.00 per month to $100.00 per month for all recipients under the Old Age Security Act.";

And debate continuing; the said debate was interrupted.

Returns and Reports Deposited with the Clerk of the House

The following paper having been deposited with the Clerk of the House was laid upon the Table pursuant to Standing Order 40, namely:

By Mr. Greene, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council,—Report on Activities under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, for the Crop Year ended July 31, 1965, pursuant to section 12 of the said Act, chapter 213, R.S.C., 1952. (English and French).

At ten o'clock p.m., Mr. Speaker adjourned the House without question put until tomorrow at 11.00 o'clock a.m.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: Today marks the 50th anniversary of the destruction by fire of the original Parliament Buildings of Canada.

The blaze broke out in the Reading Room at 8.55 p.m. and spread swiftly throughout the Building. At the time the House was debating problems concerning the fishing industry.

Honourable Members may be interested in the following extract from Hansard as reported at page 578:

9.00 p.m.—At this time Mr. C. R. Stewart, Chief Doorkeeper of the House of Commons, came hurriedly into the Chamber and called out:

"There is a big fire in the Reading Room; everybody get out quickly."

The sitting was immediately suspended without formality, and Members, Officials, and visitors in the galleries, fled from the Chamber. Some of them were almost overcome by the rapidly advancing smoke and flames before reaching a place of safety. The fire, which had originated in the Reading Room, gained momentum with extreme rapidity and was soon beyond control. It continued till the following day, resulting in the almost total destruction of the Parliament Buildings, together with the loss of several lives.

As the honourable Members know, the only part of the original buildings remaining virtually intact, was the Library.

Following the disaster Parliament met in the Lecture Theatre of the Victoria Memorial Museum and sessions continued there until February 2, 1920, when Parliament met in the present building for the first time. Yesterday marked our 46th year in this Chamber of our Parliament.

Among the casualties of the fire was the Mace and a temporary replacement was hastily constructed and was used for several months after the fire and it is this mace which is in use today.

By unanimous consent, it was ordered that an annotated provisional copy of the Standing Orders of the House of Commons be printed as an appendix to Votes and Proceedings, of Friday, February 4, 1966.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

And the House continuing in Committee;

At 6.00 o'clock p.m., Mr. Speaker took the Chair.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Martin (Essex East), a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copy of letters exchanged between the Secretary of State for External Affairs and the British High Commissioner with respect to certain measures concerning Rhodesia.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: Following the discussion in the House of Tuesday, February 15, when honourable Members were invited to argue the Point of Order raised by the honourable Member for Cumberland (Mr. Coates), the Chair undertook to give a decision after considering arguments submitted.

I can assure honourable Members that I have studied most carefully the several views expressed by those who participated in the discussion on the Point of Order.

As honourable Members know, it has been the practice for some years that when a Minister of the Crown makes an announcement or a statement of government policy on motions a spokesman for each of the parties in opposition to the government may comment briefly.

Beauchesne refers to this practice in Citation 91 of his fourth edition. On February 1, 1954, Mr. Speaker Beaudoin stated that it was the practice of the House, when a Minister makes a statement to allow one spokesman for each opposition party to make observations, and he referred to a ruling in that regard made by his predecessor, Mr. Speaker MacDonald on June 4, 1951.

Last year, this practice was embodied in our rules and is now provisional Standing Order 15(2a), which reads as follows: On motions, as listed in section (2) of this Standing Order, a Minister of the Crown may make an announcement or a statement of government policy. Any such announcement or statement should be limited to facts which it is deemed necessary to make known to the House and should not be designed to provoke debate at this stage. A spokesman for each of the parties in opposition to the government may comment briefly, subject to the same limitation.

In 1963 an amendment was brought to the Senate and House of Commons Act, which reads as follows: There shall be paid to each Member of the House of Commons, other than the Prime Minister or the Member occupying the recognized position of Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, who is the leader of a party that has a recognized membership of twelve or more persons in the House of Commons, an allowance at the rate of four thousand dollars per annum in addition to the sessional allowance payable to such member.

It has been suggested that provisional Standing Order 15(2a) should be interpreted in the light of the amendment to the Senate and House of Commons Act in 1963 and that this amendment should be a guide to the Speaker as to the procedure to be followed in the matter of comments on ministerial statements.

There is obviously some merit to this proposition. However, one should bear in mind the following principle of parliamentary procedure laid down in subsection (3) of citation 8 of Beauchesne's 4th edition: In the interpretation of the rules, or Standing Orders, the House is generally guided not so much by the literal construction of the Orders themselves, as by the consideration of what has been the practice of the House with respect to them.

We must take into consideration that after the 1963 amendment to the Senate and House of Commons Act was enacted, Standing Order 15 (2a) was adopted by the House, and that in the same year such Standing Order was adopted the House accepted that the honourable Member for Red Deer be permitted to make comments on ministerial statements, although at that time he had in his party fewer members than the number provided in the amendment to the Senate and House of Commons Act.

Following such precedents, I do not see how I could come to the conclusion that Standing Order 15(2a) is to be interpreted in the light of the amendment to the abovementioned Act. At the same time I do not think that it would be reasonable to conclude that independent members fall under Standing Order 15(2a). I do not think also, that the honourable Member for Kenora-Rainy River, who contributed to the discussion, comes under this category. But until such time as the House amends the Standing Order dealing with ministerial statements so as to define more precisely the right to comment thereon, I am of the opinion that I should follow the practice which prevailed during the last session and interpret the Standing Order as permitting comments on ministerial statements by the Leader of the Official Opposition and by spokesmen for the New Democratic Party, the Raillieement creditiste and the Social Credit Party.

Mr. Pepin, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House, —Copy of letters dated February 14 and 15, 1966, exchanged between the Minister of Mines and Technical Surveys and the Premier of Manitoba with reference to the Nelson River development project.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Supply, and progress having been made and reported the Committee obtained leave to sit again later this day.

By unanimous consent, the hour for Private Members' Business was suspended.

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Introduction of Bills".

Mr. McIlraith, seconded by Mr. Favreau, by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-126, An Act to extend the time for consideration of objections pursuant to section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act with respect to the reports of commissions established for the decennial census taken in the year 1961, which was read the first time.

By unanimous consent, the said bill was read the second time, considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

The Committee of Supply resumed and further progress having been made and reported, the Committee obtained leave to sit again at the next sitting of the House.

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Motions".

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Clermont be substituted for that of Mr. Isabelle on the Standing Committee on Agriculture, Forestry and Rural Development.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Prud'homme be substituted for that of Mr. Clermont on the Standing Committee on Broadcasting, Films and Assistance to the Arts.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Ballard be substituted for that of Mr. McIntosh on the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, MARCH 1, 1966.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: The Chair made reference yesterday to the question of privilege raised by the honourable Member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen) some time ago and I indicated that I would make a statement today.

On February 21 last the honourable Member for Yukon rose in the House on a matter of privilege as to the right of the honourable Member for Montmagny-L'Islet to have sat in the House and to have voted on three occasions, the dates of which were subsequent to the date on which the return of his election expenses should have been filed. The honourable Member continued his presentation by stating that he simply wanted to draw my attention and that of honourable Members to the possible breach of privilege that exists, and ended by seeking the Speaker's guidance in this connection.

The honourable Minister of Public Works (Mr. McIlraith) intervened to make the point that section 63 of the Canada Elections Act provides that, if Members fail to carry out the provisions of the Act, there is a remedy provided in the Courts and that, therefore, this would be a matter for the Courts to consider.

I have already brought to the attention of the House the terms of the judgment delivered on February 24 last by Chief Justice Dorion, and perhaps I should not repeat that at this time. I have looked into the matter raised by the honourable Member for Yukon and, with a view to being of some assistance to the House, may I be permitted to submit the following comments:

In referring to page 60 of May's 17th Edition it will be seen that one of the privileges of Parliament is for each House to be the sole judge of the lawfulness, or the legality, of its own proceedings, and that: . . . this holds even where the procedure of a House or the right of its Members or Officers to take part in its proceedings is dependent on Statute.

As will also be seen at page 61 of the same Edition, Mr. Justice Stephen, in his judgment in the Bradlaugh case, defined the relation between the jurisdiction of the courts and that of the House of Commons, and is reported as follows: . . . I think that the House of Commons is not subject to the control of Her Majesty's Court in its administration of that part of the statute-law which has relation to its own internal proceedings . . . It seems to follow that the House of Commons has the exclusive power of interpreting the statute, so far as the regulation of its own proceedings within its own walls is concerned; And further on we read: . . . for the purpose of determining on a right to be exercised within the House itself, and in particular the right of sitting and voting, the House, and the House alone could interpret the statute but . . . as regarded rights to be exercised out of and independently of the House, such as the right of suing for a penalty for having sat and voted, the statute must be interpreted by this court independently of the House.

Bourinot's Fourth Edition, at page 390, reads as follows: If it should be decided that a Member has no right to sit or vote in the House, the votes he may have given during the period of his disqualification will be struck off the Journals.

Dawson in his book "Procedure in the Canadian House," under the heading "The disallowance of votes," says at page 186: Occasionally it is necessary to strike out the vote of a Member who has participated in a division. The rules surrounding this practice are not clear.

Later on, at pages 190 and 191, he again refers to the matter and says: A formal challenge of a vote by another Member of the House must be done by a substantive motion that the vote be struck off the division list. This procedure was established in Canada in 1900 when the votes of three Members were challenged. At that time the Speaker ruled that he himself had no authority to alter the division lists and that the only remedy was in the hands of the House; any Member could make a motion to disallow a vote, the accused Member should be heard, and the House could make its decision.

Perhaps at this point I should make passing reference to a precedent reported at page 260 of the Debates of the House of Commons for the 22nd of May 1875, when the Speaker called attention to the fact that a Member had taken his seat and voted without having subscribed to the roll and taken the oath.

The matter was subsequently referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections and as a result of the Committee's report the Member's vote was removed from the division list and Journals of the House.

From the reference and precedents just quoted it would appear to me: (a) That, even if there is a penalty provision in section 63 of the Canada Elections Act and whatever may be the terms of the order made by the judge pursuant to the said section in allowing an authorized excuse, the House is still the sole judge of its own proceedings, and for the purpose of determining on a right to be exercised within the House itself which, in this particular case, is the right of one honourable Member to sit and to vote, the House alone can interpret the relevant statute.

(b) That the procedure followed in 1875 with regard to the precedent above referred to, which bears resemblance to the case before us, seems to me to indicate that the question was dealt with at the time as being of the nature of a prima facie case of a breach of privilege.

(c) That it is not within the competence of the Speaker to decide as to the question of substance or as to the disallowance of a vote, and that such decisions are to be made by the House itself.

By unanimous consent, it was ordered,—That on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 1st and 2nd, the hour appointed for Private Members' Business be deferred.

The Order being read for resuming the adjourned debate on the motion of Mr. Gray,—That the First Report of the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs, presented to the House on Tuesday, February 22, 1966, be now concurred in;

By unanimous consent, the said Report was concurred in, to have effect for this day, and is as follows:

“Your Committee recommends that it be authorized to sit while the House is sitting”.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

One petition for a Private Bill was presented in accordance with Standing Order 70(1).

The honourable Member for Calgary North (Mr. Harkness) rising on a question of privilege concerning certain remarks made by the Minister of Justice (Mr. Cardin);

The honourable Member for Calgary North (Mr. Harkness) again rising on a question of privilege concerning certain remarks made by the Minister of Justice (Mr. Cardin) proposed to move,—That the Minister of Justice be required forthwith to substantiate the charges made inside and outside this Chamber which have reflected unfortunately and improperly upon members of Her Majesty's Privy Council, or alternatively that he be asked to submit his resignation and to atone by the forfeiture of his seat.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: This is not an enviable position which the Chair is being placed in at the moment. I have been given an opportunity during the last hour or so to reflect on the very serious matter raised by the honourable Member for Calgary North (Mr. Harkness). I must point out I regret very much that his original motion could not be accepted because of a technical difficulty. He has given written notice subsequently, at 2.40 or 2.45, which was about the time the motion would have been discussed in any event.

I am satisfied and pleased, in a way that the matter has come to a head. As honourable Members know, the Chair is guided by citation 104(5) of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition which says: "As a motion taken at the time for matters of privilege is thereby given precedence over the prearranged program of public business, the Speaker requires to be satisfied, both that there is a prima facie case that a breach of privilege has been committed, and also that the matter is being raised at the earliest opportunity."

I expect it might have been argued, in so far as the statements were made on Friday last, that the matter was not raised at the first opportunity, but we are dealing now specifically with allegations as reported in a newspaper outside the House and the allegations repeated by the honourable Member in the House. I am inclined to believe there is a prima facie case of privilege in this instance but I might point out to honourable Members—and I am sorry I have to use the word "but"—that it does not necessarily follow that if there is a question of privilege that the motion made necessarily is acceptable according to the rules, practice and procedure in the House.

What we are dealing with now is an accusation made by some honourable Members against another honourable Member. The subject matter which gave rise to the statements made by the honourable Minister of Justice, which is in the background of what we are dealing with now, is an accusation made against the Minister of Justice and there is a suggestion that the Minister of Justice has in some way conducted himself in an improper manner. This is the only interpretation which can be placed on the motion put forward by the honourable Member.

There are any number of precedents indicating what has to be done in such instances. I would refer honourable Members in particular to the Journals of the House of Commons, Volume 105, 1959, at page 584, where the Speaker, who was faced with a somewhat similar case, was given notice, and after lengthy consideration delivered a judgment which covered some four or five pages in the Journals. I might say that that Speaker had a considerable advantage at that time over the present Speaker. However, fortunately I can take advantage of his ruling and quote from it:

"In my view, simple justice requires that no honourable Member should have to submit to investigation of his conduct by the House or a committee until he has been charged with an offence."

Then further on: "In the case before us no honourable Member has taken the responsibility of making a specific charge against the honourable Member..."

The motion I have before me says: "That the Minister of Justice be required forthwith to substantiate the charges made inside and outside this Chamber which have reflected unfortunately and improperly upon Members of Her Majesty's Privy Council..."

It is obvious that what we are doing in this motion is impugning the conduct of the Minister of Justice who himself, perhaps, impugned the conduct of other Members, but, as I have said, this is not what we are faced with presently. I am impressed by the suggestion made by the honourable Members for York South (Mr. Lewis) and Red Deer (Mr. Thompson) who say that the proper course to take in respect of this type of matter is to refer the subject-matter of the motion to a committee.

I would like to bring to the attention of honourable Members Bourinot's fourth edition, page 162, where it says: "A reference to a committee is no doubt the proper procedure in all cases in which there are reasonable doubts as to the facts or the course that should be pursued, especially when it is necessary to examine precedents or witnesses."

I have given the matter very serious thought and have looked at it as objectively as I can. I can come to no other conclusion than that the motion as drafted now cannot be accepted by the Chair, because it is too general in terms, and according to precedents does not specify the charge levelled at the Honourable the Minister. For this reason, while I agree with the Honourable Member for Calgary North (Mr. Harkness) that there is a prima facie case of privilege, the motion in its present form cannot be accepted by the Chair.

And after debate,

The honourable Member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen) proposed to move, seconded by Mr. Harkness,—That the Minister of Justice do resign;

And having indicated that the motion would appear to be of a substantive nature; one which would require notice; Mr. Speaker asked leave of the House to reserve his decision.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre (Mr. Churchill) having raised a question of privilege concerning certain remarks made by the Minister of Justice (Mr. Cardin) both within and outside the House;

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: The honourable Member (Mr. Churchill) says he has a question of privilege which is somewhat like the one raised by the honourable Member for Calgary North (Mr. Harkness). I cannot find any difference at all between the honourable Member's question of privilege and the one raised by the honourable Member for Calgary North. I can see no point in every Member of the Privy Council getting up at this time to raise exactly the same question of privilege. A ruling has been made by the Chair and I would invite the honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre (Mr. Churchill) to take into account that ruling and what has been said by the Chair.

And later—

I cannot agree with the logic of the honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre. The motion which was made did not refer to the honourable Member for Calgary North; it referred to the fact that there were allegations made affecting members of Her Majesty's Privy Council. The honourable Member for Calgary North in his presentation never suggested that the allegations applied only to him. His motion and the arguments submitted in his favour during its presentation referred to a matter of privilege which affected all Privy Councillors, not just one.

It is obvious to my mind that the ruling which has been made in connection with the question of privilege and the motion of the honourable Member for Calgary North applies in the same way to the question of privilege which the honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre may have. That earlier privilege and motion have been put to the Chair, considered and ruled upon.

And later—

I cannot agree with the honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre that there is a separate and distinct question of privilege in that he would be affected personally and distinctly from the honourable Member for Calgary North. For that reason I cannot allow him to re-open the whole question at this time.

Whereupon, the honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre (Mr. Churchill), seconded by Mr. Starr, moved,—That the Prime Minister immediately call for the resignation of the Minister of Justice on the basis of the improper conduct of the Minister in the making of improper accusations against the Right Honourable Leader of the Opposition and all Privy Councillors in the former government.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: The motion which has just been submitted to the Chair by the honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre (Mr. Churchill) is substantially the same as the one already before the Chair moved by the honourable Member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen). At that time I asked honourable Members to give the Chair an opportunity to look into the situation further, because certainly I think it is not entirely correct to submit a series of motions to the Chair in such a very important matter, such a very delicate matter, and ask that a ruling be made, except when there is a very clear case.

It is my opinion that the first motion put before the House constituted a very clear case, and by reason of precedents, it was clear that the motion should not be accepted. May I suggest to honourable Members now that I be given an opportunity to look at the motions made by the honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre and the honourable Member for Yukon. This is a request that is very reasonable and which the Chair is entitled to make according to practice. I trust honourable Members will agree to give the Chair this opportunity.

And the honourable Member for York South (Mr. Lewis) having proposed to move, seconded by Mr. Knowles,—That this House now stand adjourned until 6.00 o'clock p.m.;

Mr. Speaker ruled to the effect that the motion as presented could not be accepted as a privileged motion.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) rising on a point of order, proposed to move, seconded by Mr. Howard,—That this House do now adjourn;

Mr. Speaker ruled that the honourable Member, having risen on a point of order, was not entitled to move such a motion.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-3, An Act to amend the Bank Act and the Quebec Savings Banks Act;

And the Chair having recognized the honourable Minister of Finance (Mr. Sharp);

Pursuant to Standing Order 29, Mr. Churchill, seconded by Mr. Winkler, moved,—That the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) be now heard.

And the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived on the following division:

[At 6.00 o'clock p.m., Private Members' Business was called pursuant to Standing Order 15(3)]

(Private Bills)

The Order being read for resuming debate on the motion of Mr. Wahn, seconded by Mr. Ryan,—That Bill S-10, An Act respecting Interprovincial Pipe Line Company, be now read a second time;

Mr. Knowles, seconded by Mr. Brewin, moved,—That the House do now adjourn.

And more than five members having risen to object to the taking of a vote on the said motion;

In accordance with section (3) of provisional Standing Order 6, the said vote was postponed until 8.00 o'clock p.m. this day.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Wahn, seconded by Mr. Ryan,—That Bill S-10, An Act respecting Interprovincial Pipe Line Company, be now read a second time;

And debate continuing;

Mr. Scott (Danforth), seconded by Mr. Schreyer, proposed to move,—That Bill S-10 be not now read a second time, but that it be resolved that in the opinion of this House the said Interprovincial Pipe Line Company be brought under public ownership.

RULING BY MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: It is the considered opinion of the Chair that if the second part of this amendment were carried out there would be a financial obligation on the Crown. I would point out to the honourable Member that in the explanatory notes to the bill the following statement appears in the first sentence: "The purpose of this bill is to divide each of the 40,000,000 authorized shares of the par value of $5.00 each of the capital stock of the Company into five shares of the par value of $1.00 each."

In other words, the principle of this bill is a division of shares.

May I quote from citation 203 (1) page 171 of Beauchesne's 4th edition. "It is an imperative rule that every amendment must be relevant to the question on which the amendment is proposed."

I would also draw attention to what is said on page 527 of May's 17th edition. "The principle of relevancy in an amendment governs every such motion. The amendment must "strictly relate to the bill which the House, by its order, has resolved upon considering"

In the case now before us, the House is resolved upon considering the dividing of the shares of this particular company. The second part of the honourable Member's amendment is not relevant to that principle. I therefore rule the amendment out of order.

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Mr. Hellyer,—That Bill C-3, An Act to amend the Bank Act and the Quebec Savings Banks Act, be now read a second time.

Whereupon the honourable Member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen) rose on a question of privilege concerning certain remarks made by the honourable Minister of Justice (Mr. Cardin) earlier in this sitting.

And debate arising thereon and continuing;

At 8.00 o'clock p.m. Mr. Speaker interrupted the proceedings pursuant to section (3) of provisional Standing Order 6 and the House was deemed to have reverted to "Private Members' Business".

Whereupon the motion which had been deferred from the hour for "Private Members' Business" was proposed by the Chair and is as follows:

Mr. Knowles, seconded by Mr. Brewin, moved,—That the House do now adjourn".

And the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived on the following division:

The House resumed consideration of the question of privilege raised by the honourable Member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen);

And debate continuing;

Mr. Nielsen, seconded by Mr. Bell (Carleton) proposed to move,—That this House call upon the Minister of Justice to substantiate the charges and allegations he has made against the Leader of the Official Opposition and members of the former Conservative Government new Members of this House.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: As I said a moment ago, if honourable Members want me to put the motion, I would consider it along with the other two motions. I recognize that the motion by the honourable Member for Yukon has already been placed on the record. I would suggest to honourable Members that, unless somebody has a completely new question of privilege to raise at this time, that we go on with other business.

And later,—

I would think that we should first consider whether any of these motions can be accepted, and if the motion is accepted, whether any member has the right to move an amendment.

And debate continuing;

Mr. Grégoire, seconded by Mr. Caouette, proposed to move, under Standing Order 24,—That the "Orders of the Day" be now read.

Mr. Speaker ruled the said proposed motion out of order on the grounds that the House had already entered upon "Orders of the Day".

And debate continuing;

Mr. Grafftey, seconded by Mr. Woolliams, moved,—That the House do now adjourn.

Mr. Speaker, having expressed some doubt as to whether an intermediate proceeding had taken place, declined to receive the said motion at this time.

And debate continuing;

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At ten o'clock p.m., the question "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to provisional Standing Order 39-A;

After debate thereon, the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

No. 39

JOURNALS

OTTAWA, FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1966.

11.00 o'clock a.m.

PRAYERS.

The House resumed consideration of the question of privilege raised by the honourable Member for Calgary North (Mr. Harkness), concerning certain remarks made by the Minister of Justice (Mr. Cardin).

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: Yesterday the honourable Member for Calgary North (Mr. Harkness) raised a question of privilege affecting the Minister of Justice (Mr. Cardin).

Yesterday I referred honourable Members to citation 104(5) of Beauchesne's fourth edition which determines the Chair's responsibility in such instances.

I also pointed out that even where a prima facie case of privilege exists it does not necessarily follow that a subsequent motion will be accepted by the Chair. I further stated yesterday that the matter of privilege put before the Chair related to the propriety of action or words of the Minister of Justice. The closing words of my ruling were as follows: "I can come to no other conclusion than that the motion as drafted now cannot be accepted by the Chair because it is too general in terms and, according to precedents, does not specify the charge levelled against the Minister."

I also referred honourable Members to Bourinot's fourth edition, at page 162, as follows: "A reference to a committee is no doubt the proper procedure in all cases in which there are reasonable doubts as to the facts of the course that should be pursued, especially when it is necessary to examine precedents or witnesses."

From the earliest days of our parliamentary history, the only motion that has been moved and accepted in such cases is one to refer the matter of the alleged breach of privilege of this house to the Committee of Privileges and Elections. I believe that in 100 years of Canadian parliamentary practice, there has never been an exception to this procedure.

Following my disallowance of the motion made by the honourable Member for Calgary North, the following motions were submitted: "Mr. Nielsen, seconded by Mr. Harkness, moved: That the Minister of Justice do resign."

Another motion came from the honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre (Mr. Churchill), seconded by the honourable Member for Ontario (Mr. Starr), in the following terms: "That the Prime Minister immediately call for the resignation of the Minister of Justice on the basis of the improper conduct of the Minister in the making of improper accusations against the Right Honourable Leader of the Opposition (Mr. Diefenbaker) and all Privy Councillors in the former government."

Later on, the honourable Member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen), seconded by the honourable Member for Carleton (Mr. Bell), moved: "That this House call upon the Minister of Justice to substantiate the charges and allegations he has made against the Leader of the Official Opposition and Members of the former Conservative government now members of this House."

In considering all these motions, one must note that they are all couched in language that assumes that the honourable Minister of Justice is in fact guilty of improper conduct, or of the use of improper language, even before the allegations have been established, and it is, I submit, no answer to this difficulty to argue that the Chair has declared there is a prima facie case of privilege.

Whether there is or is not an actual breach of privilege, beyond the appearance of things, beyond the prima facie aspect of the case, is not, of course, for the Chair to decide. In other words, the motions assume as a conclusion that an actual breach of privilege has been established. With respect, I submit that this type of motion cannot be moved consequent upon a question of privilege. As I said yesterday when I commented on the motion of the honourable Member for Yukon, these are substantive motions which cannot be accepted under the guise of a question of privilege.

Honourable Members will recall that during the course of my observations yesterday, I drew the attention of the House to a decision of Mr. Speaker Michener on questions of privilege, on June 19, 1959, and it seems to me the proposed motions are invalid also on the basis of the opinion expressed by Mr. Speaker Michener at that time.

At page 583 of volume 105 of the Journals for 1959 Mr. Speaker Michener is recorded as follows: "Members of the House of Commons, like all other citizens, have the right to be regarded as innocent until they are found guilty, and like other citizens they must be charged before they are obliged to stand trial in the courts. Parliament is a court with respect to its own privileges and dignity and the privileges of its Members. The question arises whether the House, in the exercise of its judicial functions with respect to the conduct of any of its Members, should deprive such member of any of the safeguards and privileges which every man enjoys in any court of the land."

Further, at page 584, and I repeat what I quoted yesterday: "In my view, simple justice requires that no honourable Member should have to submit to investigation of his conduct by the House or a committee until he has been charged with an offence."

In the case before us no honourable Member has taken the responsibility of making a specific charge against the Minister. I repeat that in my view the responsibility devolving upon the Speaker under our practice in a case of alleged privilege is to ascertain whether there has been a prima facie breach of the privileges of the House, or of any Member thereof.

May I refer honourable Members to Abraham and Hawtrey's Parliamentary Dictionary, at page 40, where it is stated: "What the Speaker has to decide is whether, assuming that the facts are as stated, the conduct complained of could reasonably be held to be a breach of privilege."

As honourable Members know, it is for the Speaker to determine points of order as they arise, and in the situation before the House, even though a prima facie case did obtain, for the reasons I have explained I cannot come to the conclusion that any of the motions moved yesterday are in order.

And debate continuing;

The honourable Member for Lapointe, (Mr. Grégoire), seconded by Mr. Caouette, proposed to move,—That the House recommends to the government that the subject-matter of the statements made by the Minister of Justice in the House of Commons on Friday, March 4, 1966; his subsequent statements made on Thursday, March 10, 1966, relating to the Munsinger Case and the complaint of the honourable Member for Calgary North based thereon be referred to a judicial enquiry for examination and report.

Mr. Speaker ruled the proposed motion out of order on the grounds that it was in the nature of a substantive motion, and as such required due notice.

And debate continuing;

The honourable Member for Ontario (Mr. Starr), seconded by Mr. Dinsdale, proposed to move,—That this House call upon the Minister of Justice to substantiate the charges and allegations he has made against the Leader of the Opposition and members of the Privy Council of the former government.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: The honourable Member for Ontario, seconded by the honourable Member for Brandon-Souris, has moved that the House call upon the Minister of Justice to substantiate the charges and allegations he has made against the Leader of the Opposition and Members of the Privy Council of the former government. I wonder whether there is any point in asking honourable Members to address the Chair as to the admissibility of the motion. I should point out to the honourable Member that this motion is substantially the same as the three that were moved yesterday. I think it would be unfair to the House for me to read again the judgment I have delivered, but I will do so if the honourable Member wishes. I have given the reasons why I think this type of motion cannot be received. I, therefore, rule that this motion is also out of order.

And later—

MR. SPEAKER: I understand the case to which the honourable Member referred was one which affected the Chair and the Speaker which is why that procedure was followed at that time.

For the benefit of honourable Members, perhaps I should read again a part of the ruling which I read a moment ago and which applies to the motion just proposed by the honourable Member for Ontario.

I made reference to Mr. Speaker Michener's decision of Friday, June 19, 1959, when I ruled on the first motion yesterday, and it seems to me that this also applies to the motion just proposed by the honourable Member. The proposed motions are invalid also on the basis of the opinion expressed by Mr.

Michener on June 19, 1959, as recorded at page 4930 of Hansard where he said: "Members of the House of Commons, like all other citizens, have the right to be regarded as innocent until they are found guilty, and like other citizens they must be charged before they are obliged to stand trial in the courts. Parliament is a court with respect to its own privileges and dignity and the privileges of its Members. The question arises whether the House, in the exercise of its judicial functions with respect to the conduct of any of its Members, should deprive such member of any of the safeguards and privileges which every man enjoys in any court of the land."

And then further on page 584 of the Journals of the House of Commons of Friday, June 19, 1959: "In my view, simple justice requires that no honourable Member should have to submit to investigation of his conduct by the House or a Committee until he has been charged with an offence."

I would repeat what I said yesterday and draw the attention of the House to these words which also appear at page 584: "In my view, simple justice requires that no honourable Member should have to submit to investigation of his conduct by the House or a Committee until he has been charged with an offence."

In the case before us, no honourable Member has taken the responsibility of making a specific charge against any honourable Member. The honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre (Mr. Churchill) asks for the advice of the Chair as to what kind of motion could be received. This cannot be done; the Chair can only rule on what is actually before it and cannot rule on hypothetical cases or in the abstract.

And debate continuing;

The honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert), seconded by Mr. Woolliams, proposed to move,—That the general and unspecified charges of involvement in the so-called Munsinger case against an unspecified number of Members of this House, all Privy Councillors, made by the Minister of Justice at a press conference on the morning of Thursday March 10, constitute an unwarranted and unsubstantiated attack on the character, integrity and privileges of the said Members; and this House directs that the Minister of Justice must forthwith from his seat specify and substantiate his charges and in default thereof he shall withdraw such charges and allegations, apologize to the said Members and to this House, and resign from this House.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: May I say that the honourable gentleman would perhaps agree with the Chair that when, for 100 years of parliamentary history, motions of this type have never been accepted before, there is a prima facie case against the motion now proposed.

I cannot agree that this motion should be accepted—certainly, not for the reasons the honourable Member has mentioned. He himself says it is a substantive motion. I am in full agreement with that. It is a substantive motion and because of this, in the same way as the other motions made yesterday, I submit it might have been moved in other circumstances as a private member's motion. The motion requires notice and for this reason it cannot be accepted by the Chair.

And debate continuing;

The honourable Member for Carleton (Mr. Bell), seconded by Mr. Nugent, proposed to move,—That the House do now resolve itself into Committee of the Whole in order that honourable Members may have an opportunity to examine the Minister of Justice, so that he may advise the Committee what evidence he has to substantiate the charges made inside and outside this Chamber which have reflected upon Members of Her Majesty's Privy Council.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: There are a number of very interesting points which have been raised by the honourable Members who have taken part in this debate. I cannot agree with all of them. The honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona, who has just resumed his seat, based part of his argument on the allegation that there is a question of privilege that has been recognized by the House. I do not agree with him on this point. What the Chair has said is that there is a prima facie case of privilege; whether there is an actual case of a breach of privilege is not for the Chair to determine and is not determinable until the matter has been studied in a satisfactory way.

The usual way to do this is before the Committee on Privileges and Elections, as I said a moment ago when a previous motion was moved by the honourable Member for Edmonton West. That has been the procedure followed for 100 years in our Canadian Parliament and no argument has been submitted to me that this procedure should be departed from at this time. The honourable Member says that the House has all the powers in the committee of the whole that the Committee on Privileges and Elections has—and that is a fact. For that matter the House itself has all the powers of the committee of the whole and what would be gained by moving from the House itself to the committee of the whole? I suggest nothing at all can be gained in this way. The motion, as presented, suggests that the committee of the whole consider this matter and that the way to do it is the way in which the honourable Member for Carleton would want to do it.

I would like to refer to citation 230 (1) of Beauchesne's which says: "The ordinary function of a Committee of the Whole House is deliberation, not enquiry."

For this reason I suggest the Committee of the Whole House should not be asked to conduct an inquiry or take over the responsibility which normally is assigned to a standing committee of the House of Commons. With respect, I also suggest to the honourable Member that the motion to the effect that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole is a substantive motion which requires notice.

Lastly, I point out to honourable Members that the issue here is the alleged misconduct of the Minister of Justice and that because of this a specific and detailed charge must be made against the Minister himself. It is sometimes a little difficult to reconcile the two aspects of the case; there is the aspect that the honourable Minister is alleged to have made accusations relating to privy councillors and this is the very thing we are reproaching the honourable Minister for. But actually the question of privilege is based on the alleged impropriety of the words used by the honourable Minister of Justice and a specific charge of that has to be laid, according to the terms of the judgment of Mr. Speaker Mitchener which I read into the record this morning.

Perhaps I have used too many reasons, and if I am wrong on one or two I may be right on the other two or three, and so for all these reasons and the legal argument I must deny the motion of the honourable Member for Carleton.

And debate continuing;

The honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre (Mr. Churchill), seconded by Mr. Winkler, proposed to move,—That the Member for Villeneuve (Mr. Caouette) be called upon to substantiate the charges made against a Member of the Privy Council, or resign his seat.

RULING BY MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: It was the view of the Chair, particularly yesterday, as expressed by Mr. Speaker, that a motion to adjourn could not be moved on a point of order.

Earlier today, that same ruling was made by the Chair. Now it would appear that the statement made by the honourable Member for Winnipeg South Centre, if it could not have been on a point of privilege, might be considered as a question of order, but if that were so, then the Chair would have to rule this motion out of order as has been done in the two previous cases, and the Chair so rules.

And debate continuing;

JOURNALS

OF THE

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I should bring to the attention of honourable Members that I have received from the honourable Member for Digby-Annapolis-Kings (Mr. Nowlan) a notice as required by the Standing Orders that he proposes to raise a question of privilege. I have also received notice that the Right Honourable Leader of the Opposition (Mr. Diefenbaker) wants to speak to the question of privilege, and I have received notice too from the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert).

However, before calling first on the Right Honourable Leader of the Opposition I hope honourable Members will allow me to restate very simply and very briefly what I have already said on a number of occasions since the debate now before the House began on Thursday last.

Honourable Members know that according to long standing practice, as explained in citations 104, 105 and 113 of Beauchesne's fourth edition, and in May's 17th edition at page 134, a motion has to follow a question of privilege. The House cannot carry on a debate unless there is question before it and, in the case of questions of privilege, the subject-matter of the discussion has to be a motion of privilege.

I might also be allowed to mention that there can be only one question of privilege at any time before the House. On this point I might refer honourable Members to a ruling made by Mr. Speaker Michener, as recorded in Hansard for March 19, 1962, at page 1915. This position was reinforced by a similar ruling rendered by Mr. Speaker Lambert, as reported in Hansard of January 21, 1963 at page 2935, where Mr. Speaker Lambert declared: "A matter of privilege cannot be raised when another one is already before the House."

The Honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert) raised a question of privilege and proposed to move, seconded by Mr. Macquarrie,—That the terms of reference of Order in Council P.C. 1966—482, dated March 14, 1966 and tabled in this House on March 14, 1966 be referred to a Special Committee to be composed of seven members of this House and that such Special Committee be empowered to sit at such times it deems necessary to examine the said terms of reference and to report what revisions and amendments it may recommend to this House for decision by 2.30 p.m. on Thursday, March 17, 1966.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: With a great deal of patience during the last few days I have listened to honourable Members, every one of them, including those who have spoken more than once when perhaps they should have spoken only once on a question of privilege. But we all agree that things got somewhat complicated. One of our difficulties last week was that we had three questions of privilege before the House at the same time. The reason was that each was followed by a motion, each of them unusual, to the extent that the Chair thought there might be something so unusual about these motions that they might be in order. But they were not. We eventually came back to one question of privilege which was raised subsequently, that is, yesterday afternoon, by the honourable Member for Kamloops (Mr. Fulton) and I suggest this is the question which was before us until today, although, as the honourable Member knows, no motion was made as required by the rules. The honourable Member for Digby-Annapolis-Kings (Mr. Nowlan) also brought up a question of privilege this afternoon on which no motion was moved. So we are left with the motion moved by the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert), of which he has kindly given me notice and which we have now discussed together at length. As he says, there is a degree of disagreement as to whether or not it should be accepted.

Perhaps I may restate the views I have expressed on Thursday, Friday, yesterday and, again, today as to the general rules on the question of privilege. I do not think it should be necessary for me to repeat the citations—Nos. 104, 105 and 113 of Beauchesne, except for the one which says—and this has been quoted by a number of honourable Members—“A question of privilege ought rarely to come up in Parliament. It should be dealt with by a motion giving the House power to impose a reparation or apply a remedy.”

That is from citation No. 113. I am now doing what Members of the House sometimes do—what I said I would not do; I am quoting from both Beauchesne and May. “It is irregular to make a complaint unless the honourable Member intends to follow it up with a substantive motion referring to the matter which he has introduced to the notice of the House”.

That is from May's 17th edition, page 134. I would also remind honourable Members “that the House cannot carry on a debate unless there is a motion before it and in the case of a question of privilege, the subject-matter of discussion has to be a question of privilege.”

In other words, not another substantive motion but a motion of privilege.

In my opinion, here I express a view which is shared by many honourable Members who have had considerably more experience than I have had in this matter. I may say, as an aside, that when I tried to go back in Hansard to look for precedents I am always impressed to see that so many honourable Members who are still in the House today are those who have contributed the precedents upon which the Chair must rely at this time. This includes the honourable member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles). I may say, if it will make him feel better, that when the Prime Minister referred to the "authority on the rules", I find he was referring to the Chair. It has been said, of course, that the House is master of its own rules. That is obvious. The House can at any time change the rules and decide that it will accept a motion or not accept it. It can decide to change the standing orders under which the Chair has to operate. But this is not the task of the Chair.

For instance, Standing Order 41 says that the setting up of a committee is something which must be done by a substantive motion, with notice. This Standing Order is before the Chair. The Chair cannot change it unless honourable Members tell the Speaker that they do not want him to respect it, or any number of Standing Orders. This is a rule I am faced with. I am faced with this practice, and unless honourable Members can give me a list of the Standing Orders which I should disregard, I am bound by it. If they give me such a list, I will be guided by it because I am a servant of the House. But as long as I am not told there are specific Standing Orders which I have to disregard, I am afraid the Chair is bound to rule according to the Standing Orders which are given to me to respect and obey and which I ask honourable Members to respect and obey along with me.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre quoted citation 199 and says I have the power in the Chair to suggest change to a motion. My answer to this is that certainly the Chair can do so when there is only a question of form to be considered. But the Chair cannot take it upon its own initiative to alter the substance of a motion moved by an honourable Member and suggest in what way it could be made acceptable to the Chair and to the House.

I am sure I am forgetting many of the things on which I wanted to comment, because there were such excellent contributions made by all honourable Members. I know that these comments were made not so as to be obstructive in any way but so as to be helpful to the Chair—and if there was ever a Chair which needs help, it is this one!

With all due respect, I believe the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre, the Leader of the Opposition (Mr. Diefenbaker) and the honourable Member for Kamloops (Mr. Fulton), as, indeed, most of the honourable Members who have taken part in this debate on the question of procedure, would have to agree with the Chair that this is not a motion which could be accepted at this time. It is irregular for reasons which I gave in detail when I ruled out three previous motions. I can assure honourable Members that it is with a sad heart that the Chair must come to this conclusion, because nothing would please me more than to be able to accept a motion which would take this matter away from the responsibility of the Chair, upon whose shoulders, it has been suggested, it now rests. But I am prepared to accept my responsibility, and my responsibility is that this motion should not be accepted, and I so rule.

Mr. Gray from the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs, presented the Third Report of the said Committee which is as follows:

Your Committee has considered Bill C-111, An Act to incorporate Bank of Western Canada, and has agreed to report it with the following amendments:

New Clause 6

Insert new clause 6 as follows:

"6. (1) The bank shall refuse to allow a transfer of a share of the capital stock of the bank to a non-resident to be made or recorded in a register of transfers of the bank.

- (a) if, when the total number of shares of the capital stock of the bank held by non-residents exceeds ten per cent of the total number of the issued and outstanding shares of such stock, the transfer would increase the percentage of such shares held by non-residents; or
- (b) if, when the total number of shares of the capital stock of the bank held by non-residents is ten per cent or less of the total number of the issued and outstanding shares of such stock, the transfer would cause the total number of such shares held by non-residents to exceed ten per cent of the total number of the issued and outstanding shares of such stock.

(3) The bank shall refuse to allow a transfer of a share of the capital stock of the bank to

- (a) Her Majesty in right of Canada or in right of a province or an agent of Her Majesty in either such right, or to be made or recorded in a register of transfers of the bank.

(4) The bank shall not accept a subscription for a share of the capital stock of the bank

- (a) by Her Majesty in right of Canada or in right of a province or an agent of Her Majesty in either such right or by the government of a foreign state or any political subdivision thereof or an agent of the government of a foreign state or any political subdivision thereof, or
- (b) except as otherwise provided in subsection (5), in circumstances where if the subscription were a transfer of the share the bank would be required under subsection (1) or (2) to refuse to allow the transfer to be made or recorded; but in the case of a subscription pursuant to an offer under section 36 of the Bank Act the bank may count as shares issued and outstanding all the shares included in the offer.

(5) Subject to paragraph (a) of subsection (4), where an offer of shares of the capital stock of the bank is made under section 36 of the Bank Act, the bank may accept any subscription

- (a) if the terms of the offer contain provisions to the effect that in the case of a share offered to a shareholder whose recorded address, at the time fixed for determining the shareholders to whom the offer is made, is a place within Canada and who is not at that time, to the knowledge of the bank, a non-resident, a subscription will not be accepted if the share is to be recorded in the name of a non-resident;

 - (ii) to the effect that the total number of shares of the capital stock of the bank that will, if the subscription is accepted, be held by such person and by other shareholders associated with him, if any, will not exceed ten per cent of the total number of the shares of the capital stock of the bank that will be issued and outstanding on the issue of all shares included in the offer; and
- (c) if, on the basis of such declaration, the acceptance of the subscription is not contrary to the terms of the offer.

(6) Default in complying with the provisions of this section does not affect the validity of a transfer of a share of the capital stock of the bank that has been made or recorded in a register of transfers of the bank or the validity of the acceptance of a subscription for a share of the capital stock of the bank."

New Clause 7

Insert new clause 7 as follows:

"7. (1) Notwithstanding section 34 of the Bank Act, where a resident holds shares of the capital stock of the Bank in the right of, or for the use or benefit of, a non-resident, the resident shall not, in person or by proxy, exercise the voting rights pertaining to those shares.

(2) Notwithstanding section 34 of the Bank Act, where the total of

- (a) the number of shares of the capital stock of the Bank held in the name or right of or for the use or benefit of a person, and
- (b) the number of shares of the capital stock of the Bank held in the name or right of or for the use or benefit of
 - (i) any shareholders associated with the person mentioned in paragraph (a), or
 - (ii) any other person who would be deemed under subsection (2) of section 5 to be associated with the person mentioned in paragraph (a), if both he and such other person were shareholders, exceeds ten per cent of the issued and outstanding shares of such stock.

- (c) no person shall, in person or by proxy, exercise the voting rights pertaining to any of the shares referred to in paragraph (a) that are held in the name of a resident, and
- (d) no person shall, in person or as proxy, exercise the voting rights pertaining to any of the shares referred to in paragraph (a) that are held in the name of a non-resident.

(3) Notwithstanding section 34 of the Bank Act, the voting rights pertaining to any shares of the capital stock of the Bank shall not be exercised when the shares are held in the name or right of or for the use or benefit of

- (a) Her Majesty in right of Canada or in right of a province or an agent of Her Majesty in either such right; or
- (b) the government of a foreign state or any political subdivision thereof or an agent of the government of a foreign state or any political subdivision thereof.

And debate arising thereon and continuing;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: This afternoon, the honourable Members for Sherbrooke and Lapointe (Messrs. Allard and Grégoire) suggested that I should take the initiative and divide the resolution which is under consideration now. Since then, I had the opportunity to study the suggestions made by the honourable Members and to read attentively the remarks they made during their interventions.

I do not think that I can change the opinion I gave this afternoon, to the effect that this resolution is not of the kind which the Speaker would be justified to deal with in the way suggested by the honourable Members. In my opinion, there is only one proposition before the House, which deals with the abolition of the death penalty, and the other aspects of the question are rather of a secondary nature and could not, in the circumstances, be separated from the initial proposition and made into separate resolutions. It is only in exceptional circumstances and when there is little doubt about it that the Speaker can intervene and, of his own initiative, amend the resolution proposed by an honourable Member.

In this case, as I said, I do not think that I would be justified to take this initiative.

And debate continuing;

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 1966.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Speaker laid before the House,—Report of the Joint Committee on the Library of Parliament which met at Ottawa on Thursday, March 24, 1966, relating to salary revisions reclassifications and up-gradings of positions in the Library of Parliament, which is as follows:

A—REPORT OF SEPTEMBER 24, 1965

The present report is based primarily on two surveys conducted recently by the Civil Service Commission at the request of both Speakers. The first is an "Organization Study of the Library of Parliament", and the second a "Classification Survey of the Library of Parliament". The first report indicated no need for any major change in the organization of the establishment which was considered to be sound and effective. The second report suggested that a number of positions should be reclassified or up-graded.

In arriving at the following decisions, we also took into account some special features which were taken into consideration when the recent re-classifications of the Senate and House of Commons establishments were effected.

In order to bring the rates of pay for the employees of the Library of Parliament in line with the recently revised rates approved for many classes of employees in the Senate and in the House of Commons establishments, as well as with the new rates of pay approved for similar classifications in the "Group D" of the Civil Service, we accordingly authorize the following re-classifications and salary revisions, effective October 1, 1964:

$1,310.40 per annum when Parliament is in session.

Employees whose positions are reclassified shall be paid at the rate of pay in the new range which is nearest the rate of pay they were receiving immediately before the change in classification and that would give them an increase as of October 1, 1964, that is at least equal to a full salary increase in the scale of rates of pay for the new classification. Employees appointed on October 1, 1964 or after shall be paid at the rate shown immediately below the rate they were being paid on the date of appointment. Changes in classification and pay authorized shall apply only to employees on strength on October 1, 1965 and to those who have retired between the effective date of October 1, 1964 and the date of approval of October 1, 1965.

If, because of the nature of his duties, an employee cannot be granted or elects not to take more than three (3) working days as vacation leave while the House is sitting, that employee will be entitled to five (5) additional days of leave.

The above will in no way affect the manner in which compensatory leave for work on a day that is normally a statutory holiday for the public service as specified in subsection (1) of Section 62 of the Civil Service Act, or on a Saturday, will be granted for employees.

It is also decided that the retiring leave regulations that apply to the House of Commons shall apply to the staff of the Library of Parliament as follows, to be effective October 1, 1965:

1. An employee who is about to cease to be employed in the Library of Parliament for reasons other than dismissal may be granted retiring leave for a period not in excess of twenty-six (26) weeks calculated at the rate of one (1) week for each year of continuing employment in the public service minus any retiring leave or any period in respect of which a gratuity was previously granted to that employee in respect of that employment; where the employee so requests, a gratuity in lieu of retiring leave may be granted to him and the amount of that gratuity is obtained by multiplying the number of weeks of retiring leave that can be granted to that employee by the weekly rate of pay for the position held by that employee and subtracting therefrom the amount of annuity he is entitled to under the Public Service Superannuation Act for a period equal to the period of retiring leave in respect of which the gratuity was granted to him.

2. Retiring leave or a gratuity in lieu thereof cannot be granted to an employee who has been continuously employed in the Public Service for a period of less than two (2) years.
3. The above vacation and retiring leave regulations shall also apply to the Cleaning Service Women. For the purpose of calculating retiring leave benefits, the normal working week for this category of employee shall be deemed to be of five days.

7. If so, when is it expected that the Civil Service Commission will announce its decision in respect of any such reclassification?

Mr. Béchard, Parliamentary Secretary to the Secretary of State, presented,—Return to the foregoing Order.

Pursuant to Special Order made on Monday, March 21, 1966, the House resumed debate on the proposed motion of Messrs. Byrne, Nugent, Scott (Danforth) and Stanbury,—That it is expedient to introduce a measure to amend the Criminal Code for the purposes of

(a) abolishing the death penalty in respect of all offences under that Act;

(b) substituting a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment in those cases where the death penalty is now mandatory; and

(c) providing that no person upon whom a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment is imposed shall be released from imprisonment without the prior approval of the Governor in Council.—(Notice of Motion No. 66).

And debate continuing;

Mr. Gauthier, seconded by Mr. Godin, moved in amendment thereto,—That the motion be amended

(1) by adding to paragraph (a) thereof the words “except capital murder, as now defined, committed while under a sentence of life imprisonment”;

(2) by adding to paragraph (b) thereof the words "except in the case of capital murder committed while under a sentence of life imprisonment";

(3) by inserting in paragraph (c) thereof, immediately after the word "imposed", the words "or in respect of whom a sentence of death is commuted".

And debate arising thereon;

Mr. LaFlamme, seconded by Mr. Tremblay, proposed to move in amendment to the said proposed amendment,—

That after paragraph (a), the paragraphs (b) and (c) be substituted as follows:

With the exception of murders committed in circumstances as hereafter;

(1) Murder of any person who is in the exercise of any public, civil or judicial function;

(2) Murder of any peace officer while in the exercise of his function;

(3) Murder of any prison guard;

(4) Murder committed by any person while sentenced to life imprisonment;

(5) Murder committed during the commission of another offence in order to evade detection.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I refer the honourable Member to citation 203(1) of Beauchesne's fourth edition which reads as follows: "It is an imperative rule, that every amendment must be relevant to the question on which the amendment is proposed. Every amendment proposed to be made either to a question or to a proposed amendment should be so framed that if agreed to by the House the question or amendment as amended would be intelligible and consistent with itself."

It seems to me that the proposal of the honourable Member for Québec-Montmorency (Mr. Laflamme) is under the form of an amendment to the main motion rather than a subamendment.

That is why the Chair does not think the amendment can be accepted and suggests to the mover and the seconder that the proposal should rather form the subject of an amendment to the main motion.

And debate continuing on the amendment;

By unanimous consent, it was ordered,—That the sitting of this House Tuesday, March 29, 1966, be suspended between 7.00 and 8.00 o'clock p.m.

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At 10.12 o'clock p.m., the question "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to provisional Standing Order 39-A;

After debate thereon, the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, MARCH 29, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Martin (Essex East), a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Aide Memoire, dated January 14, 1966, to the Government of the United States with reference to certain proposed new securities and exchange regulations. (English and French).

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-147, An Act to amend the Yukon Act;

Mr. Laing, seconded by Mr. Sharp, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

And debate arising thereon;

Mr. McIlraith, seconded by Mr. Pickersgill, proposed to move,—That the House do now proceed to the Order, appearing under Private Members' Notices of Motions, No. 66 on today's Order Paper, resuming debate on the Private Members' motion proposed by Messrs. Byrne, Nugent, Scott (Danforth), and Stanbury, and the proposed amendment thereto of Mr. Gauthier.

And a point of order having been raised by the honourable Member for Lapointe (Mr. Grégoire);

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: We have before us a motion proposed by the Minister of Public Works (Mr. McIlraith) under Standing Order 44. He proposes to us a superseding motion. The argument put forward by some honourable Members is that if this Standing Order means anything it is that we can move from one area of business to another. My answer is this—that this type of motion is intended to enable the House to move from one order to another within the same type of order—from one order of Private Member's Business to another order of Private Member's Business, or from one Government Order to another Government Order.

This Standing Order, as is the case with others, has to be read in the light of a number of Standing Orders dealing with the same subject. We have Standing Order 15 which sets out the daily order of business, and Standing Order 18 which sets out the precedence of business. What we would be doing now, by accepting this motion, would, to my mind, be changing this precedence; we would, in effect, be acting in contravention of Standing Orders 15 and 18. It is a motion which attempts to suspend the normal course of business and, in my view, this is a substantive motion which requires notice.

I would call the attention of the House to Standing Order 32(1) referring to motions which are debatable. Standing Order 32(1)(m) refers to the management of the business of the House and the arrangement of its proceedings. Perhaps this motion might be classified as a disarrangement of the business of the House, if not as an arrangement.

I would also refer honourable Members to citation 10 of Beauchesne's 4th edition to the following effect: "Standing Orders may be suspended for a particular case without prejudice to their continued validity, for the House possesses the inherent power to destroy the self-imposed barriers and fetters of its own regulations. It may even pass an order prescribing a course of procedure inconsistent with the Standing Orders. A motion for such temporary suspension requires notice under Standing Order 41—"

For all these reasons I suggest to honourable Members that there is no possible course open to the Chair but to refuse the motion as it has been presented by the Minister of Public Works.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Laing, seconded by Mr. Sharp,—That Bill C-147, An Act to amend the Yukon Act, be now read a second time.

By unanimous consent, the said debate was adjourned.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

And debate arising thereon;

By unanimous consent, the said report was amended and concurred in, as follows:

Your Committee recommends that it be authorized to sit while the House is sitting on the following days, namely, Monday, April 25 to Thursday, April 28, inclusive.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: On Thursday, April 21 last the Right Honourable Leader of the Opposition (Mr. Diefenbaker) rose on a Point of Order in respect of a Bill appearing on the Order Paper in the name of the honourable Member for Lotbinière (Mr. Choquette) intituled "An Act to amend the Criminal Code (repeal of power to commute a sentence of death)". The Leader of the Opposition then stated that there can be no interference with the Queen's right to grant mercy and that such Bill ought not to be on the Order Paper, as being unconstitutional and improper.

As honourable Members know, the Speaker does not give a decision upon a constitutional question nor decide a question of law. However, it is his duty to ascertain that there is no departure from our Standing Orders or the ordinary conduct of our proceedings or legislative business.

In the same manner as, for instance, it is the duty of the Speaker to determine whether a bill involves an expenditure of money and, if it does, to see that the expenditure be first considered as a resolution in Committee of the Whole and that such resolution be accompanied by the recommendation of the Governor General, it is in the present case the duty of the Speaker to determine whether this Bill interferes with the Queen's prerogatives and to see that the proper procedure be followed.

Reference to page 413 of Bourinot's fourth edition and citation 283 of Beauchesne's fourth edition indicates that the consent of the Crown is always necessary in matters involving the prerogatives of the Crown and that such consent may be given at any stage of a bill before final passage, though in the Canadian House it is generally signified on the motion for second reading. This consent may be given by a special message or by a verbal statement by a Minister, the latter being the usual procedure in such cases. It will also be seen that a bill may be permitted to proceed to the very last stage without receiving the consent of the Crown but if it is not given at the last stage, the Speaker will refuse to put the question. It is also stated that if the introducer of a bill finds, from the statements of a Minister, that the consent will be withheld, he has no alternative open to him except to withdraw the measure.

I now have had an opportunity to peruse the provisions of the Bill in the name of the honourable Member for Lotbinière. It would seem to me that the bill purports to amend the Criminal Code by deleting subsection (2) of section 655 and also section 656. This subsection and section give the Governor in Council certain statutory powers with regard to pardon and commutation of sentence which, according to the terms of section 658 of the Code, do not affect in any manner Her Majesty's royal prerogative of mercy. If, as stated in the Code, subsection (2) of section 655, and section 656 do not in any manner affect Her Majesty's royal prerogative of mercy, I have difficulty in coming to the conclusion that amending them or deleting them would affect such royal prerogative.

Section 658 of the Criminal Code reads as follows: "658. Nothing in this Act in any manner limits or affects Her Majesty's royal prerogative of mercy".

In my opinion, it is reasonable to conclude that the provisions of this section are not affected in any way by the honourable Member's Bill.

In other words, the Crown's prerogative of mercy is not affected but only the exercise of the statutory powers of the Governor in Council.

Taking that into consideration and also the fact that it is the passing of a bill rather than the introduction thereof which would constitute an infringement of the royal prerogative, I think I should come to the conclusion to permit the motion for leave to introduce such a bill and to let the House decide by their vote if such a motion should be adopted.

Whereupon Mr. Choquette, seconded by Mr. Caron, moved for leave to introduce Bill C-168, An Act to amend the Criminal Code (Repeal of Power to Commute a Sentence of Death);

And the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to, on the following division:

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral District of St. Henri filed with Mr. Speaker on February 18, 1966 was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65) and for the reasons hereinafter specified, consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Quebec, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966.

(a) By changing the name of the constituency in its last report, the Commission has created a certain amount of dissension in the midst of the population. Some would like to keep the name of St. Anne, others would like that of St. Henri.

In order to cure this feeling of uneasiness, I suggest that the constituency be given the name of "Marguerite Bourgeois". On her arrival in Canada in 1662, Mother Marguerite Bourgeois devoted herself to the education of the children of our first settlers. She founded the first school in 1668—the same school where the daughters of the settlers received their education until 1881. This historical monument, erected in 1668, still exists and the Congregation of Notre-Dame has just converted it into a museum. I am pleased that the constituency includes within its boundaries this testimony to our history; that is why, after conducting an investigation among the electors, I am making this proposal on their behalf.

- (b) In the report, on page 30, section 57, at line 22, let the following words be stricken out "from there to the south-west up to La Montagne Street", and also the words "and the east" on the following line. Here are the reasons:

I request that the line of Windsor Street at the Notre-Dame intersection be continued up to the southern boundary (Wellington intersection). This will have the result of increasing the size of the population by giving it 600 other electors. This sector was always a part of the constituency, the more so as in the east up to St. Laurent Street there are no electors. Furthermore, this sector is the most important part of the Parish of St. Anne, which is situated on the other side of La Montagne Street; this places its residents in a constituency other than the one in which the church which is opposite their door is located.

The representative of St. James constituency thinks that my proposal is quite logical.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral District of Maisonneuve filed with Mr. Speaker on February 18, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65), consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Quebec, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966, for the reasons hereinafter specified:

1. That the Commission proposed boundaries which will give rise to administrative problems due to all these detours, thus making it more difficult to contact constituents located near the said boundaries.
2. That it is possible to have straighter limits while abiding by the criterion of 25%, more or less.
3. That the 1961 Census showed for Maisonneuve a population of 76,479 and for Hochelaga, adjacent constituency to the West, 76,765.
4. That, in spite of this slight difference for Hochelaga, this constituency had only 222 polls (about 46,000 electors), while Maisonneuve had 305 (1965 Election) for 66,100 electors.
5. That consideration be given by the Commission or by the House to the minor suggestion that the limits between the constituencies of Maisonneuve, Hochelaga, Lafontaine, St-Michel and Gamelin may be made straighter while adhering to prescribed standards.
6. That any other objection of the undersigned members may be considered valid under the provisions of the said Act.

Whereas the municipalities of St. Philomène, St. Urbain, St. Clothilde, St. Chrysostome, County of Châteauguay; the Townships of Havelock and Hemmingford, the Village of Hemmingford, County of Huntingdon; the Village of Lacolle, Notre-Dame-du-Mont-Carmel, County of St. Jean, have filed an objection before the Commission to being included in the proposed constituency of St. Jean, because they share a larger community of interests with the other municipalities of the Counties of Châteauguay, Huntingdon and Laprairie.

Whereas the municipalities of St. Martine, St-Paul-de-Châteauguay, Howick, Très-St-Sacrement de Howick, Ormstown, St. Malachie d'Orms-town, St. Antoine Abbé, County of Châteauguay; the Townships of Elgin, Franklin, Hinchinbrook, Godmanchester, the Town of Huntingdon, Huntingdon County, have filed an objection before the Commission to being included in the proposed constituency of Beauharnois, because they share a greater community of interests with the other municipalities of the Counties of Châteauguay, Huntingdon and Laprairie.

Whereas the geographical factor of the five proposed ridings of Beauharnois, Chambly, Laprairie, Longueuil and St. Jean, situated between the St. Lawrence River, the Richelieu River and the United States border, allows a distribution of the electoral district boundaries without prejudice to the interests of the other ridings.

Whereas the population standards, established by the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (13—Elizabeth II—Chapter 31) allows a slight change to be made in the boundaries of the ridings of Beauharnois-Salaberry, Châteauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie, Chambly-Rouville, Longueuil, St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville.

Whereas the Commission has not taken into account the objections, suggestions and the alternative plan proposed by the above-mentioned municipalities.

Whereas the readjustment of the boundaries of the ridings of Beauharnois, Chambly, Laprairie, Longueuil and St. Jean, as proposed by the Commission, is, according to the representations of the 25 above-mentioned municipalities, against the interests of the population of the area.

And Whereas the municipalities in the present electoral districts of Châteauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie and of Beauharnois-Salaberry have objected to the disappearance of the historical names of Salaberry, Châteauguay and Huntingdon.

It is proposed:

- (a) that the Commission should take into consideration the arguments and suggestions of the above-mentioned municipalities and carry on its mandate according to section 13, paragraph C (i) and (ii) of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act.
- (b) that the boundary readjustment of the proposed electoral district of Beauharnois be revised in accordance with the present boundary of the electoral district of Beauharnois-Salaberry, and that the proposed name of Beauharnois be changed to that of Beauharnois-Salaberry. (See Annex A).

- (c) that the boundaries of the proposed electoral district of Laprairie be revised to conform to the present boundaries of the existing district of Châteauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie, that is to say, by including all the municipalities of Châteauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie and by excluding the Towns of Châteauguay, Châteauguay Centre, Châteauguay Heights, Lemoyne, Lery and St-Lambert from the proposed riding of Laprairie, and by adding to the existing district of Châteauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie the Towns of Greenfield Park and Prévile, and that the proposed name of Laprairie be replaced by that of Châteauguay-Huntingdon-Laprairie. (See Annex B).
- (d) that the boundaries of the proposed district of Chambly be revised by excluding, in Laprairie County, the municipality of Notre-Dame-du-Sacré-Cœur; in Chambly County, the City of Chambly and the municipality of the Parish of St-Joseph-de-Chambly; in Rouville County, the municipality of the Village of Richelieu, the municipalities of the Parishes of Notre-Dame-de-Bon-Secours and St-Mathias; and by adding the Towns of Lemoyne and Laflèche. (See Annex C).
- (e) that the boundaries of the proposed district of Longueuil be revised by excluding the Town of Laflèche and by adding the Town of St-Lambert. (See Annex D).
- (f) that the boundaries of the proposed district of St-Jean be revised by excluding, in Châteauguay County, the Town of Ste-Philomène, the municipality of the Village of St. Chrysostome and the municipalities of the Parishes of St-Urbain, Ste-Clothilde, St-Jean-Chrysostome; in Huntingdon County, the municipality of the Village of Hemmingford and the municipalities of the Townships of Hemmingford and Havelock; in St-Jean County, the municipality of the Village of Lacolle and the municipalities of the Parishes of Notre-Dame-du-Mont-Carmel, (Cantic), St-Bernard-de-Lacolle; in Laprairie County, the municipalities of the Parishes of St-Isidore, St-Philippe, St-Mathieu; and by adding, in Chambly County, the City of Chambly and the municipality of the Parish of Chambly; in Rouville County, the municipality of the Village of Richelieu and the municipalities of the Parishes of Notre-Dame-de-Bon-Secours and St-Mathias. (See Annex E).
- (g) that the Commission give consideration to the human factors involved and to the varied communities of interests, as detailed in the memorandum submitted to the Commission by the said municipalities at the public hearings;
- (h) that no valid reasons justify drastic changes in the boundaries of the existing districts, and, in order that changes be reduced to a minimum, that the Commission should accept the suggestions contained in the said alternative proposals submitted to it, or in the modified proposals hereby submitted.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral District of the Province of Prince Edward Island filed with Mr. Speaker on February 10, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, S.C. 1964-65) and for the reasons hereinafter specified, consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the following provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Prince Edward Island, laid before the House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19th, 1966.

The objections to the provisions of the said Report are as follows:

1. In dividing the Province of Prince Edward Island into four constituencies, to which it is entitled, the Commission obviously failed to give consideration to the relative rate of growth of the population of the Said Districts.
2. The Commission failed to take into consideration that the boundaries of the electoral districts as they existed prior to redistribution were in accordance with the common interests of the people living therein, and thereby made it possible to have adequate representation in the Parliament of Canada.
3. In assigning names to the Districts the Commission failed to select names with sufficient significant application to the areas which they are intended to designate.
4. That in failing to retain the dual riding of Queen's the Commission aggravated the "relative rate of growth" problem and disrupted a long established and quite satisfactory pattern of representation.
5. And such other objections that the undersigned Members may deem necessary to carry out the spirit and terms and conditions of the Act in question.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral Districts of Halifax, Halifax-East Hants and Dartmouth-Halifax East filed with Mr. Speaker on February 16, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65), consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Nova Scotia, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966, on the grounds set forth hereafter:

Objections to the new boundaries of the constituencies of Halifax, Halifax-East Hants and Dartmouth-Halifax East:

The petition is filed in order that the boundary lines of the three constituencies may conform more to recognized Municipal divisions in the area concerned, for the following reasons:

(a) that Dartmouth-Halifax East be extended to the Guysborough County line because the residents of Halifax-East, now left outside, by custom tradition, economic and business interests, and transportation are part of the physical and demographic entity proposed to be established in Dartmouth-Halifax East.

(b) that the boundary in the City of Halifax between Halifax and Halifax-East Hants follow the boundaries of the present Ward 7 to prevent political confusion.

(c) that if change (a) is agreed upon, that the area West of Bedford Basin proposed to be included in Dartmouth Halifax-East be placed in Halifax-East Hants because by custom, tradition, economic and business interests and transportation, that area is part of the physical and demographic entity proposed to be established in Halifax-East Hants.

(d) that the boundaries of Halifax-East Hants run to the Western boundary of Halifax County because the inhabitants along the Eastern shore of St. Margaret's Bay have stronger commercial political and business ties with the area immediately East than the area to their West.

(e) That Halifax-East Hants be named Uniacke for historical reasons, and to prevent confusion with the name of the riding of Halifax.

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Presenting Reports by Standing and Special Committees".

Mr. Basford for Mr. Pelletier, from the Standing Committee on Broadcasting, Films and Assistance to the Arts, presented the Third Report of the said Committee which is as follows:

1. On March 22, 1966, your Committee received from the House of Commons the following Order of Reference:

"Ordered,—That, saving always the powers of the Committee of Supply in relation to the voting of public monies, the items listed in the Main Estimates for 1966-67, relating to the Department of the Secretary of State, and all other Agencies for which the Minister is answerable in the House (excepting the Office of the Chief Electoral Officer) be withdrawn from the Committee of Supply and referred to the Standing Committee on Broadcasting, Films and Assistance to the Arts."

2. On Thursday, April 21, 1966, your Committee decided to meet for the purpose of hearing at this time the Secretary of State on the estimates of only the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and further decided that following the Minister, Messrs. Laurier LaPierre, Patrick Watson and Douglas Leiterman be invited to testify on the subject of the termination of Messrs. LaPierre's and Watson's contracts for the program, "This Hour Has Seven Days".

3. On Monday, April 25, 1966, your Committee also decided to hear Messrs. Gauntlett, Haggan, Hogg, Walker, Desorcy, Thibault, Marcel Ouimet and also the President of C.B.C., Mr. Alphonse Ouimet.

4. While examining witnesses, evidence was adduced of the possibility of a stoppage of C.B.C. services.

5. In view of this evidence, your Committee is of the opinion that the C.B.C. Management and C.B.C. Producers should avail themselves of the good offices of the Government, offered by the Prime Minister, on April 26 in the House of Commons, to avoid the possibility of any stoppage of C.B.C. services.

PRAYERS.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: The question of privilege just raised by the honourable Member for London (Mr. Irvine) is substantially the same as that which was raised yesterday in the House by the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert). I have since then considered the matter, as I said I would yesterday.

If I may summarize the problem, the honourable Member for Edmonton West and the honourable Member for London had asked for certain information with respect to commissions set up under the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act. The answer provided by the Secretary of State (Miss LaMarsh) in the three cases was generally to the effect that the commissions set up under the Act do not report to the government but rather to the House of Commons, and that the government does not have at its disposal the information sought.

The honourable Member for Edmonton West took the position that the individual representation commissions are emanations of the House and responsible to the House and that the only method of communication with the commissions is through the Secretary of State. The honourable Member went on to say he realized that the commissions are not responsible to the government, and in the course of his remarks suggested that the Chair take under consideration the question of the possibility of compelling the commissions to answer. I indicated, as I said, that the matter would be studied, particularly the suggestion made by the honourable Member for Edmonton West on this point.

In the first instance I should say that the responsibilities of the Speaker with respect to the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act are limited. Under section 6 (2), two members of a provincial commission other than the chairman and the Representation Commissioner are appointed by the Speaker of the House of Commons. As the honourable Member knows, under the Act the various commissions send copies of their reports to the Representation Commissioner, who in turn transmits a copy to the Speaker under section 19 (1) of the act. It is the Speaker's duty thereupon to lay the report before Parliament.

The Speaker then has a further obligation under section 20 of the Act to receive objections, and on the conclusion of consideration of those objections he must refer the reports, the objections and relevant debates of the House of Commons back to the Representation Commissioner. These various obligations, it seems to me, constitute the responsibilities of the Speaker in these matters, and I am afraid I cannot accept the suggestion of the honourable Member for Edmonton West that I can compel the commissions to answer questions raised in the House affecting the conduct of their responsibilities.

The honourable Member will have noted that the Secretary of State, in dealing with question No. 48 in the name of the honourable Member for London and questions 202 and 212 in the name of the honourable Member for Edmonton West, in effect stated that she was not in a position to make replies. Therefore I think we have to assume that the questions have not in fact been answered by the Secretary of State, and she has given certain reasons for adopting this attitude.

That being the case, I do not see how the Chair can compel the Minister to answer, and I need only refer the honourable Member to citation 181 (3) of Beauchesne's fourth edition, which is of course well known to the honourable Member for Edmonton West and to all honourable Members of the House, where it is stated: "A Minister may decline to answer a question without stating the reason for his refusal, and insistence on an answer is out of order, no debate being allowed. A refusal to answer cannot be raised as a question of privilege, nor is it regular to comment upon such refusal. A Member can put a question, but has no right to insist upon an answer."

I quite appreciate that in the case of the three written questions, the Secretary of State did indeed make a statement, but I do not think in reading that statement it can be regarded as an answer to the questions. It seems to me that it merely takes the position that the Minister cannot make an answer and, that being so, under the citation I have just quoted, I fear I cannot accept the view that the honourable gentleman has a question of privilege. This applies equally to the honourable Member for London.

I must say I have some understanding and sympathy for the honourable Members' position. While I have found that there does not seem to be a question of privilege in the matter raised, it does seem to me that the honourable Members may very well have a grievance which they could legitimately raise at the first opportunity, or should they care to do so they might consider the advisability of placing a Motion for the Production of Papers on the Order Paper, in which case it may be that the Governor in Council would produce the information sought through the Secretary of State who under the Statute is the channel of communication between the Representation Commissioner and the Governor in Council.

Mr. McIlraith, from the Business Committee, presented a Report of the said Committee which is as follows:

On Monday last the Minister of Public Works proposed that the question of allocation of time for the consideration of objections under the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act be referred to the Business Committee.

In accordance with sub-clause 3 of Standing Order 15A, the Business Committee is pleased to report that it is now unnecessary to make any recommendation for such allocation of time.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. McNulty, it was ordered,—That the names of Messrs. Reid, Hymmen, O'Keefe, Hales, McKinley and Alkenbrack be substituted for those of Messrs. Isabelle, LeBlanc (Rimouski), Granger, Bigg, Cadieu (Meadow Lake) and Gundlock on the Standing Committee on Northern Affairs and National Resources.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral Districts of the Province of New Brunswick, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 15, 1966, was considered:

THAT, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65) and for the reasons hereinafter specified, consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the following provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of New Brunswick, laid before the House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19th, 1966 for the reasons hereinafter specified.

1. The fact of a Majority and Minority Report having been presented by the Commission suggests the existence of a difference of opinion in the Commission itself which invites discussion by interested Members of Parliament.
2. In determining the boundaries of some of the Electoral Districts of the Province of New Brunswick, the Commission failed to give special emphasis to geographical considerations, including in particular the sparsity, density or relative rate of growth of population of various regions of the Province, the accessibility of such regions, or the size or shape thereof, and ignored or over-looked the special problems of transportation and communication when establishing ten Electoral Districts in the said Province.
3. In determining the boundaries of some of the Electoral Districts of the Province of New Brunswick, as indicated by the majority report, the Commission failed to give and pay proper attention to the physical, social and economic cohesion of some districts thus created and overlooked the question of unity and community of interest and thereby rendered satisfactory and comprehensive representation a most difficult task.
4. The inconvenience to any Member of Parliament attempting to maintain contact with constituents spread over some Electoral Districts would be considerable. The expense of travel might well be considered exorbitant in attempting to maintain such contact.
5. AND such other objections that the undersigned Members may consider applicable in order to carry out the spirit and terms and conditions of the Act in question.

Dated this 15th day of February, A.D. 1966, HOUSE OF COMMONS, Ottawa, Ontario.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral Districts of the Province of Alberta, filed with Mr. Speaker on January 28, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65) and for the reasons herein-after specified, consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Alberta, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966.

The objections to the provisions of the Alberta report are as follows:

1. Throughout Alberta the Commission failed to give special emphasis to geographical considerations, the sparsity, density and relative rate of growth of the population, and ignored or overlooked the special problems of communication and transportation when they divided the said province into nineteen (19) new electoral districts.

2. The Commission failed to give special consideration and special appreciation to accessibility of one region to another region in many of the rural electoral districts when determining the boundaries of the same.

3. The Commission failed to give and pay proper attention to the physical, social or economic cohesion in many of the new electoral districts created and appeared to ignore and did ignore the question of unity or community of interest and thereby rendering adequate representation of the people in Parliament a virtually impossible task.

4. The Commission erred in law by failing to carry out the terms and conditions of Section 13 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act.

5. The Commission failed to take into consideration that the boundaries of the majority of electoral districts of Alberta as they existed prior to redistribution, were in accordance with the spirit, the terms and conditions and the formula in law of the said Act in question, and the undersigned Members therefore suggest that the Commission could have increased the representation of Alberta by two (2) Members, by giving each major city; namely Calgary and Edmonton, one (1) more electoral district as the population warrants the same. The balance of electoral districts could have remained the same except for a small adjustment as to population to one or two electoral districts. In this manner, the Commission could have avoided the grave errors they made as described in the preceding and subsequent paragraphs.

6. The whole problem with the new electoral districts could have been avoided if the Commission had not created the electoral district of Rocky Mountain. This district because of difficulties hereinafter stated, should be abolished. The creation of same put the whole report and map of the electoral districts out of balance and contrary to law.

7. The mistake made by the Commission when they set up the electoral district of Rocky Mountain created problems that far outweigh the benefit. Those problems created are as follows:

- (a) The roads and railways run east and west while accessibility demands north and south travel.
- (b) Private air travel is impossible in this mountainous area and no recognized commercial airlines have landing fields.

- (c) No consideration was given to the accessibility of one point with another and hundreds of miles of travel will be necessary to go from a southern point of the constituency to a northern point of the constituency. (For example, Blairmore to Whitecourt).
- (d) The expense of travel for any Member of Parliament carrying out his duties and responsibilities or for any candidate electioneering in the area would be exorbitant.
- (e) Communication and transportation between points in this electoral district is a physical impossibility.

8. And such other objections that the undersigned Members may deem necessary to carry out the spirit and terms and conditions of the Act in question.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral District of Coast-Chilcotin, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 16, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65), consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of British Columbia, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966, for the reasons hereinafter specified.

(1) The Commission failed to give full and proper attention to the geographic, social, and economic connections which the people of the Queen Charlotte Islands have with the mainland area of the province contiguous to, and including, the City of Prince Rupert.

(2) The Commission failed to give full and proper consideration to population growth trends and failed to exercise fully its authority under Section 13 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act insofar as the relationship of the Queen Charlotte Islands to the mainland area of the province contiguous to, and including, the City of Prince Rupert is concerned.

(3) The Commission, by seeking to place the Queen Charlotte Islands in Coast-Chilcotin, fails to appreciate that this would demarcate and divorce the Queen Charlotte Islands from the mainland area of Coast-Chilcotin for the reasons that the Queen Charlotte Islands have no direct geographic, social, or economic ties or compatibilities with the other parts of Coast-Chilcotin.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral Districts of the Province of British Columbia, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 17, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65) consideration be given by this House to the matter of certain objections to the following provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of British Columbia, laid before the House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19th, 1966, and to the reasons appearing in the said objections, hereinafter set forth.

The objections to the provisions of the report are as follows:

1. Throughout British Columbia the Commission failed to give due regard to special geographic considerations, including the sparsity and density of population of various regions of the province, when they set the boundaries in dividing the province into twenty-three (23) new electoral districts.
2. The Commission failed to give proper appreciation and consideration to the accessibility of one region to another region and to the size and shape thereof, in several of the rural electoral districts, when determining the boundaries of the same.
3. The Commission failed to take into account, and erred in holding that it could not take into account, population trends as established since the census of 1961; such trends should have been taken into account by virtue of Section 13 (c) (i) of the Act, and would have resulted in substantial variations from the boundaries laid down in the Commission's report.
4. The Commission failed to give due effect, and erred in not giving due effect, to special community or diversity of interests of the inhabitants of various regions of the province as set forth in Section 13 (c) (ii) of the said Act, with the result that areas with a community of interests with each other have been separated as a result of the Commission's report, and areas formerly included in constituencies or with areas with which they had a community of interests are included in constituencies or with areas with which they have no community of interest.
5. The Commission failed, in addition, to give or pay proper attention to the principle of practical feasibility of a representative keeping in physical contact with his constituents and the constituents' ability to make physical contacts with their representative, thereby rendering adequate representation of the people in Parliament a virtually impossible task.
6. Examples of the results of the foregoing and of the effects of the report to which particular objection is taken are the following:
 - (a) The exclusion of the Williams Lake and adjacent area from the interior riding of Kamloops, with which it has a complete community

- of interest, and its inclusion with a coastal area in a new riding, including the Queen Charlotte Islands, the inland and coastal areas of the new riding having virtually no interests in common, contrary to the expressed wish of the community of Williams Lake.
- (b) The virtual merging of the former riding of Okanagan-Revelstoke with the former riding of Kootenay East, with the result that the communities of Vernon and of Fernie are included in one riding, creating an area not only without community of interest, but quite impossible physically to serve properly.
 - (c) The exclusion of the Merritt-Nicola area from the Kamloops riding, with which it has a historic and complete community of interests, contrary to the expressed wish of the community of Merritt.
 - (d) The exclusion of Quesnel from the former Cariboo riding and its severance from Prince George, with which it has a community of interests and commerce, and its inclusion with Kamloops, with which it has minimal interests and commerce in common, contrary to the expressed wish of the community of Quesnel.
 - (e) The exclusion of the Queen Charlotte Islands from the coastal riding of Skeena, with which they have a community of interests, and their inclusion in a new riding containing Williams Lake and a vast interior ranching and dry belt area, with which they have nothing in common.
 - (f) The creation of a situation whereby the Williams Lake area is excluded from the Kamloops-Cariboo riding, while Quesnel is added in on the north, although it is impossible for the member for the riding to get from the southern area of the constituency to Quesnel in any practical sense without going through about seventy miles of the Williams Lake area, in the new riding of Coast-Chilcotin.
 - (g) The concomitant situation whereby the member for Coast-Chilcotin, in order to get from the coastal areas of his riding (which themselves extend over some 480 miles) to the Williams Lake and interior area, will, in practice, have to drive or fly another 250 miles from the coast, through three other constituencies, including the Kamloops riding, to get from the one part to the other of his riding.
 - (h) With respect to distances, it is essential not only that it be practically possible for members to cover their constituencies, it is also a principle to be followed that constituents should be able physically to gain access to the member to discuss business with him. In three constituencies newly-created, the constituent who wishes to go to do business with his M.P., from Powell River to Williams Lake, from Fernie to Vernon, or from Quesnel to Kamloops—or vice versa—will face a return journey in the order of 820 miles, 800 miles, and 540 miles respectively. In other words, given any time at all for the transaction of business itself, a visit to their M.P. for these constituents would involve a two- or three-day undertaking.
 - (i) The failure of the Commission to take into account the relative rate of growth of the areas of Vancouver ordinarily called the West End and Kitsilano since the 1961 census, resulting in the new riding of Vancouver-Centre having a presently estimated population well in excess of the applicable limit.

- (j) The Commission failed to give due effect and weight to the representations made and, in particular, failed to give effect to the quite reasonable representations that if large areas of the former ridings of Vancouver Centre and Vancouver-Burrard were to be combined into a new riding, that the new riding be called Vancouver-Granville.
- (k) The subtraction of the Municipality of Esquimalt from the Victoria Riding separates two areas which have many years of close historical association, as well as a remarkable community of interests. The trend of population growths in B.C. is such that at the next Redistribution there is every likelihood the boundaries will be broadened again and, for the foregoing reasons, the Municipality of Esquimalt is the logical area to then be restored once more to the Victoria Riding. It would appear to be advantageous from all points of view to leave the Municipality of Esquimalt in the Victoria Riding as at present, particularly since the population of the total area is within the limits allowed to the Commission as was the expressed wish of the Reeve and the Council of the Municipality of Esquimalt.

7. Application of the principles heretofore referred to, and avoidance of the anomalies and inequities herein listed, would have the result that the two proposed ridings of Coast-Chilcotin and Okanagan-Kootenay could not be brought into existence as presently recommended. They should be eliminated from proposals for new ridings in British Columbia and a new set of riding boundaries for B.C. drawn accordingly.

For the foregoing and such other objections and reasons as the undersigned Members may deem necessary to carry out the spirit, terms and conditions of the said Act, it is considered essential that the said Report be referred back to the Commission, pursuant to the said Act, together with this statement of objections, in order that the Commission may revise its Report to meet the said objections and draw new riding boundaries along the lines referred to in paragraphs 6 and 7 above.

The said objection to be further considered if time permits.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral Districts of the Province of Ontario, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 14, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act, being Chapter 31 of the Statutes of Canada 1964-65, and for the reasons hereinafter specified, consideration be given by this House to the matter of objections to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Ontario, laid before the House by Mr. Speaker, on Wednesday, the 19th day of January, 1966.

The provisions of the Report applying generally throughout the Province of Ontario are objected to on the ground that they do not conform, in respect of many Electoral Districts, with the provisions of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act, and the reasons for such objections are as follows:—

1. Throughout the Province of Ontario, in proposing new boundaries for electoral districts, the Commission has almost completely ignored provincial and municipal electoral boundaries, social and economic ties, patterns of trade and communication, local and regional affinities as well as tradition.
2. The Commission has proposed establishment of electoral districts having no physical, social or economic cohesion, and no unity or community of interest, thereby rendering the adequate representation of the people in Parliament a virtually impossible task.
3. The Commission has ignored the rules specified in Section 13(c) of giving attention to special geographic considerations including the sparsity, density or relative rate of growth of population of various regions of the province, the accessibility of such regions or the size or shape thereof.
4. The Commission has ignored serious and thoughtful representations made to it by municipal councils, community associations, political representatives and many other persons having special knowledge.

While general objection is taken to the provisions of the Report for the foregoing reasons, additional particular individual objections are specified in letters addressed by Members of the House of Commons representing electoral districts in the Province of Ontario to the Speaker of the House of Commons, which letters are annexed hereto as Appendix "A" and incorporated herein.

Further detailed and specific proposals for the alteration or amendment of the Report of the Commission will be made by Members of the House of Commons representing electoral districts in Ontario during debate in the House of Commons upon this motion, in order that the spirit, intent and purpose of the Electoral Boundaries Adjustment Act may be carried out equitably and adequately.

Dated at the HOUSE OF COMMONS, in the City of Ottawa, this 9th day of February, 1966.

ANNEX
OBJECTION RELATING TO READJUSTMENT
OF ELECTORAL BOUNDARIES IN ONTARIO

Particular objections are here recorded in order to be incorporated in and become part of the Notice of Motion. Letters giving a more elaborate outline of these particular objections have been filed with the Speaker of the House of Commons by the undernoted Members representing electoral districts in Ontario in the hope that the additional details therein contained may be of assistance to the Electoral Boundaries Commission in their reconsideration of the boundaries.

A. Eric A. Winkler, M.P.

Readjustment affecting the Counties of Grey and Bruce.

1. The interests of the people in this particular part of Ontario have not been properly served.
2. Centres of population and the natural lines of communication have been disregarded.
3. Traditional boundaries have been ignored.
4. In consideration of the Counties of Grey and Bruce, plus some adjacent territory, might well have been divided into two contiguous constituencies, having similar interests and therefore the lines have been improperly drawn.
5. There is little or no similarity between the new boundaries and the boundaries being considered for Provincial redistribution.

B. P. B. Rynard, M.P.

Re: Proposed electoral district of Simcoe North.

1. The proposed riding of Simcoe North is too large.
2. The Commission does not take into consideration the fact that the population of East Simcoe is now around 60,000 and growing. With the proposed additional territory this figure will be much higher. Many ridings will not be as large as this.
3. The proposed riding of Simcoe North will be roughly 80,000 persons. The member's load will be too heavy. The riding is surrounded on three sides by water which includes harbours and docks; also the Trent Valley Canal.
4. There is a great variation in occupation.
5. The Commission has neglected to take into consideration Regional Offices and areas.

C. H. W. Danforth, M.P.

Re: Readjustment of electoral district of Kent (Ontario).

1. The transfer of the Townships of Dover, Chatham, Oxford, Howard and Harwich together with the Towns of Blenheim and Ridgetown from their traditional and historical place in the County of Kent which is contrary to all the patterns of trade, commerce and local municipal government.

2. The dividing of the federal riding of Kent County into two parts and joining them with parts of other counties which is absolutely contrary to the last Act of Redistribution which joined the two parts together to form the electoral district of Kent County.
3. The removal of the City of Chatham from the centre of an electoral district and placing it at an extreme boundary of a new electoral district giving no consideration to the relative rate of growth of population in the region which could quickly cause a drastic imbalance to the new districts.
4. In establishing the two new electoral districts, thereby dividing the former electoral district of Kent, the name of Kent formed the prefix of neither of the two districts, Essex-Kent or Lambton-Kent. Either on the basis of forming the major population in the new district or on the basis of alphabetical order the name of Kent is entitled to first consideration in at least one of the new electoral districts.

D. M. T. McCutcheon, M.P.

Re: Readjustment of electoral district of Lambton-Kent.

1. Transfer of the Town of Forest, Township of Warwick and Town of Watford out of their traditional places in the County of Lambton and summarily attaching them to the County of Middlesex. In large measure this is contrary to patterns of trade and commerce. Local and regional affairs are normally toward the western part of the County of Lambton. Trade in this area tends to travel to the west in the direction of Sarnia more so than in an easterly direction towards London which is in the centre part of Middlesex riding.
2. The relative rate of growth of population of the southwestern portion of the existing Lambton-Kent riding, namely Wallaceburg, Gore of Chatham and Sombra Township is phenomenal and with the trend to industrial development in this area the influx of population will soon throw the riding out of balance.

E. D. M. Code, M.P.

Re: Readjustment of electoral district of Lanark.

The dismemberment of the historic County of Lanark is undesirable and unnecessary. Alternatives are available which would preserve the unity, cohesion and tradition of one of Ontario's most historic areas.

F. W. H. A. Thomas, M.P.

Re: Proposed electoral district of Middlesex.

My objection is of a minor nature which I believe could be accepted easily by the Ontario Redistribution Commission without affecting substantially the population of either Middlesex or any other constituencies.

It concerns a change in the boundary line between the proposed constituencies of Middlesex and London East. The present boundary includes within Middlesex that part of the city bounded on the west by Adelaide Street, on the north by the city limits, on the east by Clark Sideroad and on the south by Cheapside Street.

It is my contention that if Cheapside Street continues eastward to the eastern city limits, then the boundary should follow Cheapside

Street to the eastern city limits so that the area of the city included with Middlesex would include the whole northeast corner of the city. If Cheapside Street does not continue through to the eastern city limits, the boundary should follow south along Clark Sideroad to Oxford Street, then east along Oxford Street to the eastern city limits.

The boundary as presently proposed includes a few acres of the county between Fanshaw Road and the northern city limits with London East, and creates a boundary which is unnecessarily complicated. To the best of my knowledge there are no residences in the area between Clark Sideroad and the eastern city limits north of Oxford Street.

G. Rod Webb, M.P.

Re: Proposed electoral districts of Victoria-Haliburton and Peterborough.

1. The Townships of Belmont and Methuen should not be in the Victoria-Haliburton Riding for the following reasons:
 - (a) There is no road connection between the two Ridings and in order to get to these municipalities from the proposed Riding of Victoria-Haliburton, it is necessary to drive through the County of Peterborough.
 - (b) The local municipal governments are all connected with the County of Peterborough.
 - (c) The social and community center is the City of Peterborough.
 - (d) The Health Units are integrated.
 - (e) The Educational Systems are integrated.
 - (f) The Reeves of Belmont, Methuen and the Village of Havelock have always been Members of the Peterborough County Council.
 - (g) The City of Peterborough is the commercial centre.
 - (h) The total population of the said municipalities is, in large measure, not large enough to upset the allowable population limits in either the proposed Peterborough Riding or the proposed Victoria-Haliburton Riding.

H. Heber E. Smith, M.P.

Re: Readjustment affecting the County of Simcoe.

1. The County of Simcoe should comprise two electoral districts and be divided in a north-south manner, rather than an east-west fashion. Thereby, the centre of population for Simcoe North would be the town of Orillia and the centre of population of the other riding, the City of Barrie.
2. Consequential changes in other ridings would not be great but would include:
 - (a) The Townships of Georgina and North Gwillimbury remaining in York North.
 - (b) The four western Townships of Dufferin remaining in Peel-Dufferin, preserving the territorial integrity of Dufferin.
 - (c) Division of the Grey and Bruce Peninsula horizontally instead of vertically.
3. Complete details of the proposed changes in readjustment are contained in two briefs enclosed with a letter filed with Mr. Speaker for the assistance of the Electoral Boundaries Commission.

I. William Scott, M.P.

Re: Readjustment of electoral district of Victoria (Ontario).

1. The provision that the Township of Brock in the County of Ontario become a part of the proposed riding of Ontario. 44(a)
2. The provision that the Townships of Burns, Jones and Sherwood in the County of Renfrew become a part of the proposed riding of Victoria-Haliburton. 75 (f)
3. The provision that the Townships of Airy, Dickens, Lyell, Murchison and Sabine of the County of Nipissing become a part of the proposed riding of Victoria-Haliburton. 75 (c)

J. Honourable R. A. Bell, M.P.

Re: Readjustment affecting the existing electoral districts of Carleton, Renfrew South, Lanark, Grenville-Dundas, Stormont, Russell, Ottawa East and Ottawa West.

1. The boundaries of the proposed electoral district of Lanark and Renfrew should be changed as follows:
 - (a) Eliminate therefrom the Townships of Fitzroy, Torbolton, Huntley and March.
 - (b) Add thereto the Town of Smiths Falls and the Township of Montague.
2. The boundaries of the proposed electoral district of Leeds should be changed as follows:
 - (a) Eliminate therefrom the Town of Smiths Falls and the Township of Montague.
 - (b) Add thereto the Town of Prescott, the Village of Cardinal and the Townships of Augusta and Edwardsburgh.
3. The name of the last mentioned electoral district should be changed to Leeds and Grenville.
4. The boundaries of the proposed electoral district of Stormont-Dundas should be changed as follows:
 - (a) Eliminate therefrom the Villages of Winchester and Chesterville and the Township of Winchester.
 - (b) Add thereto the Village of Iroquois and the Township of Matilda.
5. The boundaries of the proposed electoral district of Grenville-Carleton should be changed as follows:
 - (a) Eliminate therefrom the Town of Prescott, the Villages of Iroquois and Cardinal and the Townships of Augusta, Edwardsburgh and Matilda.
 - (b) Add thereto the Villages of Winchester and Chesterville and the Townships of Fitzroy, Torbolton, Huntley, March and Winchester.
6. The name of the last mentioned electoral district should be changed to Carleton-Grenville-Dundas.
7. A much more detailed survey of Ottawa area electoral districts should be undertaken by the Commission in order to achieve new boundaries which genuinely represent the policy of the Electoral Boundaries Adjustment Act which assuredly the proposed boundaries do not do.

K. Percy V. Noble, M.P.

Re: Readjustment of electoral district of Grey North.

1. The objections brought forward in Clause 1 in the Notice of Motion fit the picture quite well in this area. Owen Sound is the largest municipality and of course is the trading centre for all of the Bruce Peninsula and all the surrounding townships.

2. Under the new Redistribution the whole area west of Owen Sound has been placed in the Bruce Riding and two or three townships neighbouring Midland and Penetang have been added to the new riding. With this arrangement the riding has been spread out over a wide area along the southern shore of Georgian Bay.
3. The Federal Riding should follow closely the boundaries as set up by the Provincial Government in their recent Redistribution of Ridings and in no way does it follow traditions naturally expected.

L. J. Ellwood Madill, M.P.

Re: Readjustment affecting the existing electoral district of Dufferin-Simcoe.

1. Dufferin-Simcoe has adequate population with 25 per cent tolerance of the basic figures.
2. Simcoe is losing its identity in the proposed new descriptive boundaries, the fifth largest governing body in Canada.
3. Rural area will be dominated by the larger urban centres. The growth is lateral, not vertical.
4. If York Riding must have addition, why not East and West?
5. The new proposal will have three County Councils to deal with instead of the present two.
6. The people in the present Dufferin-Simcoe Riding prefer to remain as they presently are.

M. Mrs. Jean Casselman Wadds, M.P.

Re: Readjustment affecting the existing electoral district of Grenville-Dundas.

The objections are as stated in a brief already filed with the Commission as follows:

1. The Commission failed to give particular attention to geographic conditions and the varied rate of growth of population in certain areas of the constituency and the future potential for growth of population.
2. The Commission failed to give proper appreciation to the accessibility and past experience of one region of the constituency with another.
3. The Commission failed to give proper attention to the regional interests of the inhabitants of the constituency past, present and future.

N. James E. Brown, M.P.

Re: Readjustment affecting the proposed electoral districts of Brant, Oxford, Hamilton-Wentworth and Halton-Wentworth.

1. In setting up the electoral district of Brant, the Commission erred by failing to give adequate consideration to the protestations of the citizens of the township of Ancaster in the County of Wentworth who have objected to being included in the electoral district of Brant because of the close associations since the settlement of Upper Canada between Ancaster township, the City of Hamilton and other parts of the County of Wentworth and the fact that Ancaster township has never had any close relations with the City of Brantford or the County of Brant.
2. The Commission further erred in not including in the said electoral district of Brant the township of Oakland in the County of Brant because of its very close proximity to the city limits of the City of Brantford and contrary to the expressed wishes of a petition of electors of the said township, which said petition is signed by the overwhelming majority of the said electors, a copy of which has been filed for reference with the Speaker of the House of Commons, also for having omitted to include in the said electoral district the township of Burford closely attached to the City of Brantford since the beginning of settlement, both of which townships namely, Oakland and Burford having been within the County of Brant since its incorporation.

3. When the said townships of Oakland and Burford are attached to the said electoral district and after the township of Ancaster is deleted from the said district, the said electoral district of Brant should then contain an adequate number of electors for a constituency in Ontario and have boundaries which would observe all past associations.

O. A. J. P. Cameron, M.P.

Re: Proposed electoral district of Humber Valley.

1. The constituency of High Park was established under the Redistribution Act of 1924 when territory of the City of Toronto and its boundaries were altered in the Redistribution Act of 1933. The name High Park has, therefore been in existence for a period of some 42 years and has become well established as one of the best known constituencies in the Metropolitan Toronto area. It embraced within its boundaries one of Canada's great parks known as High Park and constituting a landmark to all residents of the Toronto and Metropolitan area and with a reputation second to none in the whole of Canada. Under the report of the Representation Commissioners for Ontario this name will disappear.
2. The constituency of Humber Valley will include approximately one-half of the old riding of High Park which would mean that it would constitute a very major portion of the constituency of Humber Valley.
3. The Commissioners originally retained the name of High Park transferring it to the now proposed constituency of Parkdale and calling the now proposed constituency of Davenport, Parkdale. While there might have been some justification for renaming the old constituency of Parkdale, High Park because it included within its proposed boundaries the Park called High Park it was inappropriate to transfer the name Parkdale to the proposed riding of Davenport as there was no relationship or history between the two constituencies. The new proposed constituency of Davenport includes within its boundaries an area lying west of Keele Street, north of Bloor Street, east of Quebec Avenue, and south of Humberside Avenue. This is inappropriate and the same result could have been accomplished insofar as the numerical content of the constituency was concerned by including an area lying west of Keele Street, north of Bloor Street and east of Pacific Avenue and south of the Canadian Pacific Railway tracks to Western Ontario and resulting in a more compact and manageable riding. High Park Avenue is a residential street running south from Dundas Street to the main entrance of the Park, High Park, and this street is included in the constituency of Humber Valley.
4. A much more logical approach to conserving the name would have been to include the boundaries of High Park (the Park itself) in the constituency of Humber Valley which would also have the effect of giving a more compact outline to the constituency of Humber Valley.

There cannot be more than two or three residents in the Park proper and they have always voted in the constituency of High Park. There can be no objection to removing High Park from within the boundaries of the constituency of Parkdale and incorporating the same in the constituency of Humber Valley. If this were done and the proposed change in the boundaries between the constituencies of Humber Valley and Davenport accomplished there could then be no objection to calling the constituency of Humber Valley, High Park.

5. That part of Humber Valley formerly forming part of High Park is almost entirely residential and High Park (the Park itself) is the area to which the residents thereof including as well many of the residents of that part of the Humber Valley, not previously included in the constituency, regard their all-year round playground.

For the reasons above mentioned and such other reasons as may appear reasonable and proper the submission is that the name of the constituency of Humber Valley and its boundaries should be altered in the manner above set forth and re-named High Park.

In making this presentation I do so on behalf of all of the residents of the former constituency of High Park now to be included in the constituency of Humber Valley.

In making the above objections I am doing so on behalf of a particular constituency and without agreeing or disagreeing with the general objections set out in the motion to which this is attached as an exhibit.

P. Honourable R. A. Bell, M.P.

Re: Readjustment of boundaries of electoral districts in area of Metropolitan Toronto.

1. The Commission has disregarded the historical municipal divisions and the geography in Metropolitan Toronto by not confining boundaries to the natural divisions such as the Humber River, the Don River, and Highway 401 to the North and by dividing a long established community unit such as Eglinton which has maintained its identity both as Ward 9 in the City of Toronto and as a Provincial and Federal Riding for a great many years.
2. The correlation of municipal boundaries to all phases of representation in the area should have been kept in mind by the Commission. A member from a riding should be representative of that riding as much as practical for provincial affairs, at the Federal level and for municipal matters. For example the Riding of North York should not intrude into the boundary of Metropolitan Toronto system. Again the electoral district of North York has had a history of over 70 years as a political unit and bringing it south into Metropolitan Toronto will create a clash of interest in the representation.
3. Since the Commission has made its report the proposal for creation of the six borough system for Metropolitan Toronto has pointed out the necessity for maintaining as much as possible the borough units as natural units for redistribution. An example of this is in the three Ridings being created out of what will be the borough of Etobicoke without crossing the Humber River as far as practical.

4. These objections, which represent a consensus of the views of certain candidates in the Metropolitan Toronto area in the last general election are supplemented by a letter filed for reference with the Speaker of the House of Commons.

Q. Honourable R. A. Bell, M.P.

Re: Proposed electoral districts of Etobicoke and York West.

1. The portion of the proposed electoral district of Etobicoke which lies east of the Humber River should not be included in Etobicoke for the following reasons:
 - (a) The Humber River is a natural boundary which for many years has served as a dividing line between the old ridings of York West and York Centre.
 - (b) The rate of growth of population in the new riding of Etobicoke, and indeed also in the new York West, is surging ahead very quickly—with the result that Etobicoke and new York West will soon be much larger numerically than the present population assigned to each of these. Thus, there would appear to be no need for territory east of the Humber River to be included in Etobicoke.
 - (c) The area east of the Humber lies outside the municipality of Etobicoke with the result that these people are not traditionally associated with municipal or community affairs west of the Humber.
2. The proposed electoral district named Etobicoke should be called York West; and the proposed electoral district of York West should be known as Etobicoke. By so doing, this would make the names of the two new districts similar to the geographical provincial constituencies of the same names. This would avoid confusion in the minds of voters when federal and provincial elections are held.
3. These objections which represent the views of a party association in the existing electoral district of York West are supplemented by a letter filed for reference with the Speaker of the House of Commons.

R. Honourable R. A. Bell, M.P.

Re: Readjustment in Northern Ontario.

1. The Commission in readjusting Northern Ontario electoral districts has ignored the importance of transportation and communication facilities, thereby establishing electoral districts impossible for a member properly to represent.
2. In particular, the geographic “jigsaw” puzzle which is proposed for the electoral district of Cochrane represents only lines upon a map without any regard to the realities of political representation.
3. This proposed electoral district, and the proposed electoral districts of Thunder Bay, Kenora-Rainy River and Temiskaming do not take into consideration social and economic ties of communities in the area, patterns of trade and communication, accessibility of one area of the electoral district to another or the problems of political representation in areas of sparse population.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral District of Cochrane, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 14, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65), consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Ontario, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966, for the reasons hereinafter specified:

- (a) It is unnatural and impractical to have Cochrane riding separated by Timmins riding thus dividing the riding into two and having to travel the width of the Timmins riding to reach the other half of Cochrane riding.
- (b) The proposed riding would be very difficult to traverse because of circuitous road and railway systems that wind around the perimeter of the riding rather than bisect same as is normal. Because of the difficulty and expense of traversing the area, there is no real rapport or similarity between the two areas (Cochrane riding as it previously existed and the additional area west of the Timmins riding extending to Lake Superior).
- (c) In order to accomplish the population requirement, sufficient territory could be included along highway No. 11 south of Cochrane. This would not affect the land geography of the Timmins riding. As the railway follows Highway No. 11, this has been the natural means of population settlement and over the years people along this route have associated together in various organizations such as: Northeastern Ontario Municipal Association, Zone 6 of Northeastern Ontario Development Association, James Bay Frontier Association, etc. There has been no connection in any way with the people in the vicinity of Wawa, Lake Superior, etc.

to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Ontario, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966.

The name of the constituency of Russell has been in existence since Confederation. Therefore, the population of that constituency objects—and I support their objection—to the elimination of that name which has an historical significance.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral District of Wentworth, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 18, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65), consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Ontario, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966, for the reasons hereinafter specified:

1. It is impractical and unfair to the people of Ancaster and the community to separate them from an area in which they form an integral part.
2. All regional plans bring Ancaster into Wentworth.
3. It is proposed that Ancaster be included in the riding of Brant, the biggest in Ontario and one that might be expected to exceed the tolerance figure before the next census. Because Halton-Wentworth is one of the smaller ridings it can easily absorb Ancaster without fear of exceeding the tolerance.
4. The Council of the Township of Nassagaweya has also asked that they be included in Halton-Wentworth riding because their geographic and traditional ties are with the Town of Burlington in the new riding.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral District of York East, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 17, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65), consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Ontario, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966, for the reasons hereinafter specified:

1. That in revising the boundaries of the Riding of York East, the Commission did not give due consideration to the geographical and civic entity of the Township of East York, which forms most of the riding.
2. That the commission did not give due consideration to the various briefs presented to the commission at the hearings in Toronto, which with unanimous agreement of certain groups in the three ridings involved, namely York East, Broadview and Greenwood, recommended that York East be bounded on the south by a line north of Danforth Avenue which line would maintain a population of 82,857, but would include most of the Township of East York, and further that Broadview and Greenwood be divided by a line running from north to south at a point which would maintain their populations at 78,443 and 76,959 respectively, and that the boundary line between York East on the one hand and Broadview and Greenwood on the other hand would run as parallel to Danforth Avenue as possible.
3. That the above recommended revisions can easily be accomplished, maintaining the identical populations in the three ridings as set out by the commission report, and without disturbing the boundaries of any of the other ridings in the city of Metropolitan Toronto.

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, FRIDAY, APRIL 29, 1966.

11.00 o'clock a.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Pelletier from the Standing Committee on Broadcasting, Films and Assistance to the Arts, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Your Committee recommends that it be authorized to sit while the House is sitting, such authority to have effect from Monday, May 2, to Thursday, May 5, inclusive.

Mr. Saltsman, seconded by Mr. Mather, by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-173, An Act to amend the Combines Investigation Act (Increased prices), which was read the first time and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

Bill C-154, An Act to implement an Agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom for the avoidance of double taxation with respect to taxes on certain classes of income and to implement a Supplementary Income Tax Agreement between Canada and Sweden, was read the third time and passed.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral Districts of the Province of Quebec, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 17, 1966, was considered:

That, in accordance with section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Statutes of Canada 1964-65, chapter 31), this House should consider the matter of the objections to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Quebec, laid before this House by the Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966, for the reasons hereinafter given with regard to the provisions concerning the Province of Quebec as a whole and with regard to certain particular cases:

(1) The Commission, throughout the Province of Quebec, has given no thought to geographic considerations, to the size of the regions, nor to the density and the relative and possible rate of growth of the population. The Commission has ignored or avoided the problems of communication and transport when it divided the Province into 74 new electoral districts.

(2) Apparently, the Commission was much more concerned with numerical balance than with demographic, geographic and historical facts. Consequently, it has isolated some zones that should have been joined together for the common good of certain areas, both in urban and rural counties.

(3) That the Commission has not given sufficient thought to the physical, social and economic cohesion required with regard to several electoral districts that it has established. The Commission seems to have or actually has ignored the unity or community of interests and has thus rendered practically impossible an adequate representation in Parliament.

In so doing, the Commission has not complied with the provisions of Section 13 (c) (ii) of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act.

(4) That the Commission has erred in law in not complying with the provisions of Section 13 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Bill C-72) as adopted by the House of Commons on November 16, 1964.

(5) The Commission should have referred to the debates in the House of Commons at the time the bill establishing the Commission was introduced, especially to page 741 of Hansard for March 10, 1964, where the honourable Mr. Pickersgill said in substance that members of the Commission should have all necessary knowledge with regard to the region, that is geographic, historical and topographical knowledge, and all necessary information. Apparently, the Commission did not have such information or knowledge and has neither heard the representations made to it nor taken them into account, and in particular:

(1) With regard to the county formerly called St-Jean-Iberville-Napierville, the Commission has removed 6 parishes from the County of Iberville; they are all 10 miles distant from the town of St. Jean. The Commission has added others which are located at more than 40 miles from the town of St. Jean, which is the chief town of that county. Several civic organizations have put forward their representations in this connection, but the Commission has disregarded them completely.

(2) The Commission, by striking out in the Province of Quebec the counties with composite names, has created in certain areas an impression of abandonment among the taxpayers concerned. In particular, the county of Nicolet-Yamaska, entirely revised by the new redistribution, is embraced by the counties of Richelieu, Drummond and Lotbinière. The Commission should have kept a name more true to history by calling the new riding of Richelieu "Richelieu-Nicolet" or "Nicolet-Richelieu".

(3) Concurrently, the county of Charlevoix should have been called Charlevoix-Saguenay, since so many municipalities of the former riding of Saguenay are included within the boundaries proposed by the Commission.

(4) In the case of Montreal-Ste-Marie, not only has the Commission totally disregarded the representations made during the public hearing held in Montreal on August 31, 1965, but it has also ignored the written representations forwarded afterwards to the Chairman of the Commission, responsible for the Province of Quebec, and which confirmed the objections raised during that hearing. In so doing, the Commission has brought isolation to a rather large sector of the population of that county. In this specific case, the Commissioners as a whole have truly shown that they did not know anything about the geographical realities of an important sector of the county of Montreal. They have, furthermore, in the revised map which they tabled in the House, aggravated the illogical situation which they had previously created in their preliminary report. The Commission should not have divided into sections the former county of St. Mary by an imaginary boundary, while a railway track served the purpose of a natural boundary for the eastern boundary of that county.

The Commission did not know and obviously still does not know that a block of houses is hemmed in between the boundaries it has proposed and the new county of Hochelaga by a railway track, a viaduct and playgrounds, which keep this portion of the population at a distance of about three quarters of a mile from the county to which it is supposed to belong. The Commission acted while being unacquainted with the facts and the geographical and physical situation, contrary to section 13 of the Act, in particular to paragraph 3 (sub-paragraph i). In addition, the Commission did not take into account the population increase anticipated for that county, since the Habitat 67 project to be erected on the Expo site is included within the boundaries proposed for the riding of St. Mary and will result in an increase of 2,000 inhabitants in that county, without mentioning the difficulties in communication which will be created when one thinks that this part will be more easily accessible by the southern shore of the St. Lawrence River or by the MacKay pier, situated in the western part of the City of Montreal.

Furthermore, the Commission has reconnected in the map proposed the part of the Lafontaine Park, which should have been kept in the riding of Lafontaine for obvious historical reasons. By extending the new boundaries of the riding of St. Mary towards the North, the Commission has obviously shown its ignorance of the practical and geographical aspects of that zone.

The Commission should revise the proposed boundaries and replace them as follows: the riding of Montreal-Ste-Marie would be bounded on the south by the north shore of the St. Lawrence River, on the east by the railway track of Canadian Pacific Railways, on the north by Rachel Street up to Papineau, and on the west by Papineau Street towards the south up to Sherbrooke, then towards the west on Sherbrooke up to Amherst and towards the south up to the St. Lawrence River.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral Districts of the Province of Quebec, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 18, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65), consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Quebec, laid before this House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966, for the reasons hereinafter specified.

That the Commission in revising the boundaries of all the electoral districts of the Province of Quebec has not taken into sufficient account the social and economic factors as well as the community interests affecting the people of the Province of Quebec. Furthermore, the Commission has not taken into consideration the sparsity, density or relative growth of the population of the various regions of the Province, the accessibility, size or shape thereof, as is provided for by Section 13 (c) (i) and (ii) of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (13 Eliz. II, Chap. 31)

That the Commission reconsider the boundaries of all the electoral districts of the Province of Quebec, taking into account the said social and economic factors as well as the community interests and the relative rate of growth of the population.

That the boundaries of all the electoral districts of the Province of Quebec be revised, consideration being given to the above-mentioned factors, as provided for by Section 13 (c) (i) and (ii) of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (13 Eliz. II, Chap. 31)

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral Districts of the Province of British Columbia, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 17, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65) consideration be given by this House to the matter of certain objections to the following provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of British Columbia, laid before the House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19th, 1966, and to the reasons appearing in the said objections, hereinafter set forth.

The objections to the provisions of the report are as follows:

1. Throughout British Columbia the Commission failed to give due regard to special geographic considerations, including the sparsity and density of population of various regions of the province, when they set the boundaries in dividing the province into twenty-three (23) new electoral districts.
2. The Commission failed to give proper appreciation and consideration to the accessibility of one region to another region and to the size and shape thereof, in several of the rural electoral districts, when determining the boundaries of the same.

3. The Commission failed to take into account, and erred in holding that it could not take into account, population trends as established since the census of 1961; such trends should have been taken into account by virtue of Section 13 (c) (i) of the Act, and would have resulted in substantial variations from the boundaries laid down in the Commission's report.
4. The Commission failed to give due effect, and erred in not giving due effect, to special community or diversity of interests of the inhabitants of various regions of the province as set forth in Section 13 (c) (ii) of the said Act, with the result that areas with a community of interests with each other have been separated as a result of the Commission's report, and areas formerly included in constituencies or with areas with which they had a community of interests are included in constituencies or with areas with which they have no community of interest.
5. The Commission failed, in addition, to give or pay proper attention to the principle of practical feasibility of a representative keeping in physical contact with his constituents and the constituents' ability to make physical contacts with their representative, thereby rendering adequate representation of the people in Parliament a virtually impossible task.
6. Examples of the results of the foregoing and of the effects of the report to which particular objection is taken are the following:
 - (a) The exclusion of the Williams Lake and adjacent area from the interior riding of Kamloops, with which it has a complete community of interest, and its inclusion with a coastal area in a new riding, including the Queen Charlotte Islands, the inland and coastal areas of the new riding having virtually no interests in common, contrary to the expressed wish of the community of Williams Lake.
 - (b) The virtual merging of the former riding of Okanagan-Revelstoke with the former riding of Kootenay East, with the result that the communities of Vernon and of Fernie are included in one riding, creating an area not only without community of interest, but quite impossible physically to serve properly.
 - (c) The exclusion of the Merritt-Nicola area from the Kamloops riding, with which it has a historic and complete community of interests, contrary to the expressed wish of the community of Merritt.
 - (d) The exclusion of Quesnel from the former Cariboo riding and its severance from Prince George, with which it has a community of interests and commerce, and its inclusion with Kamloops, with which it has minimal interests and commerce in common, contrary to the expressed wish of the community of Quesnel.
 - (e) The exclusion of the Queen Charlotte Islands from the coastal riding of Skeena, with which they have a community of interests, and their inclusion in a new riding containing Williams Lake and a vast interior ranching and dry belt area, with which they have nothing in common.
 - (f) The creation of a situation whereby the Williams Lake area is excluded from the Kamloops-Cariboo riding, while Quesnel is added in on the north, although it is impossible for the member for the riding to get from the southern area of the constituency to Quesnel in any practical sense without going through about seventy miles of the Williams Lake area, in the new riding of Coast-Chilcotin.

- (g) The concomitant situation whereby the member for Coast-Chilcotin, in order to get from the coastal areas of his riding (which themselves extend over some 480 miles) to the Williams Lake and interior area, will, in practice, have to drive or fly another 250 miles from the coast, through three other constituencies, including the Kamloops riding, to get from the one part to the other of his riding.
 - (h) With respect to distances, it is essential not only that it be practically possible for members to cover their constituencies, it is also a principle to be followed that constituents should be able physically to gain access to the member to discuss business with him. In three constituencies newly-created, the constituent who wishes to go to do business with his M.P., from Powell River to Williams Lake, from Fernie to Vernon, or from Quesnel to Kamloops—or vice versa—will face a return journey in the order of 820 miles, 800 miles, and 540 miles respectively. In other words, given any time at all for the transaction of business itself, a visit to their M.P. for these constituents would involve a two- or three-day undertaking.
 - (i) The failure of the Commission to take into account the relative rate of growth of the areas of Vancouver ordinarily called the West End and Kitsilano since the 1961 census, resulting in the new riding of Vancouver-Centre having a presently estimated population well in excess of the applicable limit.
 - (j) The Commission failed to give due effect and weight to the representations made and, in particular, failed to give effect to the quite reasonable representations that if large areas of the former ridings of Vancouver Centre and Vancouver-Burrard were to be combined into a new riding, that the new riding be called Vancouver-Granville.
 - (k) The subtraction of the Municipality of Esquimalt from the Victoria Riding separates two areas which have many years of close historical association, as well as a remarkable community of interests. The trend of population growths in B.C. is such that at the next Redistribution there is every likelihood the boundaries will be broadened again and, for the foregoing reasons, the Municipality of Esquimalt is the logical area to then be restored once more to the Victoria Riding. It would appear to be advantageous from all points of view to leave the Municipality of Esquimalt in the Victoria Riding as at present, particularly since the population of the total area is within the limits allowed to the Commission as was the expressed wish of the Reeve and the Council of the Municipality of Esquimalt.
7. Application of the principles heretofore referred to, and avoidance of the anomalies and inequities herein listed, would have the result that the two proposed ridings of Coast-Chilcotin and Okanagan-Kootenay could not be brought into existence as presently recommended. They should be eliminated from proposals for new ridings in British Columbia and a new set of riding boundaries for B.C. drawn accordingly.

For the foregoing and such other objections and reasons as the under-signed Members may deem necessary to carry out the spirit, terms and conditions of the said Act, it is considered essential that the said Report be referred back to the Commission, pursuant to the said Act, together with this statement of objections, in order that the Commission may revise its Report to meet the said objections and draw new riding boundaries along the lines referred to in paragraphs 6 and 7 above.

Dated at Ottawa this 16th day of February, A.D. 1966.

The following Notice of Objection to the proposed Electoral Districts of the Province of Saskatchewan, filed with Mr. Speaker on February 15, 1966, was considered:

That, pursuant to Section 20 of the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act (Chapter 31, Statutes of Canada 1964-65) and for the reasons hereinafter specified, consideration be given by this House to the matter of an objection to the following provisions of the Report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for the Province of Saskatchewan, laid before the House by Mr. Speaker on Wednesday, January 19, 1966.

The principal objections to the provisions of the Saskatchewan report are:

1. The Commission attempt to provide each constituency with somewhat comparable size and population has resulted in unrealistic boundaries for most of the Ridings. The South Saskatchewan River is a natural boundary for three proposed constituencies—(Battleford-Kindersley, Swift Current-Maple Creek, and Moose Jaw). The proposed Redistribution map fails to provide for this geographic division.
2. Natural trading areas have been ignored and communities having common means of travel and communication have been separated. The Riding boundaries proposed by the Commission would result in unnecessary obstacles to adequate representation in Parliament for people with common interests. As one example, the proposed constituency for Moose Jaw does not take into consideration the area covered by the local newspaper and by the local radio and television station. Community of interest is developed to a large degree by these communication media.

Also following the same argument of community interests, the proposed Redistribution removes the area West of Prince Albert including Parkside, Shell brook, Canwood, and Debden through to Big River, and the area North of Prince Albert including the townsite of Laronge. People in all of this area do business with Prince Albert and should be included in the Prince Albert Constituency.

3. Particular objection is taken to the Commission proposals to have no fully urban seats in Saskatchewan. The Capital city of Regina, and the city of Saskatoon should be city Ridings. This can be accomplished by allowing the full quotient of 88,960 population, placing the remainder of these cities in the surrounding rural constituencies.

AND other objections that the undersigned Members may deem necessary to carry out the spirit of fair Redistribution will be presented verbally. A map will be submitted to the Electoral Boundaries Commission with constituency boundaries drawn to meet the objections noted above.

That it is expedient to introduce a measure respecting the organization of the Government of Canada to establish a Department of the Solicitor

General, Department of Manpower, Department of the Registrar General, Department of Indian Affairs and Northern Development, and Department of Energy, Mines and Resources; to establish the offices of the Ministers of those departments and to provide for the respective powers, duties and functions of the Ministers thereof; to establish the office of President of the Treasury Board; to provide for the appointment of deputy heads of the new departments and for the appointment in the manner authorized by law of other officers and employees; to authorize the transfer of appropriations to the new departments and other departments to which the functions for which such appropriations were made are assigned; to amend the Financial Administration Act and the Salaries Act and generally to make such other consequential or incidental statutory amendments as are necessary to implement the changes to be effected by the said measure.

Mr. Sharp, seconded by Miss LaMarsh, moved,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply.

And debate arising thereon;

The honourable Minister of Public Works (Mr. McIlraith) raised a point of order to the effect that the honourable Member for Royal (Mr. Fairweather) was seeking to deal with a portion of the evidence which is now in the course of being given before a royal commission, and that where a matter is before a royal commission or a Court, it is not proper for the House to discuss it during the currency of the taking of the evidence.

After debate on the said point of order;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: After hearing these very learned comments I think honourable Members would expect the Chair to express an opinion about the point raised by the Minister of Public Works (Mr. McIlraith).

I think I should mention honestly to the House that this is a point I have had in the back of my mind for some days. It was brought to the forefront when questions were asked during the question period last week. The questions asked at that time were not allowed at that particular moment but I did not want to convey the impression that these questions could not be debated at all in the House. It was my feeling that because of the way in which the questions were posed they were not so urgent.

However, this raised the issue and I had to consider the matter further when I received notice that the honourable Members who had asked them wanted to debate them on the Adjournment Motion. This put me in a position where I thought I should give the matter very serious consideration, which I did over the weekend, and particularly this morning. Briefly I might say I agree substantially with the views expressed by honourable Members who have taken part in the debate, for reasons which I will now give.

In a general way, the principles that govern the sub judice doctrine are found in the following quotations: Lord Campion in May's Parliamentary Practice, 16th edition, at page 400 states: "A matter whilst under adjudication by a court of law, should not be brought before the House by a motion or otherwise. This rule does not apply to bills."

Also in the same edition, at page 457: "Matters awaiting the adjudication of a court of law should not be brought forward in debate, except by means of a bill. This rule was observed by Sir Robert Peel and Lord John Russell, both by the wording of the Speech from the Throne and by their procedure in the House, regarding Mr. O'Connell's case, and has been maintained by rulings from the Chair."

Bourinot's fourth edition at page 301 also states: "A matter which is under adjudication by a court of law cannot be brought forward before the House by a motion or otherwise."

Also in Beauchesne's fourth edition, at page 127, is found the following, and this citation which I have before me was mentioned by a number of honourable Members who took part in the discussion, including the Honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre: "Besides the prohibitions contained in standing order 41, it has been sanctioned by usage both in England and Canada, that a member, while speaking, must not ... (c) refer to any matter on which a judicial decision is pending."

Generally speaking I believe it may be stated that the creation of a royal commission is purely an administrative matter, that the commissioners are not called upon to render decisions on what has been submitted to them, but are only asked to make recommendations which the government is free to act upon or not as it wills. In other words, Parliament is still the highest court in the land. One of its traditional rights is to express its power by the enactment of legislation and this right cannot be set aside by a mere reference of certain matters to a royal commission for a study thereof and recommendations thereon.

As honourable Members well know, commissioners are generally appointed under Part I of the Inquiries Act which simply provides that the Governor in Council may cause inquiry into public matters, appoint commissioners for the purpose, that they shall have the power of summoning witnesses and of requiring them to give evidence on oath. They are, it is true, given such powers as are vested in any court of record, but the wording of the act is that it does not constitute them a court of record.

On October 15, 1957, an Order in Council was passed to appoint commissioners under Part I of the Inquiries Act to inquire into and make recommendations concerning, inter alia, policies in relation to the export of energy, the regulation of the transmission of oil and natural gas, the financial structure and control of pipe line corporations, prices or charges, the extent of authority that might best be conferred on a National Energy Board, etc.

A few days later the then honourable Member for Rosetown-Biggart (Mr. Coldwell) sought to discuss the subject-matter of the inquiry. A point of order was then raised submitting that the honourable Member was out of order because he was dealing directly with the terms of the royal commission and a subject referred to it. Mr. Coldwell then said: "May I say, Mr. Speaker, that I am not dealing with the report of the royal commission. When does an announcement that a royal commission is being set up preclude discussion in this House?"

After some argument, Mr. Speaker Michener rose and rendered the following decision which is found at page 119 of the Debates of 1957-58, volume I: "There is nothing on the Order Paper which would preclude a discussion of this matter. The royal commission is not a court of record and matters before it are not sub judice. Therefore I see no reason why the honourable Member should not discuss it."

From a study of the precedents it appears that if the subject-matter introduced in the House is at the moment before a court for decision and adjudication and a judgment has not been rendered, or if judgment has been rendered and an appeal taken, then the matter is sub judice. On the other hand, if the subject-matter has simply been referred to a commission for study and report and is not asked or empowered to render a decision—in other words if once the report is made it will be the function of the government to implement it—the matter is not sub judice.

During the question period, when a question was asked by an honourable Member about which I had some doubt because it seemed to be dealing perhaps directly with evidence given before the commission, I had in mind at that time a decision of Mr. Speaker Macdonald which so far as I have been able to ascertain is the last decision on the point. It reads as follows: "I would accordingly rule that it is not out of order to discuss transportation problems generally when such matters have been referred to a royal commission. On the other hand, I would also rule that reference should not be made to the proceedings, or evidence, or findings of a royal commission before it has made its report."

This, of course, is something we have before us; it is a decision of Mr. Speaker Macdonald, which we have to take into account. It cannot be easy for the Chair to decide, when an honourable Member is taking part in a debate, whether or not he actually is dealing with the evidence itself. I think there is much to be said for the discussion of the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin) when he referred to evidence which might be given before the royal commission on a collateral issue or issues perhaps not of essence. I have in mind that the witness before the commission discussed collaterally something which was not basically of the essence of the subject-matter of the commission. I believe we should not preclude honourable Members from referring to the subject-matter of the evidence given by such a person.

I still feel that honourable Members should bear in mind the decision of Mr. Speaker Macdonald that we should not delve into the evidence itself. The honourable Member for Royal (Mr. Fairweather) in any event has indicated that is not the subject-matter of his contribution to the debate this afternoon. I would think, therefore, that this discussion we are having now is not the type of discussion of a matter which is sub judice, and I rule against the point of order raised by the honourable Minister of Public Works (Mr. McIlraith).

And debate continuing on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Miss LaMarsh,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Fairweather, seconded by Mr. Dinsdale, moved in amendment thereto, —That all the words after "That" be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

"this House strongly deplores and condemns this government's actions in having the R.C.M. Police provide information to the government as to the past conduct of all members of Parliament generally,—a course of action which would destroy the independence of all Members and undermine the institution of Parliament."

And the question being proposed;

The honourable Minister of National Health and Welfare (Mr. MacEachen) raised a point of order to the effect that the proposed amendment was founded upon evidence given before a royal commission, that, by virtue of the ruling previously made by Mr. Speaker, the proposed amendment was out of order, that it had no meaning and no relevance unless it hinged upon evidence before a royal commission, and as Mr. Speaker ruled previously, the kind of discussion proposed thereby would be irregular and improper.

And a debate arising on the said point of order;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: I wish that a ruling that I had made could bring finality to any matter in this House. I have some doubts whether I will ever achieve that. Honourable Members realize, as I indicated earlier this afternoon, that to some extent we have a conflict between the precedents to which I have referred. Certainly there is a conflict in the House this afternoon between the authorities cited. It is not easy to reconcile rulings which have been made in the past, but I have expressed the thought that I believe that as a general rule the principle by which we should be guided is that Parliament is supreme; that it is only in extreme cases where we might consider our debates are limited in some way in light of certain considerations, including the fact that certain questions have been referred to a royal commission.

This principle is in accordance with the authorities I have cited. It is certainly sustained very strongly by the ruling of Mr. Speaker Michener. However, I thought that at that time I should bring to the attention of honourable Members the fact that there is a limitation, and a very narrow limitation, to the general rule that no reference should be made in the course of our discussions to evidence given in any proceeding before a royal commission or inquiry. The reason, of course, is that we would not want to have a parallel inquiry going on in the House at the same time as that now being carried out in another forum.

However, having taken that into account, I still believe that the rule to which I referred a moment ago applies, namely that this type of question is not really sub judice but that it can be discussed here.

When I made my ruling a moment ago I said that there is much merit to the suggestion made by the honourable Member for Peace River that certain matters, decisions or bits and pieces of evidence which come out in the course of a hearing might not be of the essence of the matter which is before a royal commission or inquiry, and because of this we should not be precluded from discussing certain matters. I do not want to reduce this to the absurd, but, for example, if in the course of his evidence a witness said that it was raining, or that it was not raining, we could not come to the conclusion that we could not discuss the weather in the House of Commons. In other words, there is a limitation to this. We cannot eliminate from our discussion in the House any evidence that is presented before a commission.

In my opinion the type of subject-matter contained in the motion presented by the honourable Member for Royal is collateral to the main issue. It does not refer to the essence of the evidence, but rather to knowledge, acquired from evidence, of what is considered to be a collateral issue, namely the manner in which certain information was given by, or obtained from, the R.C.M. Police.

When there is doubt in the mind of the Chair, I believe there is an obligation on the part of the Speaker to give the benefit of whatever doubt there may be in his mind to the honourable Member who wishes to discuss such a matter in this Chamber. I feel that on the basis of the authorities that I have quoted this afternoon, and on the basis of further evidence given for my consideration by honourable Members who have taken part in the discussion on the point of order raised, the motion is in order and should be accepted.

And debate arising on the said proposed amendment;

By unanimous consent, it was ordered,—That the sittings of this House be suspended from 6.00 o'clock p.m. to 8.00 o'clock p.m. for the duration of this debate.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Miss LaMarsh,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply.

And on the proposed motion of Mr. Fairweather, seconded by Mr. Dinsdale, in amendment thereto,—That all the words after "That" be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

"this House strongly deplores and condemns this government's actions in having the R.C.M. Police provide information to the government as to the past conduct of all members of Parliament generally,—a course of action which would destroy the independence of all Members and undermine the institution of Parliament."

And debate continuing;

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At ten o'clock p.m., the question "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to provisional Standing Order 39-A;

After debate thereon, the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

Returns and Reports Deposited with the Clerk of the House

The following papers having been deposited with the Clerk of the House were laid upon the Table pursuant to Standing Order 40, namely:

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, MAY 3, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Laniel, from the Standing Committee on Veterans Affairs, presented the First Report of the said Committee which was read as follows:

Your Committee recommends that it be authorized to sit while the House is sitting, such authority to have effect for Tuesday, May 17, 1966, only.

By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Laniel, seconded by Mr. Harley, the said Report was concurred in.

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Miss LaMarsh,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply.

And on the motion of Mr. Fairweather, seconded by Mr. Dinsdale, in amendment thereto,—That all the words after “That” be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

“this House strongly deplores and condemns this government’s actions in having the R.C.M. Police provide information to the government as to the past conduct of all members of Parliament generally,—a course of action which would destroy the independence of all Members and undermine the institution of Parliament.”

And debate continuing;

By unanimous consent, it was ordered,—That notwithstanding Standing Order 56(4) Mr. Speaker shall only interrupt the debate after certain honourable members have had an opportunity to speak, and in no event shall the debate be concluded later than 9.00 o'clock p.m. this day.

At 6.00 o'clock p.m., the sitting was suspended, pursuant to Special Order made Monday, May 2, 1966.

At 8.00 o'clock p.m., debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Miss LaMarsh,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply.

And on the motion of Mr. Fairweather, seconded by Mr. Dinsdale, in amendment thereto,—That all the words after "That" be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

"this House strongly deplores and condemns this government's actions in having the R.C.M. Police provide information to the government as to the past conduct of all members of Parliament generally,—a course of action which would destroy the independence of all Members and undermine the institution of Parliament."

And debate continuing;

Mr. Grégoire, seconded by Mr. Caouette, proposed to move,—That all the words after the word "That" be deleted and replaced by the following words:

"the operation "smear" which has been taking place for too long should cease immediately and that Parliament should proceed to consideration of sound and honest legislation for the well-being of the Canadian people."

RULING BY MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: The Chair would like to make reference to the sub-amendment moved by the honourable Member for Lapointe (Mr. Grégoire). May I refer the House to citation 203, to be found at page 171 of Beauchesne's fourth edition.

Before doing so, may I say to the honourable Member for Yukon (Mr. Nielsen), since time is limited, that my mind is made up as to the validity of the subamendment. I shall now proceed with my ruling at this time.

Citation 203 (1) at page 171 says: "It is an imperative rule that every amendment must be relevant to the question on which the amendment is proposed. Every amendment proposed to be made either to a question or to a proposed amendment should be so framed that if agreed to by the House the question or amendment as amended would be intelligible and consistent with itself."

May I go further and cite for honourable Members citation 203 (5): "An amendment was ruled out because it raised a new question which could only be considered on a distinct motion after notice."

It is the opinion of the Chair that the subamendment moved by the honourable Member for Lapointe (Mr. Grégoire) is not relevant to the amendment and, secondly, that it raises a distinct question which can be considered only by a motion on notice. The Chair therefore rules that the amendment raised by the honourable Member for Lapointe is out of order.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Miss LaMarsh,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply.

And on the motion of Mr. Fairweather, seconded by Mr. Dinsdale, in amendment thereto,—That all the words after “That” be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

“this House strongly deplores and condemns this government’s actions in having the R.C.M. Police provide information to the government as to the past conduct of all members of Parliament generally,—a course of action which would destroy the independence of all Members and undermine the institution of Parliament.”

And debate continuing;

At 9.00 o’clock p.m. Mr. Speaker interrupted the debate pursuant to Standing Order 56(4) (d) and the Special Order made this day.

And the question being put on the said proposed amendment to the main motion, it was negatived on the following division:

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: When the House rose last night it had under consideration the question of the admissibility of an amendment proposed by the honourable Member for Grey-Bruce (Mr. Winkler) and seconded by the honourable Member for Saint Hyacinthe-Bagot (Mr. Ricard) which reads as follows: "That after the word "same" in line 4 there be added the following: "provided that the said agreement may not be renewed in its present or in an amended form without the prior consent of Parliament."

I indicated that I would consider the matter overnight, although I had expressed my views during the course of the arguments advanced by honourable Members. Having considered the matter further, I should like at this point to give a ruling on the proposed amendment.

I express some doubts as to the legality of the amendment and invited honourable Members to express their views on the procedural aspect of the amendment to the motion. The argument was advanced by the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert) that it should be within the right of Parliament to impose by its vote the type of condition which is contained in the amendment. I am in full agreement with the honourable Member on this aspect of his argument. However, with respect, I suggest that the proper procedure to achieve this aim is not by way of amendment to the resolution but rather by way of substantive motion, with due notice. I agree with the contention put forward by the Honourable Minister of Transport (Mr. Pickersgill) that this amendment is in fact a new proposition. In my view, it goes beyond the very limited and narrow terms of the question.

I should point out at this moment that on many occasions in the past honourable Members have tried to introduce amendments to resolutions of this type and found it extremely difficult to draft one that would be acceptable to the Chair. I know that the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert) the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) and the honourable Member for Grey-Bruce (Mr. Winkler) joined in an attempt to move this amendment and knew of the difficulty which they faced.

An excellent precedent which reviews rather exhaustively the rules and precedents applicable to the present case may be found in Votes and Proceedings of the House of Commons for June 11, 1958. Mr. Speaker Michener, commenting on a proposed amendment to a motion for the approval of the NORAD agreement between Canada and the United States, said the following: "If the amendment has the effect of denying the motion it is unnecessary and irrelevant because those Members who wish to disapprove the agreement have only to vote against the motion as it stands.

If the amendment adds something to the motion in a positive way it is a declaration of principle in these terms, that it is advisable for the government to give consideration to the taking of such steps as are necessary to integrate these agreements within the structure of NATO. Assuming that the amendment and the motion were accepted you would have the agreement approved but you would have added to it a declaration of this independent principle which is not related to the motion nor is it necessary for the decision of the motion in question."

Further on, Mr. Speaker Michener comments that "a motion clearly could be brought forward for the purposes of this amendment but it would have to be on notice and as an independent motion."

Mr. Speaker Michener then declared the amendment to be out of order and I believe that the reasons he invoked are applicable to the present amendment.

The proposed amendment is in the nature of a declaration of principle in that it proposes the adoption of a procedure, relative to international agreements which would be a substantial departure from established practice.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) referred the Chair to citation 201 of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition at page 168. The citation reads in part as follows: "The object of an amendment may be to effect such an alteration in a question as will obtain the support of those who, without such alteration, must either vote against it or abstain from voting thereon, or to present to the House an alternative proposition either wholly or partially opposed to the original question. This may be affected by moving to omit all the words of the question after the first word, "That", and to substitute in their place other words of a different import. In that case the debate that follows is not restricted to the amendment, but includes the motives of the amendment and of the motion, both matters being under the consideration of the House as alternative propositions."

I understand, however, that this type of amendment, declaratory of a principle, does not apply to a resolution. As confirmed in Mr. Michener's ruling, May, Bourinot and Redlich are authorities for the proposition that the only motions upon which amendments declaratory of principle may be considered are motions for an Address in Reply to the Speech from the Throne, motions to go into Committee of Ways and Means and Supply and motions for the Second Reading of Public Bills. I believe that motions for Third Reading of public Bills can also be amended in the way suggested in citation 201 of Beauchesne's Fourth Edition.

I should add that I have been unable to locate a single precedent where this type of amendment to a resolution was allowed, while there are a great many instances where similar amendments were ruled out of order for the reasons I have just outlined.

It is therefore with regret that I must declare the amendment out of order.

After further debate, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to, on division.

Bill C-144, An Act to amend the Bretton Woods Agreements Act, was considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

The House resolved itself again into Committee of Supply.

(In the Committee)

The following resolutions were adopted (less the amounts voted in Interim Supply):

And debate continuing;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. Speaker: Order. Before I call on the next honourable Member to speak I should like to refer to the point of order which was raised this afternoon by the honourable Member for Peace River (Mr. Baldwin). He made the suggestion that the resolution preceding Bill No. C-178, which is now being considered by the House was insufficient and that there should be a further resolution to precede the bill, or that the existing resolution should be amended to make specific reference to the establishment of the new Department of Forestry and Rural Development.

During the last few hours I have had the opportunity to consider the arguments advanced by Members on both sides of the House, and I can assure honourable Members that it was not an easy decision to reach because the arguments submitted by the honourable Member for Peace River, and the honourable Member for Qu'Appelle (Mr. Hamilton), and, in opposition to these the suggestions and propositions advanced by Members on the Treasury Benches did not make it easy for the Chair to decide which way to rule.

I should like to bring to the attention of the honourable Members, as they know, that the rule respecting the introduction of a bill imposing a charge upon public revenues is Standing Order 61, namely: "If any motion be made in the House for any public aid or charge upon the people, the consideration and debate thereof may not be presently entered upon, but shall be adjourned till such further day as the House thinks fit to appoint; and then it shall be referred to a Committee of the Whole House, before any resolution or vote of the House do pass thereupon."

As pointed out by the honourable Member for Peace River, Standing Order 61 must be read in light of Section 54 of the British North America Act, 1867. This section is important when considering this question at large. It says: "It shall not be lawful for the House of Commons to adopt or pass any vote, resolution, address, or bill for the appropriation of any part of the public revenue, or of any tax or impost, to any purpose—"

And I underline those words—"That has not been first recommended to that House by message of the Governor General in the session in which such vote, resolution, address, or bill is proposed."

Honourable members will note that it is the "purpose" of the resolution that is recommended to the House by His Excellency. When asking His Excellency for His recommendation we refer to the purpose of the proposed legislation in the words of the resolution, and His recommendation is given accordingly. There is no written rule nor any established practice with the force of law determining the form, the extent or the limitations applicable to a resolution preceding a bill. Such being the case resort must be had to the meaning of the words of the rule as we find it in our Standing Orders.

Ordinarily a bill may be introduced without a resolution. The impelling factor requiring a resolution is a provision of the bill imposing a charge on the revenue, but a charge which is new and distinct. It would therefore seem that the resolution meets the requirement of the rule where it, in precise language, points to the fact that the proposed bill contains a provision or provisions that may impose a charge on the revenue.

There is no doubt that a resolution preceding a bill is not designed for the purpose of explaining the contents of the bill in any detail but solely for the purpose of giving notice to the House that the government intends to introduce a measure which involves a tax on the people or a charge on public funds.

Some honourable members have argued that the establishment of the new Department of Forestry and Rural Development implies a charge on the Treasury. In opposition to this view other Members have argued that there is no such charge. It should be stressed that the relevant consideration here is that there should be, to necessitate a prior resolution, a new and distinct charge.

I should like to refer honourable Members to May's Parliamentary Practice, seventeenth edition, page 780. At that page, under the heading "Tests used to determine whether expenditure involves a 'charge'", the author says: "A charge must be new and distinct.—The question often arises whether a proposal for expenditure or for increased expenditure is not already covered by some general authorization. The test for determining this question in the case of a substantive proposal, i.e., a provision in a bill, as introduced, is a comparison with existing law."

In this instance, in so far as the Department of Forestry is concerned I cannot convince myself that there is a new and distinct charge separate from what is already authorized by existing legislation. However, even if this interpretation of the new measure were too limited, even if it were erroneous, I believe that the resolution in its general terms covers the whole general subject of the reorganization of departments of government. In other words, there is a resolution pointing to the purpose of the bill before the House.

For these reasons I suggest to honourable Members that the resolution introduced by the Right Honourable Prime Minister (Mr. Pearson) before first reading of this bill satisfies the requirements of the Standing Orders and of Section 54 of the British North America Act.

In the course of his arguments the honourable Member for Peace River suggested that extreme caution should be exercised in this matter since the validity of this statute as passed by Parliament might be questioned later on in the courts on the ground that the required procedure has not been followed. He suggests, in other words, that the inadequacy of the resolution might invalidate the statute.

May I quote the case of The King v. Irwin as reported in 1926, Vol. 25, Exchequer Court Reports, page 127, at page 128. The headnote is to the following effect: "Held, that when a statute appears on its face to have been duly passed by a competent legislature, the courts must assume that all things have been rightly done in respect of its passage, and cannot entertain any argument that there is a defect of parliamentary procedure lying behind the act."

I thought I should bring this case to the attention of the House, because not only the honourable Member for Peace River but I believe other honourable Members have referred to the fact that there might be some difficulty later on if a procedural mistake was made in the consideration of this bill.

For all these reasons, and with great respect, I cannot accept the point of order raised by the honourable Member for Peace River.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Pearson, seconded by Mr. Favreau,—That Bill C-178, An Act respecting the organization of the Government of Canada and matters related or incidental thereto, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

Objection being taken in Committee to the decision of the Chairman (Mr. Batten) on a point of order, and an appeal being made to Mr. Speaker;

Mr. Speaker, pursuant to section 4 of provisional Standing Order 59, resumed the Chair, and the Chairman of the Committee made the following report: "When clause 8 of Bill C-178, An Act respecting the organization of the Government of Canada and matters related or incidental thereto, was being considered, the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) proposed to move the following amendment,—

"That clause 8 of Bill C-178 be amended by inserting therein immediately after sub-paragraph (a) the following new sub-paragraph:

"(b) review of prices and matters of concern to consumers;"

and by re-lettering the subsequent sub-paragraphs as (c), (d) and (e).

The Chairman, referring to Inadmissible Amendments as defined at page 549 of May's Parliamentary Practice—17th Edition, ruled the amendment out of order on the following grounds;

(a) that the substance of the amendment was not relevant to clause 8 of the bill;

(b) that in substance the amendment was in reality the same as the one which was negatived earlier in the Committee's proceedings; and

(c) that the amendment was inconsistent with a decision of the Committee upon a former amendment."

And debate arising on the point of order;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I might say that when we had a similar appeal last year in the last Parliament the Speaker was in a much stronger position because he was ruling on his own judgment, and perhaps I should not have answered the call but allowed my associate, the Deputy Speaker, to rule on his own decision.

I would like to comment briefly on the different points raised by honourable Members in the course of the very interesting arguments that have been submitted. I might say that very strong argument has been advanced by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles): supported by the honourable Member for Lapointe (Mr. Grégoire), to the effect that adopting this amendment would not be inconsistent with the previous decision of the House or of the Committee of the Whole. There might be some question as to whether there is inconsistency between the two matters. I am impressed by that argument but I shall not rule on that basis.

I shall go to the second argument advanced by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre where he refers to the second and third reasons for judgment proposed by the Honourable Chairman of Committees. I might say I am not as impressed by the honourable Member's suggestions that if the government has the right to include something in a bill that is not specifically in the prior resolution, this means that a Member has the same right as the government has. I have very serious doubts about this proposition. In other words, what the honourable Member is suggesting if I understand his argument correctly, is that if the government has the right to include certain details in a bill then a Private Member should have the same right.

I cannot agree with this because a resolution cannot be expected to include everything that is in a bill. A resolution is always of a very general nature and invariably there are a number of clauses and matters that appear later in a bill that do not appear in a resolution.

The fact that the government has the power to do that does not give a Member of the House the right to move an amendment—which might otherwise be out of order—simply because the government has this power. To my mind the position taken by the Chairman of Committees in the first objections he has to the proposed amendment, in which he refers to the question of relevancy, is very sound.

Honourable Members know by experience, much longer experience than I have, and this applies particularly to the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre, that it is not easy to move an amendment of consequence that is relevant to a clause of a bill. In this case I do feel that the amendment of the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre is beyond the scope of the clause or article of the bill which he seeks to amend, and I refer him, as did the Chairman of Committees, to paragraph 1 at page 549 of May's 17th Edition.

It is my belief that the amendment advanced by the honourable Member goes beyond the scope of the clause, that the amendment adds substantially to what is being proposed in the government's bill, and for this reason I must agree with the Chairman of Committees that this amendment is irrelevant and cannot be considered. I therefore confirm the decision of the Chairman of Committees.

The House resumed consideration in Committee of the Whole of Bill C-178, An Act respecting the organization of the Government of Canada and matters related or incidental thereto, and progress having been made and reported the Committee obtained leave to consider it again at the next sitting of the House.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, MONDAY, JUNE 13, 1966.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Deachman, from the Standing Committee on Fisheries, presented the First Report of the said Committee which is as follows:

On Tuesday, March 22, 1966, the House referred to your Committee for consideration the items listed in the Main Estimates for 1966-67, relating to the Department of Fisheries.

Your Committee has held 17 (seventeen) meetings during which it heard statements and evidence from the Honourable H.-J. Robichaud, Minister of Fisheries. From the Department of Fisheries: Dr. A. W. H. Needler, Deputy Minister of Fisheries; Mr. S. V. Ozere, Assistant Deputy Minister (International); Dr. R. R. Logie, Assistant Deputy Minister (Operations); Mr. I. S. McArthur, Director General, Economic Service; Mr. J. J. Lamb, Director of Administration; Mr. H. Dempsey, Director, Inspection Service; Messrs. E. W. Burridge and K. C. Lucas, Resource Development; Mr. E. B. Young, Conservation and Development Service; and Mr. C. R. Levelton, Director, Conservation and Protection.

On Items 20 and 25 evidence was heard from Dr. F. R. Hayes, Chairman; Dr. W. R. Martin, Assistant Chairman; and Dr. W. E. Ricker, of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada.

Your Committee heard and examined Mr. Homer Stevens, Secretary-Treasurer of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, Vancouver, B.C.

Your Committee also heard a submission from the Fisheries Council of Canada, by Mr. David F. Corney, President, and examined Messrs. R. L. Payne, Guy LeBlanc, R. I. Nelson and C. G. O'Brien, members of the Council.

Your Committee received a brief from the Campbell River Chamber of Commerce, Vancouver Island, copies of which were passed to members of the Committee and discussed.

The Committee draws attention to four areas affecting the industry on which considerable evidence was given by the Minister, his officials and representatives of the fishing industry. While it is left to individual members of the Committee to state their own views on how these matters should be dealt with, your Committee jointly expresses its concern at the serious nature of these problems.

There is increasing evidence of bold encroachment by foreign fishing fleets into waters on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts where the Canadian fishing industry has traditionally operated. It is urgently necessary for this government problem to be resolved. There is also evidence of the breakdown in one case and of lack of progress in other cases of recent international negotiations to conserve and protect the fisheries from which Canadian fishermen draw their living.

Pollution of rivers, lakes, beaches and tidal waters is rising and continues to threaten the industry. More particularly it threatens the livelihood of in-shore, fresh water and salmon fishermen. This should be of highest concern to several other federal departments and to other levels of government in Canada responsible for conserving our water resources.

Evidence was given to the Committee that at least one Canadian subsidized vessel has left Canadian waters and is no longer employing Canadians, or bringing its catch to Canadian docks, or refitting in Canadian yards; pointing to the need for closer policing and regulation of Canadian subsidized programs for the fishing industry.

Your Committee notes with interest the encouraging efforts of the Department towards the development of East Coast herring fisheries, but believes this expansion should be coupled with further research immediately to ensure that stocks are not over-exploited.

Much evidence was given on the encouraging results obtained in developing salmon spawning beds in British Columbia. Evidence was also given on efforts to cultivate lobsters and oysters in Atlantic beds under controlled conditions. Giving regard to the very high return which each of these fish brings on the market, and their value to the industry in developing easily worked and readily accessible inshore fisheries, your Committee felt that research in these areas should be pushed as rapidly as possible to the point of commercial feasibility. In view of the high return on public investment in these fields, financing, within reason, should not be the limiting factor.

The Committee urges the continuance of explorations programs for new exploitable stocks of fish on both coasts and in our inland waters.

Having considered these estimates, your Committee approves them and recommends them to the House for approval.

A copy of the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 1 to 17) is appended herewith.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 7 to the Journals).

The foregoing Items of the Estimates stand referred to the Committee of Supply pursuant to Standing Order 57.

No. 98

JOURNALS
OF THE
OF CANADA

OTTAWA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 15, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

One petition for a Private Bill was presented in accordance with Standing Order 70(1).

Mr. Lessard for Mr. Macaluso, from the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications, presented the Seventh Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

On February 8th, 1966, the following subject-matter was referred to the Standing Committee of the House of Commons on Transport and Communications by the House of Commons for its consideration and report:

"That the subject-matter of the adequacy of the present program and future plans for passenger service on the lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway to meet the effective demand of the public for such service and the effects of such program and plans be referred to the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications for their consideration and report."

From February 17th, 1966 to June 7th, 1966, inclusive, the Committee has held 34 hearings and has heard 70 briefs from and including the Governments of the Provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba and from the Mayors and/or representatives of 12 municipalities situated along the CPR main line from Vancouver, B.C. to Port Arthur, Ontario, and from representatives of Chambers of Commerce, labour unions and many other organizations and individuals.

The Committee has not concluded its hearings and therefore is not prepared to provide a final report. However, the Committee feels that an interim report concerning certain aspects of CPR passenger train service should be made to the House of Commons prior to the completion of a final report.

The Committee is of the opinion that a definite need exists for additional passenger train service on the CPR lines from Montreal to Vancouver. This need will be greatly increased by the demand for passenger train service from Vancouver to Montreal in 1967 for service to Expo '67 and for Centennial celebrations across Canada.

The Committee therefore recommends that a second trans-continental passenger train service, with full consist of day coaches, sleeping cars, dining cars and baggage cars, be operated beginning early in 1967. This trans-continental passenger train service is to be supported by an adequate advertising and promotion program.

The Committee further recommends that consideration be given to the institution of suitable RAILINER service to improve local services between particular western communities.

The Committee hearings further indicate that from the point of view of the public, there are serious inadequacies in the reservation facilities of the Canadian Pacific Railway and therefore recommends that the Board of Transport Commissioners investigate the adequacy of CPR's reservation system as it applies to its trans-continental passenger train services.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 1 to 17, inclusive) is appended.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 8 to the Journals).

Mr. Laniel, from the Standing Committee on Veterans' Affairs, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference from the House dated March 30, 1966, your Committee considered the Subject-Matter of the Hong Kong Veterans' Report 1964-65 and heard representations from Messrs. T. D. Anderson, Chairman, Dr. H. J. Richardson, Assistant to Chief Medical Adviser, and A. L. Fortey, Secretary, all of the Canadian Pension Commission; and Messrs. A. H. Delbridge, National President, R. H. Lytle, National Secretary, R. Manchester, President, B. C. Branch, S. Kravinchuk, President, Alberta-Saskatchewan Branch, W. S. Ashton, President, Manitoba Branch, J. R. Stroud, President, Toronto Branch, Lionel Hurd, President, Quebec Branch, Charles Brady, Vice-President, Quebec Branch, Colin Standish, Director, Quebec Branch, all from the Hong Kong Veterans Association of Canada; and Messrs. D. M. Thompson, Dominion Secretary, H. Hanmer, Service Officer, Edward Slater, Service Officer, all of the Royal Canadian Legion, along with Mr. Lorne Manchester, Assistant Editor of The Legionary.

Your Committee was most pleased with the Report prepared for the Canadian Pension Commission on the Disabilities and Problems of the Hong Kong Veterans, and wishes to congratulate Dr. Richardson and his associates for this excellent study and their sympathetic approach toward this long lasting problem.

Your Committee was much concerned with the attention given to the minute aspects of the problem, and was very pleased to learn of the immediate action taken by the Canadian Pension Commission, as far as the implementation of the various recommendations in the Report. It also wishes to commend Dr. Richardson for the extreme efficiency and high degree of understanding he showed in answering the questions put to him by the members of the Committee.

Your Committee welcomes the findings of the Hong Kong Report and wishes to support the different recommendations made by Dr. Richardson.

Your Committee was also impressed by the presentation made by the delegation from the Hong Kong Veterans Association, well supported by a brief from the representatives of the Royal Canadian Legion, requesting benefits, going beyond the recommendations of Dr. Richardson's Report.

However, by reason of the difficulty in assessing accurately the disabilities of the Hong Kong veterans, but as recognition of some degree of uncertainty of the prognosis, your Committee recommends the following:

1. When the disability found on medical examination of a veteran, who was a prisoner of war in the Far East for two years or more during World War II and pensionable under the Pension Act, in accordance with the recommendations contained in Dr. Richardson's Hong Kong Report, is assessable in the range between 33 percent to 47 percent (inclusive) (i.e. in pension classes 14, 13 or 12), the rate should automatically be increased to class 11, effective from

- (a) One January 1966, or

- (b) The date prior to the veteran's death if his death occurred on or after 1 January 1964, but before 1 January 1966,

- (c) And subject to the provisions of Section 31 of the Pension Act, provided that no further increase in the total rate of disability pension shall be made unless and until the actual disability found on medical examination is assessable at more than 52% (class 11 rates), whereupon disability will be assessed in accordance with the usual procedure.

2. When the pensionable disability is medically assessed at 32% or less, (class 15 or lower) the rate should be increased by a 10% special assessment with effect from January 1966, provided that when the disability found on examination reaches the level of 33%, the rate shall be increased to class 11, as in paragraph 1 (above).

This special assessment of 10% shall not be used to qualify the veteran for the benefit set out in paragraph 1.

3. Although the Pension Commission has already made a number of awards under Section 25 of the Pension Act to surviving dependents of Hong Kong veterans whose death could not be found directly attributable to Service within the provisions of Section 13(1) or to whom a pension could not be awarded under the provisions of Section 36(3), but nevertheless considered to be especially meritorious, it is strongly felt that this practice be continued and even extended.

Considering that the Committee was informed of the reluctance of many veterans concerning compulsory medical examinations, it was felt that the Pension Commission should continue to encourage the Hong Kong veterans to take advantage of their privilege for annual voluntary medical examination.

Your Committee suggests that the Canadian Pension Commission make a revision of each Hong Kong veteran's file, without his personal application for such a review, taking into account the above recommendations, and that such a review be given the most sympathetic consideration, keeping in mind the concern and factors expressed in the Hong Kong Report. This should also apply to the files of all deceased Hong Kong veterans.

Your Committee also recommends that the Treatment Regulations be amended to authorize the supply of glasses to all Hong Kong veterans when prescribed by the Department.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues 1 to 4 and No. 9) is appended.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 9 to the Journals).

On motion of Mr. Foy for Mr. Groos, seconded by Mr. Haidasz, The Third Report of the Standing Committee on National Defence, presented to the House on Thursday, June 9, 1966, was concurred in.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Asselin (Richmond-Wolfe), from the Standing Committee on Standing Orders, presented the First Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Pursuant to its Order of Reference of June 1, 1966 your Committee has considered the following petitions for Private Bills, filed after the time specified in Standing Order 93, together with the Clerk of Petitions' reports thereon tabled on May 19 and 26, 1966.

1. Canadian Pacific Railway Company

Counsel for the petitioner stated that the delay of approximately two weeks, beyond the time specified for filing petitions for Private Bills under Standing Order 93 was occasioned by the negotiations which were in progress between the railway and the Canadian Superior Oil Limited for the construction of the line.

The Parliamentary Agent requested that the petition be received during the present session.

2. La Société des Artisans

The Parliamentary Agent for the petitioner stated that the General Council of the Society was not in a position to consider and approve the proposed legislative changes until after March 11, 1966, which was after the time specified under Standing Order 93, for the presentation of petitions. Counsel contended that the petition was filed as soon as the proposed changes were approved by the Superintendent of Insurance.

A request was made that the petition be received by the House of Commons during the present session of Parliament.

Having considered the petition for a Private Bill numbered above as 1, your Committee recommends that Standing Order 93 be suspended, in relation thereto, and that this petition be received. The consequent charges as provided by Standing Order 94(3) (a) and (c) will amount to $300.00.

Having considered the petition for a Private Bill numbered above as 2, your Committee recommends that the petition be received, that in relation thereto Standing Orders 93 and 94(3)(c) be suspended, and that Standing Order 94(3)(a) be suspended only in relation to Standing Order 94(3)(c), but not in relation to Standing Order 93, thereby levying a charge of $100.00.

The petitions referred to above, together with the reports of the Clerk of Petitions related thereto are returned herewith.

Mr. Klein, from the Standing Committee on Indian Affairs, Human Rights and Citizenship and Immigration, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Your Committee recommends:

(2) That these Subcommittees be granted leave to sit while the House is sitting when meeting outside the precincts of Parliament and to sit notwithstanding any adjournment of the House and be permitted to adjourn from place to place within Canada.

(3) That the necessary supporting staff accompany the said Subcommittees.

Mr. Klein, from the Standing Committee on Indian Affairs, Human Rights and Citizenship and Immigration, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

1. Pursuant to its Order of Reference of Tuesday, March 22, 1966, your Committee had before it for consideration the items listed in the Main Estimates for 1966-67, relating to Indian Affairs.

2. Your Committee held 7 sittings and heard statements and evidence from the Honourable Arthur Laing, Minister of Northern Affairs and National Resources; from Mr. E. A. Resolved,—That the House do go into Committee of the Whole at its next sitting to consider the said proposed resolution.

(Notice of Motion No. 30).

And debate arising thereon;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

The House resumed consideration in Committee of the Whole of Bill C-211, An Act to authorize the Minister of Finance to transfer to the Provinces the proportions of the income tax payable by certain public utility companies;

And the House continuing in Committee;

Objection being taken in Committee to a decision of the Chairman (Mr. Rinfret), and an appeal being made to Mr. Speaker;

Pursuant to Standing Order 59(4), Mr. Speaker took the Chair.

Whereupon the Chairman reported as follows:

In Committee of the Whole when Clause 3 of Bill C-211 was being considered, the honourable Member for Comox-Alberni (Mr. Barnett) proposed to move an amendment as follows:

That Sub-clause (1) of Clause 3 be amended by substituting a comma for the period at the end thereof and adding the following words:

“provided the province agrees that such amount will be applied to reduce rates paid by the customers of the respective designated corporations.”

The Chairman ruled to the effect that the proposed amendment went beyond the principle of the bill and introduced a provision which, in the opinion of the Chair, was irrelevant to and beyond the scope of the bill.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: Honourable Members will realize that the rules we have wrought for ourselves are not always too easy of application, and this applies particularly in the case of appeals that we have provided from the Chairman of Committees to the Speaker.

Honourable Members realize, I am sure, that the Chairman of Committees follows the work of the committees very closely. When an amendment is submitted to him he has before him at that very moment the different clauses of the bill. I feel—and this might be only obiter—that the Speaker should not be asked to substitute his personal judgment for that of the Chairman of Committees.

In this particular instance the amendment in the following words was moved: "That sub-clause (1) of clause 3 be amended by substituting a comma for the period at the end thereof and adding the following words:

"provided the province agrees that such amount will be applied to reduce rates paid by the customers of the respective designated corporations."

In the opinion of the Chairman of the Committee this amendment seemed, or appeared, to go beyond the terms of the principle of the bill before the House. I refer to Bill C-211, an Act to authorize the Minister of Finance to transfer to the Provinces the proportions of the income tax payable by certain public utility companies.

The principle is further expressed in the resolution which says, in part, and I quote: "That it is expedient to introduce a measure to authorize payments to the provinces equal to 95 per cent of that part of the income tax paid under part I of the Income Tax Act by certain corporations—"

Et cetera. Later, at the end of the resolution it states: "—and sale in the province for distribution to the public of electrical energy or steam, or from the distribution and sale of gas to the public in the province; and to provide that an amount paid under the said measure that is paid or otherwise credited by the province to such a corporation for the use of that corporation shall be exempt from income tax."

This resolution sets out the principle on which the bill is based. I have the impression, therefore, that the Ruling of the Chairman is justified by the authorities which have been brought to my attention. As honourable Members know, an amendment is out of order if it is irrelevant to the subject-matter. I refer, of course to May's 17th Edition, page 549, and I quote: "—if it is irrelevant to the subject-matter—or beyond the scope of the clause under consideration—Amendments which are irrelevant to the clause under consideration should, as a general rule, if they are within the scope of the bill be moved as new clauses."

Honourable Members know that reference as well, or better than I know it. A judgment has been expressed by the Chairman of Committees that the amendment moved by the honourable member is beyond the terms of the principle of the bill. It goes beyond the scope of the principle of the bill. I do not think that it is sufficiently evident that an injustice has been done in the ruling of the Chairman for me to rule otherwise. I think I have to sustain the judgment rendered by the Chairman of Committees.

The opinion expressed by the Honourable Minister of Finance is very much along the lines of what I suggested a moment ago, namely, that in the amendment a new principle is being sought to be introduced. That amendment is not relevant to the clause now before us.

I may be wrong, but looking at the bill itself and at the clause under consideration in the light of the amendment moved by the honourable Member for Comox-Alberni (Mr. Barnett) it seems to me the amendment is a very far-reaching one. The honourable Member appears to wish, through his amendment, to regulate the charges being charged by the public utilities and by the provinces. In my view this is an entirely new principle and one which goes beyond the terms of the clause under consideration. I am sure this is the basis on which the ruling of the Chairman of the Committee was made. Again, in spite of the very intelligent and plausible argument put forward by the honourable Member for Comox-Alberni I have to maintain the decision rendered by the Chairman of the Committee and refuse the appeal.

The House resumed consideration in Committee of the Whole of Bill C-211, An Act to authorize the Minister of Finance to transfer to the Provinces a proportion of the income tax payable by certain public utility companies, which was reported without amendment and ordered for a third reading at the next sitting of the House.

Bill C-199, An Act to provide for the establishment of a Health Resources Fund to assist provinces in the acquisition, construction and renovation of health training facilities and research institutions was considered in Committee of the Whole, reported without amendment, read the third time and passed.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-207, An Act to authorize the making of contributions by Canada towards the cost of programs for the provision of assistance and welfare services to and in respect of persons in need;

Mr. MacEachen, seconded by Mr. McIlraith, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time;

And debate arising thereon;

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At 10.07 o'clock p.m., the question "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to provisional Standing Order 39-A;

After debate thereon, the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

Returns and Reports Deposited with the Clerk of the House

ACTION TAKEN BY DEPARTMENTS AND OTHER AGENCIES AS A RESULT OF RECOMMENDATIONS MADE BY THE COMMITTEE

7. A memorandum dated February 28, 1966 was filed by the Auditor General (Minutes of Proceedings, pp. 33-59) reporting on the action that had been taken by departments and other agencies in this regard.

8. The Committee noted that up to February 28, 1966 action had been taken by departments and other agencies concerned with respect to only 10 of the 40 recommendations made by the Committee in the undernoted reports to the House:

Title of Report	Date presented to House
Fourth Report 1963	December 19, 1963
Fourth Report 1964	July 28, 1964
Fifth Report 1964	August 5, 1964
Sixth Report 1964	October 20, 1964
Seventh Report 1964	December 7, 1964
Eighth Report 1964	December 7, 1964

9. The Committee believes that if parliamentary control of public funds is to be effective, prompt and effective action must be taken by Ministers, deputy ministers and the other responsible government officials toward implementing its recommendations. The Committee is particularly concerned and shocked to find that some of the practices it has criticized in previous years, and which were the subject of specific recommendations at that time, not only continue unchanged but have been extended and enlarged. In its opinion, such disregard of its recommendations minimizes the work of the Committee and is contrary to the interests of the taxpayers of Canada.

10. The Committee continues to attach special importance to having an effective follow-up of its recommendations and again requests that:

- (1) in order that no matter is overlooked the Chairman of the Public Accounts Committee provide each Minister and the Auditor General with a copy of this and subsequent reports of this Committee to the House of Commons;
- (2) the Minister of each department concerned advise the Chairman of Public Accounts and the Auditor General within three months as to what action has been taken or is to be taken on matters on which the Committee has made recommendations in this and subsequent reports;
- (3) in order that the members of the Committee may be made aware of the extent to which the Government is adopting the recommendations of the Committee in relation to legislation which is proposed for Parliament it is recommended that the Auditor General advise the Chairman, Vice-Chairman or whomsoever either may designate, from time to time, as to the status of each recommendation contained in this and subsequent reports of the Committee.

11. The Committee is examining the current status of each item in the memorandum dated February 28, 1966 filed by the Auditor General, otherwise known as the "1966 Follow-Up Report". Reference to each item will be found in the recommendations included in this or subsequent reports of the Committee.

THE ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY AUTHORITY

and December 31, 1964*

12. The Committee examined the annual financial statements of The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority for the years ended December 31, 1963 and December 31, 1964 which are referred to by the Auditor General in paragraph 159 of his 1964 Report and paragraph 209 of his 1965 Report. This examination was facilitated by reference to the annual reports of the Authority for each of the two fiscal years and by the supplementary reports on the accounts addressed to the members of the Authority by the Auditor General under date of July 6, 1964 and September 29, 1965.

This was the first occasion on which the Committee has had members or officers of the Authority before it as witnesses and the members of the Committee are now much more familiar with the operations of The St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and appreciate very much the considerable amount of information which was given to them by the witnesses.

The Committee was pleased to learn that the Authority enjoys good relations with departments of government and is satisfied with the organization of its finances notwithstanding the fact that revenues have been less than anticipated, thus preventing the Authority from meeting all its obligations in its first six years of operation.

The Committee learned from the Authority that it was optimistic that, provided anticipated increases in traffic and tolls materialize, it would be able to meet its financial obligations without subsidy or other relief.

The Committee was concerned to learn of the transaction which is referred to in paragraph 125 of the Auditor General's 1965 Report which involved a piece of property expropriated in 1955 with the expropriation being abandoned early in 1956. Subsequently, a 96,000-barrel fuel oil storage tank was constructed on the land and there was a trespass on Crown property when an oil pipeline was laid across it to a dock without obtaining an easement. No action was taken concerning the trespass and the property, which apparently is essential to the eventual construction of all-Canadian Seaway, was purchased in April 1964 for $282,000, which included $132,000 for the oil storage tank.

The Committee has asked a sub-committee to inquire into this transaction and will report further when the report of the sub-committee is received.

The Committee was also concerned to learn that there had been an overpayment of $130,000 in grants in lieu of taxes to the City of Cornwall over a period of five years, but it was advised that recovery would be made in five equal instalments from future grants in lieu of taxes. The Committee felt that the error of including one piece of land twice in the calculation of grants in lieu of taxes should have been detected and corrected much earlier and was pleased to have the assurance of the Authority that a survey had been made and that no other similar cases existed.

THE CANADA COUNCIL

and March 31, 1965*

13. In its Fourth Report in December 1963, the Committee noted that the Council proposed to accept the 1956 census as a basis for distribution of the profits realized and interest earned on the University Capital Grants Fund and also to accept the 'hotch-pot' or trust fund approach to this distribution.

The Committee had been informed, at its meeting on July 28, 1964, that in the interim the Council had proceeded to allocate and distribute funds resulting from profits realized and interest earned on the foregoing bases. The Committee regarded the approach as a reasonable one but, because of the conflicting views held as to whether the action taken is ultra vires of subsection (2)(b) of section 17 of the Canada Council Act, recommended that steps be taken to seek amending legislation to provide clear authority for the Council to use the 1956 census and the 'hotch-pot' approach in the distribution of interest and profits in respect of the University Capital Grants Fund. Under the 'hotch-pot' approach interest is charged against those who have drawn money and taken into the Fund as revenue to be distributed, so that all participants are brought to a common time, which is the time when the Fund is finally all distributed.

The Committee was concerned to learn that notwithstanding its recommendation, no action had been taken by the Canada Council toward seeking amending legislation, and furthermore that the Canada Council did not consider amending legislation necessary and apparently proposed to do nothing about it. The Committee recalled that legal opinions were sought from the Deputy Attorney General and from three independent lawyers and that the Deputy Attorney General and two of the independent lawyers supported the view of the Auditor General that the procedure followed by the Council was not in accordance with the Canada Council Act. Nevertheless, the Council had followed the opposite opinion which had been given by one of the independent lawyers.

Consequently, the Committee reiterates its previous recommendation and requests the Canada Council to formally request the Government to give consideration to the required amending legislation with the objective of having this proposed legislation considered by Parliament prior to the final closing out of the Capital Grants Fund.

OFFICE OF THE AUDITOR GENERAL

14. The Committee made three recommendations in its 1963 and 1964 Reports to the House designed to assure the independence of the Office of the Auditor General and by so doing improve parliamentary control of public funds. The Committee regrets that no action has been taken with respect to any of these recommendations.

15. The members of your Committee have again reviewed the circumstances which gave rise to these particular recommendations over two years ago and wish not only to reiterate the importance they attach to them but to make two additional recommendations:

- (1) It continues to be the opinion of the Committee that it is fundamental that the Office of the Auditor General of Canada be strong, capable, efficient and equipped to operate in accordance with the high standards of independence and objectivity expected of professional accountants. The Committee has been particularly pleased to note in this connection that the Office was recently accorded the right by the Institutes of Chartered Accountants of Quebec (1964) and Ontario (1966) to article students-in-accounts.

The Committee believes that as an officer of Parliament, the Auditor General should have the right to recruit the professional and senior staff he needs, in the same independent manner as do other officers of Parliament and that the Auditor General's establishment be set in the same manner as government departments.

- (2) The Committee noted that although this officer of Parliament is the auditor of the majority of the Crown corporations, it has not been the practice of successive governments to appoint the Auditor General the auditor of seven of the Crown corporations and other public instrumentalities and that therefore their accounts have not been examined and reported upon by him to the House. The Committee expressed its belief that it would be in the best interests of Parliament in its control of public funds were the Auditor General empowered to audit the accounts of all of the Crown corporations, agencies and public instrumentalities owned or controlled by the Crown, wherever they may be, and to report thereon to the House.

The Committee again recommends:

- (a) that the Auditor General be appointed either the sole auditor or a joint auditor pursuant to subsection (2) of section 77 of the Financial Administration Act, of each Crown corporation, agency and other public instrumentality in respect of which other auditors have been or may be appointed;
 - (b) that in cases where other auditors are appointed, they function as joint auditors with the Auditor General, and that such appointments be made by the government.
- (3) The Committee noted that pursuant to the provisions of section 75 of the Financial Administration Act, an officer of the public service nominated by the Treasury Board examines and certifies to the House of Commons in accordance with the outcome of his examinations the receipts and disbursements of the Office of the Auditor General.

For the purpose of preserving the independence of the Office of the Auditor General, the Committee again recommends that this section of the Financial Administration Act be amended to provide that the receipts and disbursements of the Office of the Auditor General be examined by a qualified person nominated by Parliament through its Standing Committee on Public Accounts, and that such person should report thereon to the House of Commons.

- (4) The Committee has noted that whereas the salaries paid to the senior deputy ministers and others were substantially increased with effect from December 1, 1965, no proposal has been made to the House by the government to adjust the salary of the Auditor General whose salary is fixed pursuant to section 65(2) of the Financial Administration Act.

In order to render the Auditor General independent of the Executive in this regard, the Committee recommends that section 65(2) of the Financial Administration Act be amended to provide that the Auditor General shall out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund be paid a salary not less than the highest amount being paid to a senior deputy minister in the public service of Canada.

- (5) The Committee is of the opinion that all of the characteristics, duties and functions of the Office of the Auditor General, including the foregoing recommendations, should be set out in a separate Act of Parliament governing this Office instead of being a part of the Financial Administration Act.

The Committee is requesting the Auditor General to consult his legal advisers and to co-operate with them in drafting such an Act for submission to the Committee and to the Government.

STANDING COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

16. The Committee has studied an arrangement in Australia whereby the Public Accounts Committee is appointed under an Act of Parliament instead of under terms of reference by the House of Commons as is the case in Canada.

17. The Committee believes that control of public expenditure of the size and complexity taking place in Canada today requires a Committee established by statute and recommends that legislation of this type be introduced into the House.

REPORTS OF THE AUDITOR GENERAL

18. Advance planning of construction projects

The Committee has taken note of how part of the costs of a new building were charged to one department with the remainder charged to another.

In the opinion of the Committee it is highly desirable that all of the cost of each building project should be charged to the right place and not divided between the accounts of two departments. Such accuracy is imperative if final cost records are to reflect true costs.

19. Unpaid accounts carried forward to new fiscal year

The Committee noted instances where appropriations were insufficient to meet accounts coming in course of payment during the year. Although recognizing difficulties in making forward estimates and other factors, the Committee cannot countenance overspending of appropriations.

The Committee believes it would be informative to Members of Parliament and to the public if the Public Accounts of Canada were to include a statement by department and appropriation of all amounts remaining unpaid at the year-end for any reason whatsoever. It recommends that such a statement be included in the Public Accounts of Canada commencing with the year 1965-66.

No. 107

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 29, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Basford for Mr. Pelletier, from the Standing Committee on Broadcasting, Films and Assistance to the Arts, presented the Ninth Report of the said Committee which is as follows:

1. On Tuesday, April 19, 1966, the Prime Minister was asked in the House of Commons whether he would "arrange for an immediate convening of the Standing Committee on Broadcasting in order that it will have an opportunity to discuss the problems which have been reported to have arisen between management and the creative people of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation."

2. Mr. Pearson replied: "It is my understanding that the Committee has been set up and that the estimates including those of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation have been referred to it for consideration. I shall be glad to get in touch with the Chairman of that committee to find out whether it is convenient to arrange for an immediate meeting." (Hansard, p. 3983)

3. On the same day, both parties to the Seven Days dispute, namely Messrs. J. Alphonse Ouimet, President of the CBC and Patrick Watson, one of the co-hosts of the program Seven Days, contacted the Chairman of the committee to inform him that they were ready to appear before the committee if it was the wish of the committee.

4. On April 21, your Committee heard its first witnesses. On that occasion, the Secretary of State, Honourable Judy LaMarsh, made the following remarks in the course of her opening statement before the committee:

"There is one particular point, however, on which judging by the comments in the House earlier in the week, you might expect me to elaborate. I refer to my comments before another forum, last week end, to the effect that, in my judgement, the controversy over the personnel on Seven Days was merely symptomatic of a wider problem within the CBC. I think I referred to it as a sort of "tip of an iceberg".

"I cannot really believe, despite the apparent surprise in the House, that this represented any startling pronouncement or discovery on my part, or really was news to anyone who has been interested for any length of time in broadcasting in Canada".

5. Further in her statement, the Minister added: "I hope that it is going to be possible to resolve not only the immediate controversy but also to find an accommodation of the basic conflict of management's responsibility to manage and the creative mind's need to be unfettered in its expression—within the corporation itself. (...) I would hope that this Committee might, in its own way, contribute to the solution which I know is earnestly desired by all."

6. Your Committee held 32 meetings on item 1 of the CBC estimates during which it heard statements and evidence related to this matter from the following persons in the following order:

1. Honourable Judy LaMarsh, Secretary of State
2. Mr. Patrick Watson, CBC Television Producer
3. Mr. Laurier L. LaPierre, CBC Television Interviewer
4. Mr. Douglas Leiterman, CBC Executive Producer
5. Mr. Reeves Haggan, General Supervisor, Public Affairs, CBC English Network
6. Mr. H. G. Walker, CBC Vice-President and General Manager, Network Broadcasting (English)
7. Mr. J. Alphonse Ouimet, President, CBC
8. Mr. Claude Désorcy, Producer, CBC French Network
9. Mr. Marc Thibault, General Supervisor, Adult Education and Public Affairs, CBC French Network
10. Mr. Marcel Ouimet, CBC Vice-President and General Manager, French Network
11. Mr. Michael Harrison, Chairman, President's Study Group, CBC (October, 1963 to October, 1964)

7. Your Committee also received written briefs, from the following, after calling for written submissions at the end of its hearings:

1. Mr. J. Alphonse Ouimet, President, CBC
2. Mr. Douglas Leiterman
3. Mr. Patrick Watson
4. Mr. Laurier L. LaPierre
5. The Canadian Broadcasting League
6. Mr. Donald F. Theall, Professor and Director of Communications, York University, Toronto (Chairman-elect, English—McGill University)
7. Mr. Wilson Southam, CBC Television Producer
8. Members of the CBC Public Affairs Department (English)

8. On Thursday, June 2, 1966, following a recommendation from the Subcommittee on Agenda and Procedure, the Committee decided that an interim report should be presented to the House concerning the conclusions drawn from its examination of this matter.

9. The Committee, from the outset of its hearings, implicitly defined its own mandate. It felt that it should concern itself, not with the Seven Days dispute as such, but with the more general situation that had given rise to the quarrel within the CBC. The Committee is of the opinion that it should not act as an arbitrator or mediator between the CBC's top management and the Seven Days unit or hosts or the Producers' Association. It has no intention of intervening in the CBC's internal decision by passing judgment on the actions of any individual member of the CBC management or personnel, or on the content of any particular program.

10. In this, the Committee shared the view expressed in the brief presented by the Canadian Broadcasting League: "We can think of nothing that could be more ultimately destructive to the independence of the CBC. Nor can we think that Parliament would wish to get into the impossible position of being a board of arbitration for CBC management disputes, a function that it cannot perform and that it should not wish to perform".

11. The following exchange between the witness, Mr. Patrick Watson, and the vice-chairman of the Committee, illustrates a similar understanding:

"Mr. Basford: (...) In coming before the Committee, are you recommending to the Committee that we should interfere in the production of Seven Days by recommending the renewal of your contract?"

"Mr. Watson: I think that is a perfectly fair question and the answer is categorically no. My understanding of the role of this Committee is that it is a body which gathers information and makes recommendations. The Committee has indicated its need for more information on the Seven Days situation and what lies behind it. I think my obligation here is to provide whatever information is required and perhaps to add to that information which I think might be useful to the Committee. In no sense do I feel that I am here to place a grievance before the Committee for correction."

12. Recognizing that it was not the function of the Committee to adopt a mediating role, the Committee welcomed the good offices of the government and tabled a report on April 27, 1966, which contained the following recommendation:

"While examining witnesses, evidence was adduced of the possibility of a stoppage of CBC services. In view of this evidence, your Committee is of the opinion that the CBC Management and CBC Producers should avail themselves of the good offices of the Government offered by the Prime Minister, on April 26, in the House of Commons, to avoid the possibility of any stoppage of CBC services".

Although Mr. Stuart Keate was appointed by the Prime Minister to deal with this situation, it is to be regretted that the dispute was not resolved.

13. Your Committee fully realized, early in its hearings, that it was by no means on a new journey while exploring the Seven Days issue. On the contrary, most of the circumstances surrounding that particular incident were strikingly reminiscent of findings already made by previous enquiry groups, namely the Glassco Commission, the Fowler Committee on Broadcasting and the CBC President's Study Group as quoted in the Fowler Report. The main difference seemed to be that the Seven Days case had further exacerbated the ill feelings between top and middle management people, not to mention the producers who were threatening to go on strike. The decision made with regard to the two co-hosts of Seven Days had also brought about a most violent reaction by part of the viewing public.

14. The Committee was faced with the evidence of deep divisions within the CBC among top management, middle management (supervisors) and production people. The testimony heard from both the English and the French networks made it clear to the Committee that the existing malaise—to avoid a stronger word—was in no way limited to the Seven Days issue but pervaded the whole department of Public Affairs broadcasting. (The Committee limited its exploration to that department alone.)

15. Therefore, the Committee felt that it was within its competence to try to determine the causes for such a serious breakdown in the normal relationship between people who were supposed to cooperate harmoniously. While recognizing that harmony is normally more difficult to maintain in this most sensitive area of public affairs and controversial issues, your Committee also took the view that the very nature of the work performed in that field makes harmony all the more essential. Finally, it became obvious, as testimony was being heard, that dissension of that kind, which seemed deeply rooted in the very structures of the CBC, could not be allowed to go on any longer without jeopardizing both the prestige and efficiency of the Corporation. It seemed obvious, therefore, that the problem went far beyond the individuals involved in any specific incident and that the Committee should, on behalf of Parliament, explore the situation as exhaustively as possible, in search of a general solution.

16. Towards the final stages of its work, the Committee became aware that the malaise revolved around four major factors:

- (a) the absence of a grievance procedure within the CBC to deal with internal conflicts of a specific nature in the production field;
- (b) the difficulty of reconciling the views of creative production personnel with those of management; and vice versa;
- (c) problems arising from the distribution and exercise of authority at the various levels of management;
- (d) the question of CBC policy in public affairs programs.

(a) Internal Arbitration

17. Occasional disputes are inevitable in the course of producing radio or TV programs on controversial public issues. On that point, there was complete unanimity among witnesses. It was also recognized by most that the very nature of the media made it inevitable that internal disputes would spill over into the general public unless they can be dealt with rapidly and effectively within the Corporation.

18. For instance, it was stated in evidence, that under an oral agreement of two years standing no changes in artists and performers on a program would be effected without consultation with the producer concerned. This agreement appears to have been ignored in the case of Seven Days.

19. To prevent such incidents from becoming public issues in the future, and to contain them within the CBC, it is imperative that a grievance procedure be set up in all centres of production. Grievances could thus be dealt with promptly and equitably, thereby preventing the dispute from becoming a matter of public controversy.

20. Evidence was given that a collective agreement including such a procedure has been in existence in Montreal ever since the end of the French network's producers' strike in 1959, with remarkably good results in settling grievances within the Corporation. It is the Committee's view that a collective agreement with the producers and the setting up of a grievance procedure similar to the one described in Article 4 of the collective agreement between the CBC and its Montreal producers would likely produce better results than those witnessed over the last few months in the English network.

(b) Management and the Producers

21. It is not the function of management to create TV or radio programs nor is it the function of the producers to manage the Corporation. It is, therefore, essential that a modus operandi be established to articulate one operation with the other.

22. This problem, however, is not exclusive to the CBC or to broadcasting systems in general. It is found in all agencies where creative talent associates with a managerial staff. From such association, tensions result inevitably. The question, therefore, is not how one can eliminate all tensions but how the negative, destructive kind can be eliminated and the creative tensions retained. It is the job of management to manage—in a manner which will achieve a dynamic coupling of the two functions—as it is the producers' job to create good programs within the limits assigned by management and the policies defined by it after consultation with supervisors and producers.

23. After hearing arguments from both sides, the Committee is fully conscious that no limits can be assigned and no policy formulated once and for all. Broadcasting is in constant evolution. We are also aware that it is not enough to assign limits and to determine policies, to be applied rigidly ever after. Those who would like to run a radio or TV network in military fashion would be very disappointed with the results. For there is no other way of doing it than through close and constant communication and consultation, conciliation and compromise from all parties concerned.

24. Extreme nervousness or jumpiness on the part of management with regard to public reactions, and extreme touchiness or irritability on the part of creative personnel, spell the very formula of disaster. Both moods can easily develop, however, if the lines of authority are not well defined or if they are ignored in day to day operations. From the testimony given, it is all too obvious that the present conditions prevailing in the CBC's public affairs department generate discontent in both management and production personnel, to a degree that endangers future operations. The use of phrases such as "sitting on a powder keg" or "blazes of resentment" suggest that something is basically wrong in the present organizational pattern.

25. In particular, your Committee would like to draw attention to the following points:

- (a) The fact that it is almost impossible to assign precise responsibility for any given breakdown in the system would seem to indicate that the degree of authority exercised at each echelon in the chain of command is not well defined; the resulting confusion accounts for much of the acrid debate about "the right of management to manage"; it is also conducive to erratic decisions and much haggling;

- (b) there should be more opportunities for younger, more dynamic elements to reach top echelons of management, and the present failure to achieve this goal, indicates a certain amount of sclerosis has crept in;
- (c) although information and public affairs is undoubtedly a most sensitive area in broadcasting, the Committee doubts very much that the CBC acted wisely in isolating that department from the normal lines of authority, thus making the whole organisational pattern more complex and difficult for this all important department;
- (d) your Committee finds it difficult to understand the role of the program department (some 50 people) operating in Ottawa and divorced almost entirely from the lines of authority and the main production centres. The Committee was examining the very essence of programming difficulties, yet not one witness suggested any solution in which this department had any role to play;
- (e) a serious fault in the present structure of the CBC is to be found in the definition of the President's functions and authority. It is unfair to any incumbent under present conditions. He is expected to be at the same time versed in all aspects of culture, politics and social evolution; aware of all the latest developments in communication techniques as well as an able administrator capable of supervising the management of a budget that exceeds one hundred million dollars. It is therefore necessary to re-define and re-arrange these functions.

(c) Remote Control of Programming

26. In line with foregoing observations about the necessity for "close and constant communication and contact" between top management and the two main centres of production, your Committee is of the opinion that effective, competent authority in the field of programming should be brought closer to the two main centres of production, i.e. Montreal and Toronto.

27. Each of the operations conducted in those two centres is analogous to that of a very large daily newspaper. In our view, what is needed in each of these two centres is the equivalent of a managing editor as known in the written press. Such large "newsrooms" dealing every day with the flow of events cannot be managed by remote control from Ottawa nor work properly without the presence of an "editor" endowed with quasi-final authority over programming.

28. It is the Committee's view that this could be best achieved if there were in each of the two main production centres a senior vice-president responsible for programming and production in the English and French networks respectively, the choice of both men being determined on the basis of experience and competence in those fields. They would assume authority over the whole of programming and production in each network (with special emphasis on the sensitive area of news and public affairs) and reside permanently in Toronto and Montreal. They should report directly to the President and the Board with whom the ultimate responsibility should rest for the overall CBC operation. This recommendation should be implemented now, notwithstanding the fact that the Committee has not yet undertaken the overall review of the organizational framework of the CBC which it intends to make this fall.

(d) Policies of Public Affairs Broadcasting

29. Your Committee holds the view that a publicly owned broadcasting system like the CBC should never be used as the instrument of any ideological propaganda. Your Committee also believes that the CBC as such should provide no opinion of its own except the basic tenets of democracy and freedom. But these tenets are not so weak and pliable as to be unable to withstand controversy if presented fairly and in a balanced manner. As Sir Hugh Greene, Director General of the BBC, put it in an address to the International Catholic Association for Radio and Television, entitled "The Conscience of the Programme Director" in February, 1965: "Without true independence, it is difficult for any broadcaster to maintain the highest standards of truth, accuracy and impartiality. Conversely, of course, without a reputation for these things—truth, accuracy and impartiality—it is difficult for any broadcasting organization to be recognized as truly independent and to be generally trusted.

30. "Truth and accuracy are concepts which are not susceptible of legal definition. The Government in Britain is content (after forty years experience of the BBC) to recognize that the BBC tries to honour these concepts and to treat with due impartiality all controversial subjects.

31. "But although, in the day-to-day issues of public life, the BBC does try to attain the highest standards of impartiality, there are some respects in which it is not neutral, unbiased or impartial. That is, where there are clashes for and against the basic moral values—truthfulness, justice, freedom, compassion, tolerance.

32. "Nor do I believe that we should be impartial about certain things like racialism, or extreme forms of political belief. Being too good "democrats" in these matters could open the way to the destruction of democracy itself. I believe a healthy democracy does not evade decisions about what it can never allow if it is to survive.

33. "... some political and social ideas are so clearly damaging to society, to peace and good order, even in their immediate effects, that to put at their disposal the enormous power of broadcasting would be to conspire with them against society. Here it is extremely difficult to know where to draw the line. The answer must vary from case to case, from country to country."

34. Your Committee agrees that although the answer must vary with the country, in Canada at least "a healthy democracy does not evade decisions about what it can never allow if it is to survive". Furthermore, a healthy democracy should be able to withstand challenges to beliefs and conscience if forthrightly broadcast with taste, balance and understanding.

35. No evidence was presented to your Committee which would indicate that the Corporation has been subjected to any pressure or intervention on the part of the Government or political parties. Conversely, the Committee learned, with satisfaction, that CBC management and CBC personnel are under an obligation to refrain from promoting their views through the publicly owned facilities at their disposal.

36. However, the Committee does not believe that CBC neutrality in controversial matters should be so scrupulous as to detract from its liveliness. Your Committee thinks that a balance can be found between personal editorializing and dullness inspired by fear of public reactions. As far as possible, each program should seek a proper balance but obviously this is not always feasible, and a series of programs must therefore be regarded as a whole.

37. The same observation applies to the choice of performers. It is easy to find people whose blandness and lack of personality makes them perfectly "safe" but this can inhibit lively broadcasting. What the CBC needs is the type of performers with strong individuality and personal opinions but who are aware of their own biases and are capable of keeping them in check. Objectivity is as difficult to attain as it is difficult to define. All journalists have to strive for it but none, including those employed by the CBC, should be expected to achieve it automatically. The best one can hope for is a sincere and constant effort toward high standards of journalistic honesty. The search for such standards, however, could severely cripple creativity if it were promoted too rigorously.

38. The Committee wishes to emphasize that in view of the prime importance of lively, provocative, constructive TV and radio, culturally and otherwise, particularly in the field of public affairs, no effort should be spared to attain this goal. It agrees with the concept of public affairs programs which are designed to attract the largest possible audience and involve in public affairs those not usually attracted by traditional broadcasting.

39. Finally it should be stated here that under Parliamentary rules all witnesses are compellable witnesses and were called and required to answer questions put to them, and therefore, there must be no action taken against them as a result of their testimony.

40. Your Committee wishes to express its thanks and appreciation to the witnesses and to those who have made written submissions for their frankness and willingness to cooperate.

41. To conclude, your Committee wishes to restate that it "felt that it should inquire into the matter" (This Hour Has Seven Days) "and concern itself, not with the dispute as such, but with the more general situation that had given rise to the quarrel within the CBC". In future hearings, the Committee will be examining in general the estimates of the CBC and the BBG and with leave of the House of Commons, the Government's White Paper on Broadcasting.

42. As a wide ranging inquiry into broadcasting may be protracted, any possible amendments to the Broadcasting Act may not be made for quite some time. In future hearings the Committee hopes to be able to take note that the Board and Management have taken action to resolve the present situation that exists in CBC Public Affairs broadcasting. In the meantime, however, the Committee, like many others, is concerned that steps be taken to ensure adventurous public affairs programming for next season.

And on the amendment thereto proposed by Mr. Knowles, seconded by Mrs. MacInnis,—That Bill C-207 be not now read a second time, but that it be resolved that in the opinion of this House the Government should give consideration to the immediate introduction of concurrent legislation providing for an old age pension of $100 a month, without a means or needs test, for all persons 65 years of age and over.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. Speaker: Since this amendment was moved last evening by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) I have had an opportunity to look at it, and, in the same way as other honourable Members have done, I have proceeded to study the authorities and the precedents. I thought I had covered every possible argument either for or against the proposition in my study, but I can see, having listened to the opinions expressed today, that there are a number of aspects of this problem which I had not even thought might exist.

I do appreciate the suggestions made by all honourable Members, both for or against the amendment moved by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre and seconded by Mrs. MacInnis.

Perhaps I might put the amendment on record at this time since we have been considering the point of order for over an hour. The amendment was in the following terms: "That Bill No. C-207 be not now read a second time, but that it be resolved that in the opinion of this House the government should give consideration to the immediate introduction of concurrent legislation providing for an old age pension of $100 a month, without a means or needs test, for all persons 65 years of age and over."

I should mention immediately that one of the arguments considered by several speakers was the suggestion that if this amendment were carried a certain consideration would ensue and the bill would be killed. I had the impression that this was not a relevant argument. I do not think it is part of the procedural argument that if an amendment is accepted something else will follow, and I would be inclined not to consider either the arguments in favour of that proposition or those made against it.

Of course, if this motion can be considered at all, it is—as suggested by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre—as being a reasoned amendment by virtue of Citation 382 of Beauchesne's 4th Edition, which reads as follows: "It is also competent to a Member who desires to place on record any special reasons for not agreeing to the second reading of a bill, to move as an amendment to the question a resolution declaratory of some principle adverse to, or differing from, the principles, policy, or provisions of the bill."

I am not going to comment on the argument made by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre in this respect. I gather that his objection had to do with the possibility that someone might argue that the amendment was not in opposition to the principle of the bill. But, as he himself recognized, that argument was not advanced and his view of this matter should therefore not be considered.

Reasoned amendments, as honourable Members have argued, are still subject to the general rule of relevancy. Page 527 of Mays' 17th edition states as follows: "The following rules govern the contents of reasoned amendments:

(1) The principle of relevancy in an amendment governs every such motion. The amendment must "strictly relate to the bill which the House, by its order, has resolved upon considering".

The point has been made by the Minister of National Health and Welfare that there is a requirement that the amendment should be strictly relevant. I have some doubts myself on this point; it should be noted that the words of the citation are exactly as I have quoted them. There must be strict relevance to the bill. A strong argument has been advanced by the Minister to the effect that this reasoned amendment is not strictly relevant to the bill itself in that it goes beyond its scope. I believe the amendment might well be ruled out of order on this ground alone.

However, there are a number of other difficulties which I am sure have not escaped the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre and others who have taken part in the debate on the procedural aspects. For one thing, the rule of relevancy implies that a proposed amendment should not impose a condition on the proposal which it seeks to amend. This is, perhaps, an aspect which has escaped most honourable Members; at any rate, if the argument was put forward it escaped me. The honourable Member proposed in his amendment that Bill No. C-207 shall not be passed unless, to use the wording of the amendment, "concurrent legislation is introduced".

According to citation 394(1) of Beauchesne's 4th Edition, this would appear to be out of order. The citation reads as follows: "The principle of relevancy in an amendment governs every proposed resolution, which, on the second reading of a bill, must not . . . attach conditions to the second reading of the bill."

As I understand it, the purport of this motion is that the bill will receive second reading providing other parallel or concurrent legislation is introduced. This clearly, to my mind, and in my humble judgment, is attaching a condition to the second reading of the bill which is now before the House.

The third argument which was considered by all honourable Members which took part in this very interesting discussion related to the admissibility of the amendment bearing in mind certain citations, in particular 148(1), 148(2) and 200(1) of Beauchesne's 4th Edition, which I should like to read. The first reads as follows: "It is a wholesome restraint upon Members that they cannot revive a debate already concluded; and it would be little use in preventing the same question from being offered twice in the same session if, without being offered, its merits might be discussed again and again."

Citation 148(2) says: "It is irregular to reflect upon, argue against, or in any manner call in question, in debate, the past acts or proceedings of the House, on the obvious ground that, besides tending to revive discussion upon questions which have already been once decided—"

Substantially, it repeats the principle enunciated in 148(1). The other citation, again from Beauchesne's 4th Edition, is 200(1): "An old rule of Parliament reads: 'That a question being once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, cannot be questioned again but must stand as the judgment of the House.'"

Honourable Members have suggested that there is a substantial difference between this amendment and the one which was moved by the Leader of the Opposition (Mr. Diefenbaker) during the Throne Speech debate. I do not agree. The honourable Member for Greenwood (Mr. Brewin) suggested that things have changed in the interim, between that time and now, a period of six months. That is quite possible, but what the Chair has to consider is the amendment itself and the amendment moved then. The amendment moved then was substantially the same as that now moved by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre.

The Minister without Portfolio (Mr. Turner) referred to a judgment given by Mr. Speaker Michener, and which makes sense, but perhaps not in the same way as it was referred to by the Minister. I would like to quote a different part of that judgment which was reported in the Journals of January 23, 1958, at page 366: "If the principle of the bill is opposed, and some other proper disposition of the bill is moved by way of amendment, then that is in order. But this amendment—" The Speaker was referring to an amendment moved at that time which, in my view, was very similar to the one we now have under consideration. "—does not seek to dispose of the bill at all. It simply calls upon the House to start, de novo, with some other proceedings, presumably to consider bringing in another bill . . . Hence in my view the amendment is not in order as it stands."

In view of these arguments I have no alternative except, with great regret, to refuse the amendment moved by the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre, and to say that on procedural grounds it is out of order.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. MacEachen, seconded by Mr. McIlraith,—That Bill C-207, An Act to authorize the making of contributions by Canada towards the cost of programs for the provision of assistance and welfare services to and in respect of persons in need, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

(b) the establishment of a plan to provide a national minimum retirement income, participation in such a plan to be available but not compulsory to all;

(c) that a national retirement pensions plan should not be compulsorily superimposed on existing pension and retirement plans, but should be supplementary to them, on the basis of filling in gaps in coverage of existing retirement and superannuation plans so that all are covered up to the level established under sub-paragraph (b), participation being, however, elective to those who are already covered to or beyond that level;

(d) that true portability of pensions as between industries and areas, which is not affected by the present plan, be the continuing aim of pensions legislation and negotiation;

(e) that certain specific and foolish anomalies, such as those whereby more than one employer may be compelled to make a full annual contribution in respect of the same employee, with no right of recovery from the fund, and whereby some housewives will be compelled to make deduction from the wages of domestic help while others will not, although the basic wage rate is the same, be eliminated.—(Notice of Motion No. 29).

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, WEDNESDAY, JULY 13, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Whelan, from the Standing Committee on Agriculture, Forestry and Rural Development, presented the Fourth Report of the said Committee which is as follows:

In accordance with its Order of Reference of March 22, 1966, the Committee had before it for consideration, the items listed in the Main Estimates for 1966-67 relating to the Department of Agriculture.

Your Committee has considered and approved the Main Estimates 1966-67 of the Department of Agriculture, namely: Items 1, 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 45, 50, 55 and 60, and commends them to the House for approval.

Your Committee wishes to express its appreciation to all those who presented evidence, and in particular The Hon. J. J. Greene, Minister of Agriculture; Mr. S. C. Barry, Deputy Minister; Mr. S. B. Williams, Assistant Deputy Minister, Production and Marketing Branch and Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization Board; and Mr. J. S. Parker, Director General, Departmental Administration.

Your Committee would like to make the following recommendations:

Administration

Your Committee, during the many meetings it held, could not help noting that across the country the many jurisdictions cause inequalities and other difficulties that make it more difficult for the Canadian farmer to operate. It is your Committee's view that Canada in conjunction with the provinces should develop a more coherent and systematic set of agriculture policies that would have equal application across the country.

Your Committee is concerned that the stabilization of agricultural produce under the present system cannot always achieve the desired results. It is the Committee's opinion that the Department of Agriculture should study the various supply control systems and where possible recommend such schemes. From the Evidence presented it was the unanimous opinion of your Committee that additional measures concerning agricultural production and marketing are sorely needed.

More Federal-Provincial projects under A.R.D.A. and P.F.R.A. should be instigated on the initiative of the Federal authorities. It is your Committee's view that with the initiative and implementation left to the provinces, many farmers are placed at a disadvantage, primarily because some provinces do not have the revenues for implementation.

Importation

Your Committee has heard evidence that massive seasonal movements of foreign agricultural products into Canada have had a harmful and depressing effect on the markets of certain Canadian Agricultural products. Canadian markets and production should be closely watched by the Department of Agriculture and when the importation of agricultural products appears to have a harmful or depressing effect, quick and decisive action should be taken. Your Committee is of the opinion that the present system is inadequate to speedily combat such situations when they arise. Your Committee feels that regulations should be established that will give officials the power to take the proper action quickly.

Staffing

It has been brought to your Committee's attention that it is increasingly difficult to recruit qualified professional personnel for the Department of Agriculture. Your Committee is of the opinion that greater success could be achieved if the Department were to take more initiative in the recruitment of professional personnel.

Research

Today research into the physical sciences and technology is of paramount importance and your Committee would like to commend the Research Branch of the Department of Agriculture for the work done and under progress.

Your Committee, however, believes that research into all fields of the sciences and particularly the agricultural sciences should be greatly expanded.

Agricultural technology is to your Committee a subject of serious concern as it is an area that directly affects the farmer's costs, and productivity. As a result, your Committee feels that research into this subject should receive greater attention.

Your Committee notes that over the last few years the Department of Agriculture has been refitting, rebuilding and refurbishing many of its research laboratories. Your Committee feels that this program should be approached with a greater sense of urgency.

Insurance

Your Committee supports the principle of crop insurance and believes that its application should be extended.

Your Committee is of the opinion that serious consideration should be given to amending the Prairie Farm Assistance Act so that the benefits it provides could be extended under a broadened crop insurance program, not only to Western Provinces, but to the whole country.

Your Committee recommends that the P.F.A. Act be amended to allow sections of lands lying diagonally (Kitty-Corner) to each other to be eligible areas.

Extension

Your Committee is of the opinion that agricultural extension is of paramount importance and that effective use of research and experimental results are not now fully or adequately adopted by practising farmers. Your Committee believes demonstration plots or farms administered by the Federal Agricultural Research Stations would assist in solving this problem.

Your Committee requests that the Government give serious consideration to working in conjunction with Provincial Extension Services, to arrive at an improved method of disseminating valuable research information and suggestions on a farm to farm basis and on a personal basis where possible.

Inspection and Sale Act

Your Committee is of the opinion that the Inspection and Sale Act, Chapter 155, R.S.C. 1952, along with the Inspection and Sale Act Regulations which appeared in the Canada Gazette, October 13, 1954, -S.O.R./54-445- are no longer of any great value and the feasibility of placing the subject-matter of this Act under some body other than the Department of Agriculture should be examined.

Fur Farming

Your Committee recommends that greater encouragement be given to the fur farming industry in Canada, as there is great room for expansion of this industry.

Research into fur farming should be expanded and serious consideration should be given to setting up research facilities in central Canada, so as to serve more efficiently the fur animal breeders across the country.

Animal Contagious Diseases Act

Your Committee feels that compensation payments to owners after slaughter of their animals condemned under the Animal Contagious Diseases Act, R.S.C. 1952, Chapter 9, should be tied to current market prices, and that the Animal Contagious Diseases Act be amended to allow this.

Uses of Chemicals

In taking of evidence, your Committee became concerned with the ever increasing use of drugs and chemicals in the agricultural industry. It is your Committee's considered opinion that the controls of the use of such drugs and chemicals be kept under constant review in order that the consumer be protected in the use of such farm products.

Your Committee has heard some evidence which might indicate that the Health of Animals Branch of the Department of Agriculture could better police the sale and administration of drugs and chemicals used in livestock and poultry production. It is your Committee's recommendation that an interdepartmental committee, comprised of officials from the Departments of Agriculture and National Health and Welfare, be established to study and examine this aspect of drug and chemicals used with a view to establishing the best methods of control.

Sheep

Your Committee feels that the sheep industry is an area of the livestock industry that needs a great deal of encouragement.

P.F.R.A. Administration

Your Committee recognizes the great assistance that the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act has been to the three western provinces and feels that the spirit and effect of this Act should be extended to the whole of Canada and should be amended so as to allow greater development of water conservation projects. Community development and certain urban water needs in farming areas should not be ignored.

Off-Track Elevators

In view of the large scale rail abandonment by both the C.P.R. and C.N.R. in Western Canada, your Committee recommends that the Canada Grain Act be amended so as to allow the Board of Grain Commissioners to license off-track grain elevator storage space.

Canadian Government Elevators

It is the opinion of your Committee that all Government owned grain elevators should be placed under the direction and control of one body.

Race Track Betting

Your Committee recommends that the administrative responsibility for the supervision of pari-mutuel systems of betting at race courses should be transferred from the Department of Agriculture to another Department, as it is clearly law enforcement. Your Committee notes that the Royal Commission on Government Organization made a similar recommendation in Volume Three of its report.

In order to make more permits available to agricultural associations wishing to obtain "racing days", it is your Committee's view that the date of incorporation be raised from March 20th, 1912 to January 1st, 1967.

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Badanai, from the Standing Committee on Northern Affairs and National Resources, presented the Second Report of the said Committee which was read as follows:

Your Committee recommends that the names of Messrs. Lind, Barnett and Cadieu (Meadow Lake) be substituted for those of Messrs. Haidasz, Howard and Kindt on the Committee.

By unanimous consent, on motion of Mr. Badanai, seconded by Mr. Duquet, the said Report was concurred in.

Mr. Cardin, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—Copy of a Report from the Honourable Mr. Justice Dalton Courtwright Wells, appointed under Order in Council P.C. 1966-395, dated March 7, 1966, Commissioner under Part I of the Inquiries Act to inquire into complaints made by George Victor Spencer. (English and French).

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. Cashin, it was ordered,—That the names of Messrs. Boulanger and Cashin be substituted for those of Messrs. Yanakis and Carter on the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications.

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Pearson, seconded by Mr. Nicholson,—That Bill C-230, An Act to provide for the resumption of operations of railways and for the settlement of the existing dispute with respect to terms and conditions of employment between Railway Companies and their employees, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

Mr. Diefenbaker, seconded by Mr. Starr, moved,—That all the words after “That” be struck out and the following substituted therefor:

“this House declines to proceed with the second reading of a Bill, the provisions of which, in their wide departure from the terms of the report of Mr. Justice Munroe, Chairman of the Conciliation Board, and in their failure to give any assurance of an equitable solution of the problems of fringe benefits or any directions as to the implementation of the Freedman Report, do not provide an adequate solution of the current impasse.”

Whereupon the Minister of National Health and Welfare (Mr. MacEachen) raised a Point of Order concerning the admissibility of the amendment.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: I am in a position now to express an opinion with regard to the very interesting arguments which have been put forward to enlighten the Chair. Perhaps I may deal first with the objection just raised by the honourable Member for Lapointe (Mr. Grégoire). The motion is to the effect that the bill be not now read a second time. The amendment does not refer to the bill proper, but to the motion for second reading. It is my understanding that the word “that” appears only once in the said motion.

The objections raised by the Minister of National Health and Welfare (Mr. MacEachen) and the Minister without Portfolio (Mr. Turner) were, of course, of a very serious nature and require very serious consideration, which I gave them while arguments were being put forth by other Members of the House. I might say right now, to relieve the anxiety of some honourable Members, that I feel the amendment should be accepted for a number of reasons.

The first objection raised by the Minister of National Health and Welfare and supported by the Minister without Portfolio was that this is a reasoned amendment and that a reasoned amendment must be declaratory of a principle adverse to or opposed to the principles of the bill. This objection has been answered effectively, I believe, by the honourable Member for Kamloops (Mr. Fulton) and the honourable Member for Carleton (Mr. Bell) in that this is one of the possible requirements of a reasoned amendment.

There is an enumeration, as stated in May's 17th edition at page 527, of the several requirements of this type of amendment. The first is: “It may be declaratory of some principle adverse to, or differing from, the principles, policy or provisions of the bill.”

Then we find: “(2) It may express opinions as to any circumstances connected with the introduction or prosecution of the bill, or otherwise opposed to its progress.

(3) It may seek further information in relation to the bill by committees, commissioners, the production of papers or other evidence.”

The Minister without Portfolio referred to citation 393 of Beauchesne, which seems to be in contradiction to May. This matter was brought to my attention on a number of occasions previously, namely that there was obviously a contradiction between May and Beauchesne. Consequently a search was made of the authorities upon which citation 393 of Beauchesne was based, and this search was not too fruitful. It seems that citation 393 (1), (2) and (3) of Beauchesne constitute the rule as it existed perhaps some years ago but has not been followed. I suggest to honourable Members that the rule which should be followed is as expressed in May's 17th edition.

The other serious objection submitted by the honourable Ministers—and this was supported, of course, by other honourable Members—was that an amendment must not be concerned with the provisions of the bill upon which it is moved, nor anticipate amendments thereto which may be moved in committee.

This again is a very serious objection but, if I may say so, this amendment appears to be a borderline case.

There is also the fact that the citation in the 17th edition of May's at page 528 reads as follows: "The amendment must not be concerned in detail with the provision of the bill."

I feel there is a distinction to be drawn here. In my opinion this amendment does not refer in detail to the provisions of the bill before the House.

For this reason I think I can feel free not to accept the objection of the Ministers to the bill.

We have before us a reasoned amendment and the principle of a reasoned amendment is set out very clearly in Abraham and Hawtrey's Parliamentary Dictionary at page 162 which states in very general and clear terms what a reasoned amendment is. It reads: "This form of amendment seeks either to give reasons why the House declines to give a second or third reading to the bill or to express an opinion with regard to its subject-matter or to the policy which the bill is intended to fulfill."

This language is extremely general in nature and I believe would include the type of amendments which have been moved by the Right Honourable Leader of the Opposition.

Lastly, it has been brought to my attention that an amendment, in many ways similar from a procedural standpoint, was moved in 1960 and accepted at the time. I believe there is no substantial procedural distinction between the two amendments.

For all these reasons and from the procedural standpoint I accept the amendment moved by the Right Honourable Leader of the Opposition.

And debate arising thereon;

Mr. Douglas, seconded by Mr. Lewis, proposed to move in amendment thereto,—That the amendment be amended by inserting therein, immediately after the words "Freedman Report", the following words: "by imposing compulsory arbitration, and by failing to provide for the appointment of an Administrator of the railway companies so that there might be effective collective bargaining."

And a Point of Order having been raised as to the regularity of the said proposed amendment to the amendment;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: I thank honourable Members for their advice, guidance and assistance to the Chair. I would first refer to the argument put forward by the Solicitor General (Mr. Pennell). He referred to citation 389, which was advanced earlier in argument today, I believe by the Minister of National Health and Welfare (Mr. MacEachen). On this point I am in agreement with the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) that this argument was found not acceptable earlier today; therefore the precedent having been set I feel bound to follow it.

I would suggest that the second argument is more serious. Citation 202 (3) of Beauchesne's fourth edition says: "Since the purpose of a sub-amendment is to alter the amendment, it should not enlarge upon the scope of the amendment but it should deal with matters that are not covered by the amendment; if it is intended to bring up matters foreign to the amendment, the Member should wait until the amendment is disposed of and move a new amendment."

It seems to me on reading the sub-amendment as proposed that if it means anything it is advancing something new and suggesting a new proposal.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) referred to citation 202(3) of Beauchesne's fourth edition, which is to the effect that the sub-amendment should deal with matters that are not covered in the amendment. That is so and I accept that proposition. But we must still respect the principle of relevancy as outlined in citation 203(1) of Beauchesne, and even if the sub-amendment is advancing something new it has to be relevant to the amendment which the sub-amendment seeks to alter.

For these reasons I think that the proposal advanced by the honourable Member for Burnaby-Coquitlam cannot be accepted at this time in the form of a sub-amendment.

And debate continuing;

Pursuant to provisional Standing Order 6(2), Mr. McIlraith moved,—That the House continue to sit until 11.00 o'clock p.m. this day.

And more than ten members having risen to object, the question was not put on the said motion.

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At ten o'clock p.m., the question "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to provisional Standing Order 39-A;

After debate, the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

Returns and Reports Deposited with the Clerk of the House

The following papers having been deposited with the Clerk of the House were laid upon the Table pursuant to Standing Order 40, namely;

(English and French).

At 10.08 o'clock p.m. the House adjourned until tomorrow at 2.30 o'clock p.m.

Mr. Béchard, Parliamentary Secretary to the Secretary of State, presented,—Returns to the foregoing Orders.

Notices of Motions for the Production of Papers Nos. 8, 72, 149, 151, 153, and 154 having been called were allowed to stand at the request of the government.

Resolved,—That a humble Address be presented to His Excellency praying that he will cause to be laid before this House a copy of any communications exchanged in the last five-year period, between the Government of Canada or any agency thereof, and the Government of the United States or any agency thereof including the International Joint Commission, with respect to the problem of water pollution of the Red River and particularly with respect to any testing that may be carried out to determine the degree of pollution.—(Notice of Motion for the Production of Papers No. 144—Mr. Schreyer).

Mr. Béchard, Parliamentary Secretary to the Secretary of State, presented,—Return to the foregoing Order.

Ordered,—That there be laid before this House a copy of all correspondence dated since November 8, 1965, between the Minister of Industry and Ross M. Whicher, M.P.P. Bruce.—(Notice of Motion for the Production of Papers No. 155—Mr. Loney).

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Pearson, seconded by Mr. Nicholson,—That Bill C-230, An Act to provide for the resumption of operations of railways and for the settlement of the existing dispute with respect to terms and conditions of employment between Railway Companies and their employees, be now read a second time.

And on the motion of Mr. Diefenbaker, seconded by Mr. Starr, in amendment thereto,—That all the words after "That" be struck out and the following substituted therefor:

"this House declines to proceed with the second reading of a Bill, the provisions of which, in their wide departure from the terms of the report of Mr. Justice Munroe, Chairman of the Conciliation Board, and in their failure to give any assurance of an equitable solution of the problems of fringe benefits or any directions as to the implementation of the Freedman Report, do not provide an adequate solution of the current impasse."

And debate continuing;

Mr. Langlois (Mégantic), seconded by Mr. Gauthier, proposed to move in amendment thereto,—That all the words after "That" be struck out and the following substituted therefor:

"the government is neglecting to undertake the necessary measures so that at all times the railway employees and all Canadian citizens may have incomes according to the national productivity of this country by using the facilities of the Bank of Canada as may be necessary."

RULING BY MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: I would like to refer the House to citation 203, subsection 1 of Beauchesne's fourth edition, page 171 which reads as follows: "203 (1) It is an imperative rule that every amendment must be relevant to the question on which the amendment is proposed."

This may be read as also applying to a sub-amendment, in relation to the amendment. The reference made in the sub-amendment to national productivity and the use of the Bank of Canada is not at all relevant to the amendment now before the House.

May I also refer the House to citation 202 subsection 3 at page 169 of Beauchesne's fourth edition. It reads as follows: "Since the purpose of a sub-amendment is to alter the amendment, it should not enlarge upon the scope of the amendment but it should deal with matters that are not covered by the amendment; if it is intended to bring up matters foreign to the amendment, the member should wait until the amendment is disposed of and move a new amendment."

This is so provided, of course, that it is relevant to the bill.

I suggest to the honourable Member for Mégantic (Mr. Langlois) that the sub-amendment which he moved is not relevant to the bill and brings out matters which are not included in the amendment now before the House. I therefore declare the sub-amendment out of order.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Pearson, seconded by Mr. Nicholson,—That Bill C-230, An Act to provide for the resumption of operations of railways and for the settlement of the existing dispute with respect to terms and conditions of employment between Railway Companies and their employees, be now read a second time.

And on the motion of Mr. Diefenbaker, seconded by Mr. Starr, in amendment thereto,—That all the words after "That" be struck out and the following substituted therefor:

"this House declines to proceed with the second reading of a Bill, the provisions of which, in their wide departure from the terms of the report of Mr. Justice Munroe, Chairman of the Conciliation Board, and in their failure to give any assurance of an equitable solution of the problems of fringe benefits or any directions as to the implementation of the Freedman Report, do not provide an adequate solution of the current impasse."

After further debate, the question being put on the said proposed amendment, it was negatived on the following division:

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Pickersgill, seconded by Mr. Turner,—That Bill C-231, An Act to define and implement a national transportation policy for Canada, to amend the Railway Act and other Acts in consequence thereof and enact other consequential provisions, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

Mr. Thomas, seconded by Mr. Danforth, proposed to move in amendment thereto,—That all the words after “That” be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

“this House, while prepared to support the principle of a National Transportation Policy, is of the opinion that, owing to its complexity, the subject-matter of this Bill be referred to the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications for consideration and report, without prejudice to further proceeding with the said Bill later this Session”.

And a Point of Order having been raised;

RULING BY MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER

MR. DEPUTY SPEAKER: Perhaps the Chair is in a position now to render a ruling on the amendment moved by the honourable Member for Middlesex West (Mr. Thomas), I should like to thank the honourable Members who have given me advice and referred me to certain citations.

I recognize, of course, the difficulty that faces us when we read our Standing Order 77 which says that no bill can be committed without being read a second time. I recognize the difficulty in discerning the difference between the bill itself and the subject-matter of the bill. Whatever personal views I may have about how a difficult bill of this nature should be handled in this House, the Chair is faced with the problem of deciding whether or not the amendment is in order in accordance with our rules and with our precedents.

May I first of all refer the House to that section of the amendment which reads: “without prejudice to further proceeding to the said bill later this session.”

I am not sure as to what this means. If it does mean that the bill is to remain on the Order Paper for second reading, and at the same time the subject-matter is to be referred to a committee, then we arrive at the position where we are trying to have it both ways. We do arrive at a position similar to the one upon which Mr. Deputy Speaker Lamoureux ruled on September 28, 1964.

May I refer honourable Members to citation 386 on page 278 of Beauchesne's fourth edition which reads: “On the second reading of a bill, the House may decide to refer the subject-matter thereof to a commission although the bill could not be referred to a committee of the House before its second reading. (The subject-matter of the bill and the bill itself are two different things)”.

Further on the same page I read this: "This amendment was as much a declaration of policy as if it stated that the question of adjusting the railway rates on grain should be investigated by the Railway Board."

I would take it from this citation that referring the subject-matter of this bill to a committee is a declaration of policy. Having said that, may I refer Members to citation 393 which reads as follows: "An amendment purporting to approve the principle of a bill and at the same time enunciating a declaration of policy cannot be moved to the second reading."

It is for this reason that I declare the amendment out of order.

In accordance with the provisions of provisional Standing Order 6(2), Mr. Pickersgill, seconded by Mr. Turner, moved,—That the House continue to sit after 6.00 o'clock p.m. this day.

And no Member having risen to object, the motion was deemed to have been carried.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Pickersgill, seconded by Mr. Turner,—That Bill C-231, An Act to define and implement a national transportation policy for Canada, to amend the Railway Act and other Acts in consequence thereof and enact other consequential provisions, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

By unanimous consent, at 6.15 o'clock p.m. the sitting was suspended until 7.00 o'clock p.m.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Pickersgill, seconded by Mr. Turner,—That Bill C-231, An Act to define and implement a national transportation policy for Canada, to amend the Railway Act and other Acts in consequence thereof and enact other consequential provisions, be now read a second time.

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Basford, from the Special Joint Committee on Consumer Credit and Cost of Living, presented the Second Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

Your Committee recommends that the House of Commons section of the said Committee be granted leave to sit while the House is sitting.

Mr. Laing, a Member of the Queen's Privy Council, laid before the House,—

(1) Copy of Report of the Advisory Commission on the Development of Government in the Northwest Territories, 1966, Volumes I and II.

(2) Copy of Summary Report of the Advisory Commission on the Development of Government in the Northwest Territories, 1966. (English and French).

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Mr. Nicholson,—That Bill C-222, An Act respecting Banks and Banking, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

Mr. Saltzman, seconded by Mr. Knowles, proposed to move in amendment thereto:

That Bill C-222 be not now read a second time, but that it be resolved that in the opinion of this House consideration be given to the introduction of legislation to include provision for placing the sole operation of clearing house facilities in the hands of the Bank of Canada and requiring that all financial institutions issuing demand liabilities, transferable and short term banking claims requiring access to the cheque clearing system be defined as Banks and brought under provision of this legislation; and further that the government give consideration to taking such steps as are necessary to give to the Bank of Canada the power to set maximum interest rates on both loans and deposits as it deems necessary in the general interest of the economy in the light of prevailing economic conditions.

And a point of order having been raised by the Honourable Minister of Transport (Mr. Pickersgill) as to the regularity of the said proposed amendment;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: If there are no additional contributions to this very interesting debate on procedural matters perhaps I should at this time give my opinion as to why the amendment moved by the honourable Member for Waterloo South (Mr. Saltsman) ought to be accepted or not.

Honourable Members know the practice and precedents governing the introduction and proposal of reasoned amendments better than I do. The honourable Minister of Transport (Mr. Pickersgill) has referred the House to a ruling of August 30 last which gives in some detail the general practice and precedents governing such amendments. I feel myself bound by that ruling, and I think it applies in this present case. However, honourable Members know that even in the instance of a reasoned amendment, the general rule regarding relevancy still applies.

Reference has been made to May's seventeenth edition at page 527 which reads: "The principle of relevancy in an amendment governs every such motion." Meaning a motion for amendment along the same lines as the one proposed by the honourable Member for Waterloo South (Mr. Saltsman). "The amendment must 'strictly relate to the bill which the House, by its order, has resolved upon considering', and must not include in its scope other bills then standing for consideration by the House."

It seems to me that the proposal advanced by the honourable Member in the form of an amendment does go beyond terms of the bill now before the House. I fully recognize it is always extremely difficult to determine whether or not an amendment of this type is relevant, but reading it as closely as I can and following upon the suggestion made by the honourable Member for Edmonton West (Mr. Lambert), supported by the honourable Member for Medicine Hat (Mr. Olson), it seems this is entirely too different and novel a legislative proposal. Because of this I do feel that this amendment, although it obviously is a reasoned amendment, cannot be accepted because it is substantially irrelevant.

Referring myself to citations 200 and 203(5) of Beauchesne's fourth edition quoted by the honourable Member for Edmonton West and sustained by the arguments also advanced by the Minister of Transport and the honourable Member for Medicine Hat, I think I have to rule the amendment out of order.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Mr. Nicholson, that Bill C-222, An Act respecting Banks and Banking, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

[At 6.00 o'clock p.m., Private Members' Business was called pursuant to provisional Standing Order 15(3)]

[Notices of Motions (Papers)]

Mr. Howard, seconded by Mr. Knowles, moved,—That an Order of the House do issue for a copy of any communication exchanged between the Maritime Trustees, or other organizations and other persons, and the Minister of Labour or any official of the Department of Labour, with respect to the Seafarers' International Union.—(Notice of Motion for the Production of Papers No. 128).

And debate arising thereon;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Mr. Nicholson,—That Bill C-222, An Act respecting Banks and Banking, be now read a second time.

After further debate, the question was put on the said motion at 7.35 o'clock p.m.

Whereupon, more than five members having risen to oppose the taking of a vote thereon, pursuant to section (3) of provisional Standing Order 6, the taking of the said vote was postponed until 8.00 o'clock p.m. this day.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-223, An Act respecting Savings Banks in the Province of Quebec;

Mr. Sharp, seconded by Mr. Pickersgill, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to, on division.

Accordingly, the said bill was read the second time, on division, and referred to the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-218, An Act to provide assistance to livestock feeders in Eastern Canada and British Columbia;

Mr. Sauvé, seconded by Mr. Sharp, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

And debate arising thereon;

At 8.00 o'clock p.m., pursuant to section (3) of provisional Standing Order 6, Mr. Speaker interrupted the proceedings and the House reverted to the postponed vote on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Mr. Nicholson,—That Bill C-222, An Act respecting Banks and Banking, be now read a second time.

And the question being put on the said motion, it was agreed to, on the following division.

No. 131

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OF CANADA

OTTAWA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

The honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona (Mr. Nugent) raised a question of privilege to the effect that the Minister of National Defence had breached the privileges of this House by tampering with a witness in respect of the evidence to be given before a committee of this house, the witness being Rear-Admiral W. M. Landymore, the committee being the Standing Committee on National Defence, and the evidence in question being the Admiral's brief presented to the committee on June 23, 1966.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I have listened with a great deal of interest to the question of privilege raised by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona (Mr. Nugent). That honourable Member referred to one citation of Beauchesne's, and I should like to refer him to another, namely citation 104(5) which reads in part as follows: "As a motion taken at the time for matters of privilege is thereby given precedence over the prearranged program of public business, the Speaker requires to be satisfied, both that there is a prima facie case that a breach of privilege has been committed, and also that the matter is being raised at the earliest opportunity."

I should also like to refer the honourable Member to page 378 of May's 17th edition where the following is stated: "The matter must be raised at the earliest opportunity. A matter of privilege which claims precedence over other public business should be a subject which has recently arisen.

"The older rulings applied a further condition, that a matter to secure precedence must be one of urgency. But this condition seems to have been waived, and later Speakers have satisfied themselves with insisting that a matter should be raised at the earliest opportunity.

"A matter which occurred during the recess was refused precedence as a matter of privilege because it was not raised at the commencement of the session.

"Similarly a matter concerning an article in a newspaper published on 6 May was refused precedence because it was not raised till the 14th and a speech reported on a Saturday because it was not raised until the following Tuesday. On the other hand, when special circumstances justified it, the Speaker has permitted a member to raise a matter on the day following the date of issue of the newspaper containing the article complained of."

These citations show how strict are our rules and precedents in connection with the necessity of raising a matter at the earliest possible opportunity.

The honourable Member knows, as all honourable Members know, that we have any number of precedents on this very important point. I have one before me, reported in Hansard of May 10, 1966, at page 4923. On that day the honourable Member for Québec-Montmorency (Mr. Laflamme) raised a matter referring to a broadcast of the C.B.C. on May 5. The Chair ruled as follows: "Since this involves a matter which, according to the honourable Member himself, goes back to Thursday last, I do not feel the question of privilege has been raised at the earliest opportunity. For this reason, I cannot find that a question of privilege exists in the circumstances."

The honourable Member knows that this question has been raised on a number of occasions in the current session. In particular, the honourable Member for Halifax (Mr. Forrestall) raised this very matter in connection with a proposed adjournment under Standing Order 26 on September 7 last, and also on August 30, 1966, a number of questions were asked by the honourable Member for Vancouver East (Mr. Winch) and the right honourable Leader of the Opposition (Mr. Diefenbaker).

It is obvious that this matter has not been raised in the form of a question of privilege at the earliest possible opportunity. For this reason I must rule, not on the question of whether there is a prima facie case but on the point of order as to whether this matter has been raised at the earliest opportunity, and I suggest to the honourable Member that he has not satisfied this requirement.

And the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona (Mr. Nugent) having risen on a point of order in support of his contention that this was his earliest opportunity of raising the question in the House;

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: I appreciate the honourable Member's anxiety to express his point of view on the point of order as to whether he raised the question at the earliest opportunity. My suggestion to him and my submission to the House is that it is not the sense of the rules and the purport of the practices of this chamber that when a Member has satisfied himself after a month, two months or six months that he has a good case, he can come forward and raise the matter as a question of privilege.

I suggest to the honourable Member that there is no precedent whatever that I have been able to ascertain or that I could quote in support of the honourable Member's point of view. With regret I must maintain the ruling that I made a moment ago, that this matter having been raised—and it is substantially the same matter that the honourable Member now raises—and put before the House on the occasion of questions, and particularly as a motion by the honourable Member for Halifax under Standing Order 26, it cannot be considered now.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. McNulty, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Scott (Danforth) be substituted for that of Mr. Cameron

(Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands) on the Special Joint Committee on Consumer Credit and Cost of Living; and

That a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint Their Honours thereof.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. McNulty, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Fulton be substituted for that of Mr. Hees on the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs.

Mr. Stanbury, seconded by Mr. Orange, by leave of the House, introduced Bill C-236, An Act to amend the British North America Act, 1867 (Appointment of Judges), which was read the first time and ordered for a second reading at the next sitting of the House.

Pursuant to Standing Order 39(4), the following Question was made an Order of the House for a Return, namely:

No. 1,498—Mr. Macquarrie

1. Have any individuals and/or organizations protested the increase in fare on the C.N.R. ferries on the Borden-Tormentine run and, if so, who are they?

2. Was a resolution on this subject received from the Legislature of Prince Edward Island and, if so (a) on what date (b) was a reply sent and, if so (i) when (ii) what was the nature of this reply?

3. On what date was Premier Shaw advised of this suspension of the increase in ferry rates?

4. Will hearings be held in Prince Edward Island and, if so, on what date?

5. Have any individuals and/or organizations in Prince Edward Island sent representations favouring the increase?

6. Have the fares on any ferries in the Atlantic Provinces been increased in the past three years and, if so, on what ferries and what were the amounts of the increase?

7. Have the fares on any ferries in the Atlantic Provinces been reduced in the past three years and, if so, on what ferries and what were the amounts of the decrease?

Mr. Stewart, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Public Works, presented,—Return to the foregoing Order.

Mr. Nugent, from his place in the House, asked leave to move the adjournment of the House under Standing Order 26 to discuss a matter of urgent public importance and stated the subject to be:

“The charge that the Minister of National Defence has breached the privileges of this House by tampering with a witness and that charge has been made public and has not been dealt with by the House resulting in injustice to the Minister until it has been cleared.”

And debate arising on the question of urgency of debate;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: The ruling which I have to make now is whether there should be an adjournment of the proceedings of the House to consider a matter of definite and urgent importance, according to the terms of Standing Order 26.

The effect of this adjournment would be to allow a debate until five o'clock because, according to Standing Orders, an adjournment debate at this time does not dispense with Private Members' hour, and I think honourable Members will agree with me it would be just a bit out of place and improper to grant an adjournment for a 15 minute debate.

In any event if I require an authority to support my view that there should not be an adjournment, there was a ruling made in the House earlier in the session—I will not say on the same question, but on a similar question—at which time there was a ruling that there should not be an adjournment.

Honourable Members know, and I have said this before, it is only in extreme circumstances that an adjournment is granted. It has not happened more than a very few times in many years that the business of the house has been adjourned. It may well be that this is a type of business on which there should be an adjournment, but I have before me a motion in particular circumstances and I do not think that I can grant it in view of all the circumstances.

One point I would like to bring to the attention of honourable Members is citation 100(9) of Beauchesne's fourth edition, as recorded at page 91 of that work, which states: "matters of privilege or order, or matters debatable only upon a substantive motion, cannot be submitted to the House under this Standing Order."

If the honourable Member is right then he has a question of privilege, and according to this citation the Chair cannot grant an adjournment of the House to consider a matter which the honourable Member says is a question of privilege and, as he has said himself, there has been no ruling from the Chair to the effect that there was no question of privilege.

The ruling was based on the point that the question had not been raised on the earliest possible occasion. In view of this I cannot accept the motion but I would like to suggest, if this would be helpful to the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona (Mr. Nugent), that in view of the fact that he has a motion—it may be a motion of privilege, I am not saying that it is and I am not saying that it is not—I believe he should consider the possibility of submitting this motion to the Chair. It would then be placed on the Order Paper, but I would be pleased to discuss the matter with the honourable Member and I think he should give some thought to this possibility.

The honourable Member may not feel that it should be done in this way and I respect his views, but certainly it would have the result of bringing the matter before the House for eventual resolution by honourable Members.

If honourable Members feel we should go on for the 15 minutes remaining with Orders of the Day, then I shall call Orders of the Day.

Notices of Motions for the Production of Papers Nos. 8, 72, 149, 156, 159, 160, 162, 163 and 164 were allowed to stand at the request of the government.

Resolved,—That an humble Address be presented to His Excellency praying that he will cause to be laid before this House copies of all notes, documents, minutes or other documents or correspondence exchanged between the Government of Canada and Governments of members of the Commonwealth Caribbean Conference regarding Article VII of the Canada-West Indies Trade Agreement of 1925.—(Notice of Motion for the Production of Papers No. 153.—Mr. McCleave).

(Private Members' Business was called pursuant to provisional Standing Order 15(3))

(Notices of Motions)

Notices of Motions Nos. 34, 36 and 37 having been called were allowed to stand at the request of the government.

Mr. Leblanc (Laurier), seconded by Mr. Berger, moved,—That, in the opinion of this House, the government should consider the advisability of setting up a special committee to study matters relating to the import, export, production, sale and purchase of firearms, and that this committee should study the advisability of amending the Criminal Code, section 82 and the following sections with regard to offensive weapons.—(Notice of Motion No. 39).

And debate arising thereon;

The hour for Private Members' Business expired.

At 6.01 o'clock p.m., Mr. Speaker adjourned the House without question put until to-morrow at 2.30 o'clock p.m.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

The Order being read for the second reading of Bill C-227, An Act to authorize the payment of contributions by Canada towards the cost of insured medical care services incurred by provinces pursuant to provincial medical care insurance plans.

Mr. MacEachen, seconded by Mr. Pickersgill, moved,—That the said bill be now read a second time.

And debate arising thereon;

Mr. Rynard, seconded by Mr. Dinsdale, moved in amendment thereto,—That all the words after "That" be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

"this House, while of the opinion that provision should be made for medical services to be available to all Canadians at an adequate level on a pre-paid basis, is nevertheless of the further opinion that no legislation for the provision of insured medical care services in Canada will be satisfactory unless it:

(a) secures co-operation of the governments of the provinces of Canada;

(b) recognizes the principle of voluntary choice by the individual;

(c) makes adequate prior provision for sufficient medical research, the training of adequate numbers of doctors and other medical personnel; and

(d) immediately provides for those persons who are unable, for financial reasons, to provide medical services for themselves."

The honourable Minister of National Health and Welfare (Mr. MacEachen) having raised a point of order to the effect that the proposed amendment was irregular in that it did not present any policy or provision contrary to the bill and was, in part, not relevant to the provisions of the bill.

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I thank honourable Members for their sound and sage advice relative to the amendment proposed by the honourable Member for Simcoe East (Mr. Rynard) and seconded by the honourable Member for Brandon-Souris (Mr. Dinsdale). The amendment, as has been mentioned by honourable Members who took part in the discussion, claims to be a reasoned amendment and as such must be judged by the principles which have been mentioned in the House previously on numerous occasions, particularly on August 30. At that time, when a reasoned amendment was proposed by the right honourable Leader of the Opposition (Mr. Diefenbaker), I expressed my views on the principles which must govern the acceptance of reasoned amendments. These principles are set out chiefly in May's seventeenth edition, page 527. This citation gives three different categories within which an amendment should fall. These are alternative categories within which the proposed amendment should fall.

As I have explained, if a reasoned amendment is not acceptable by virtue of the fact that it does not fall within the first of these categories, it can still be acceptable if it falls within the second or third category enumerated in May's seventeenth edition. This is the point which was made by the honourable Member for Kamloops (Mr. Fulton) and I am in full agreement with him. Even though the amendment is not declaratory of a principle adverse to or differing from the principles, policies or provisions of the bill, it can still be accepted if it falls within either of the other two categories.

I find on this ground that I cannot accept the objection raised by the Minister of National Health and Welfare (Mr. MacEachen) who raised the very important question of relevancy. This, of course, is a very serious objection inasmuch as the rule provides that all amendments, even reasoned amendments, are subject to the rule of relevancy. The requirement is that an amendment should be strictly relevant.

I have look at paragraphs (a), (b), (c) and (d) of the proposed motion, and looking at them objectively they certainly appear to me to be relevant to the bill. The claim made by the Minister was that paragraphs (c) and (d) are not strictly relevant inasmuch as at least one of these two is dealt with by the estimates of the Department of Industry. I would suggest to him that that is not sufficient reason to decide that the matter is not strictly relevant to the principle of the bill before us.

He also stated that paragraphs (c) and (d) are dealt with by other legislative amendments or proposals. On the other hand, I take it that if the honourable Member for Simcoe East (Mr. Rynard) promotes the acceptance of these principles, it must be because he feels that they are not included in other legislative proposals. I think that the word "adequate" which is used in paragraph (c) is particularly important. The honourable Member for Simcoe East may feel that some provision has been made for medical research, training adequate numbers of doctors and other medical personnel; but according to this amendment he is suggesting that these provisions are not adequate.

I would think it is a matter for argument whether the proposals made by the honourable Member for Simcoe East are or are not included in other legislative proposals or enactments. I would have to study these enactments to express an opinion. At that point I would take part in the debate myself if I were to study the enactments to which the Minister has referred in order to decide between his contention and the contention put forward by the honourable Member for Simcoe East. I do not think the Chair should be placed in that position. I will rule strictly on the point of order, not on the substance of the amendment. For this reason I believe I should accept the amendment.

I would stress again a point which I made before, namely that if there is any type of amendment on which it is extremely difficult to make a ruling it is these reasoned amendments, which are becoming more and more popular in the House and which create constant difficulties for the Chair.

I would suggest to the Minister and to the honourable Members that when there is at least a reasonable doubt in my mind—I am not suggesting that the argument of the Minister is totally wrong; I believe he made a very logical and intelligent argument—in such circumstances I should give the honourable Member who proposes the amendment the benefit of that doubt. Therefore, with respect to honourable Members, and particularly to the Minister who made such a strong argument in support of his point of view, I will accept the amendment and say that it is receivable at this time.

By unanimous consent, at 6.00 o'clock p.m. the sitting was suspended until 8.00 o'clock p.m. this day.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. MacEachen, seconded by Mr. Pickersgill,—That Bill C-227, An Act to authorize the payment of contributions by Canada towards the cost of insured medical care services incurred by provinces pursuant to provincial medical care insurance plans, be now read a second time.

And on the proposed amendment thereto of Mr. Rynard, seconded by Mr. Dinsdale,—That all the words after “That” be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

“this House, while of the opinion that provision should be made for medical services to be available to all Canadians at an adequate level on a pre-paid basis, is nevertheless of the further opinion that no legislation for the provision of insured medical care services in Canada will be satisfactory unless it:

(a) secures co-operation of the governments of the provinces of Canada;

(b) recognizes the principle of voluntary choice by the individual;

(d) immediately provides for those persons who are unable, for financial reasons, to provide medical services for themselves.”

And debate continuing;

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to “Motions”.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. McNulty, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. MacLean (Queens) be substituted for that of Mr. Chatterton on the Special Committee on Drug Costs and Prices.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

4. Second Class Mail

The problem of the loss suffered by the Post Office Department in the handling of mailings by publishers of newspapers and other periodicals (second class mail) has concerned the Committee for a number of years, the last recommendation on the subject having been in the Committee's Fourth Report 1963, presented to the House of Commons on December 19, 1963.

The Committee notes that whereas the Post Office Department's transactions recorded in the Post Office section of Volume II of the Public Accounts for the year ended March 31, 1965 showed an excess of revenue over expenditure of $20,030,000, this financial result did not take into account other expenditures estimated at $35.8 million and other revenues estimated at $4.3 million. If this unrecorded expenditure and revenue had been taken into the accounts, the operating deficit of the Post Office Department for the year ended March 31, 1965 would have been $11.5 million instead of the excess of revenue over expenditure, or surplus, shown at $20,030,000 for the year.

The Committee also notes that if the loss incurred by the Post Office Department from second class mail had been recaptured, it would have more than covered this operating deficit of $11.5 million for the 1965 fiscal year. In 1956-57 postal revenues from second class mail were $6 million, with the Post Office Department estimating the cost of handling it at $24 million. Seven years later, or in 1963-64, these revenues had increased to slightly over $8 million while the cost of handling it was estimated by the Post Office Department to have exceeded $43 million, resulting in a loss of $35 million. The Committee regretted that no figures were available on May 25, 1966 showing the size of losses incurred on second class mail in 1964-65 or in 1965-66.

The Committee feels that there is something wrong when no action has been taken with respect to, and apparently very little consideration given to, its recommendation on this matter. The Committee first drew the matter to the attention of the House in its Third Report 1958, and, while minor changes have been made, the annual loss has continued to increase and the Committee is of the opinion that sufficient consideration has not been given to the solution of this problem. It considers it essential that the Post Office Department or Parliament immediately find ways and means of covering the loss of the Post Office Department in handling second class mail without this being done at the expense of other classes of mail, keeping in mind however the need of assistance to small independently owned newspapers circulating in rural areas.

5. Departmental decision not to dismiss an employee

The Committee reviewed the action of the Department in rescinding the suspension of an employee who had falsified his accounts. The employee, having reached 60 years of age, was permitted to retire, with a consequent entitlement to an immediate annuity under the provisions of the Public Service Superannuation Act.

While appreciating that this action was taken by the Department on the understanding that the employee would reimburse the Crown for the amount of the deficiency in his accounts, and which he did, the Committee believes that the Department should have conformed to the requirements of the provisions of section 59(3)(a) of the Civil Service Act as a result of which the employee's entitlement to a superannuation benefit, other than a return of contributions, would have been conditional upon a decision of the Treasury Board.

6. Postage stamps destroyed

The Committee was disturbed to learn that approximately 53 million stamps costing $16,000 (printing costs) of a special 1964 Christmas issue of 412 million stamps had been destroyed because the Department overestimated the demand for these stamps which were dated "Christmas 1964".

Departmental officers assured the Committee that changes had been introduced designed to prevent similar losses in future.

7. Charges for Post Office lock boxes and bag service

The Committee noted that certain Post Office patrons with a heavy volume of mail had lock boxes rented although these would not hold all the mail being received and bag service was being provided to the patron without additional charge. Such patrons are thus being provided with a free service which is not available to other patrons and in some instances lock boxes are tied up which could be used by other patrons. The Committee understands that the Post Office Department has been trying to solve this problem and it insists that the Department expedite its efforts in this connection with a view to having patrons pay equally for services rendered to them and to releasing wherever possible lock boxes which are required by other patrons.

8. Post Office Savings Bank

The Committee noted that the Department was currently giving consideration to changes required in order that unclaimed balances in the accounts of the Post Office Savings Bank may be dealt with in a manner similar to that in which unclaimed balances in chartered banks are handled.

The Committee concurs in this action and insists that the Department bring the matter to a conclusion as soon as possible.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

9. Cost of little-used railway spur line, Pointe-au-Père, Quebec

The Committee tried to find out from officers of the Department of Public Works why that Department had proceeded with the construction of a railway spur line at a cost of $401,000, not including the cost of trackage for which an annual rental of $4,169 is payable to the Canadian National Railways by the Department of Transport.

The Committee was informed that the Department had asked the Canadian National Railways to provide the spur line at its own expense but that the C.N.R. had refused, stating that the expenditure could not be justified by the business which would result. Only four carloads were handled on the spur in 1962, none in 1963, seven in 1964, 25 in 1965, and 123 in May and June, 1966 because of the longshoremen's strike in the St. Lawrence ports. The Committee does not regard the increased use of the spur line in May and June, 1966 as being indicative of an increasing requirement for this facility.

The Committee is shocked that public money should be spent with so little concern for the value to be received. It is relieved to note that the Treasury Board policy has since been changed to require tracks at new wharves to be installed only at the request and expense of a railway with the railway determining whether the traffic involved would justify such consideration. The Committee insists that this policy be strictly adhered to in future.

10. Non-productive expenditures

In the course of its examination of the witnesses from the Department of Public Works, the Committee considered 44 cases set out in the 1964 and 1965 Reports of the Auditor General to the House. Most of these involved expenditures for which no benefit was received or dealt with costs which were regarded as excessive. The facts surrounding each case were reviewed in detail by the members of the Committee with the Deputy Minister and his officials for the purpose of learning the causes and reasons for each expenditure.

The causes underlying some of these cases show them to have been due to circumstances beyond the control of the Department of Public Works. On the other hand, evidence given at the meetings indicated other causes, namely failure by the Department to exercise normal commercial prudence in entering into contractual obligations and ineffective departmental specifications. It was also evident that in a number of instances additional costs had been incurred due to inadequate co-ordination both within the Department and between departments at various stages of construction. The Department was unable to pinpoint responsibility for many of the additional costs.

The Committee was concerned to find a further factor present in many of the cases, namely the seeming inability of the Department to resist pressures in settling borderline claims. The Committee feels the Department has emerged as an easy target for contractors and others with claims for special dispensation.

In light of the cases discussed and evidence taken, it is the opinion of the Committee that substantial savings of public funds could be achieved if the Department were to adopt a consistent and tougher line in resisting claims requesting special dispensation.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 9, 10 and 11) is appended.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 25 to the Journals).

And on the proposed amendment thereto of Mr. Rynard, seconded by Mr. Dinsdale,—That all the words after "That" be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

"this House, while of the opinion that provision should be made for medical services to be available to all Canadians at an adequate level on a pre-paid basis, is nevertheless of the further opinion that no legislation for the provision of insured medical care services in Canada will be satisfactory unless it:

JOURNALS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

The House resumed consideration of a point of privilege raised on Monday, October 17, 1966, by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona (Mr. Nugent) to the effect that statements in the Ottawa Journal of Saturday, October 15, 1966, attributed to the Honourable the Minister of National Defence impugned his very honour and integrity. The relevant part of the report in the Ottawa Journal being as follows:

"It is apparent that he [the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona] has had second thoughts and is now engaged in the complete 'back-off' which substantiates my contention that the charge was 'spurious' designed to damage my reputation rather than to get at the facts."

Mr. Nugent proposed to move,—That the Question of Privilege raised by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona this day (October 17th Hansard page 8715) together with the charge, formally made on Wednesday, October 15, 1966, Hansard page 8577, against the Minister of National Defence, the Honourable Paul Hellyer be referred to the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections to deal with and to inquire into the evidence and the witnesses before the Standing Committee on National Defence during this Session of Parliament, and the practices and procedures involving witnesses, and evidence in appearances before the said Committee, and in particular with regard to Admiral Landymore's appearance and evidence and should further report on the conduct and statements of the honourable Member and the Minister made in connection with this matter before this House and to the press.

And consideration of the point of privilege continuing;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: The honourable Member rose on a point of order claiming that there is a precedent or a citation which he can bring forward in support of his claim that he should be allowed to make some clarification of the statement made by the Minister. I have May's in front of me; the honourable Member can obtain the book from the Table. The honourable Member said that within one page of the citation that was quoted yesterday there is such a statement. I have the book before me but I certainly cannot find anything here to justify the claim made by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona.

Far from my trying to limit the honourable Member in his contention that he should be allowed to speak a second time on the question that he has raised, I think that he will admit and all honourable Members of the House will agree that I have been as lenient as possible.

The advice I received is that there is no precedent to justify the position which the honourable Member seeks to take now. I have looked at the citations. I am advised from the Table that there is nothing to support the contention advanced by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona. I must take my responsibilities and face the situation as it is.

And the honourable Member for Kamloops (the Honourable Mr. Fulton) having risen to speak on the question whether the proposed motion involved a prima facie question of privilege and also whether it was raised at the earliest possible moment;

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: If the honourable Member thinks that he has a question of order, then I will certainly allow him to speak on the point of order which he seeks to raise at this time. An alleged question of privilege was raised yesterday. The honourable Minister was allowed to make a statement. The honourable Member has suggested that he should be allowed to speak on the point of order and I would hear him.

And consideration of the point of order continuing;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: I thank honourable Members for their assistance in enlightening the Chair on the point of order. I thank the Minister of National Defence (Mr. Hellyer) for his ready acceptance of the suggestion I made yesterday to say a few words in explanation of the statement he is alleged to have made against the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona (Mr. Nugent).

As has been pointed out by the honourable Member for Kamloops (Mr. Fulton), there are two points before the Chair at the moment. One—and it is not an easy point for the Chair to decide—is whether the motion presented today by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona follows upon the question of privilege which he raised yesterday. I think in fairness to the Chair it should be pointed out that no motion was moved yesterday and that today the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona presented a motion which he submitted to the Chair. In my mind, looking at it very objectively, it certainly goes considerably beyond the scope of the limited question of privilege raised by the honourable Member. This is the essence or purport of the words,

Obviously, to my mind, this proposed motion is not limited to the point of privilege raised by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona. It seems to revive a point on which there already has been a ruling by the Chair. In looking at it, it obviously is the type of motion which the honourable Member might have wished to move as a substantive motion, the type of motion which I suggested to the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona he should have given some thought to last week and should not submit it to the Chair to accept as a privileged motion, and also suggesting to him that this is a matter of substance.

His motion actually is a motion of substance, but this is the second point. His argument would have to be considered and would be particularly relevant if I had ruled there was a prima facie case of privilege. The honourable Member said that because I referred to the question of motive the other day, I must conclude that the moment there is an imputation of motive there is automatically a question of privilege. I suggest to him that is drawing a rather wide conclusion. It is a very generous interpretation of the words I used the other day when I was trying to give a ruling.

The Minister is reported as having said that a charge against him is spurious and designed to damage his reputation. The honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona argued that the Minister's statement imputed an improper motive and concluded that his honour and integrity have been impugned. As I also mentioned a moment ago, if the statement of the Minister of National Defence had been uttered in the House in the course of debate and the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona had risen on a question of privilege to claim that these words were unparliamentary and that the Minister was imputing motives, well, this is done regularly, the Chair would have intervened, I suggest, and would have brought to the attention of the Minister that he has no right to impute motives. The Minister would have been given an opportunity to explain. Whether it should be explained to the satisfaction of the Member complaining or not is another thing.

If this statement had been uttered in the course of debate and the Member offended had not been satisfied by the explanation given by the Member, I wonder whether he would have considered the matter a question of privilege sufficient to send to the Committee on Privileges and Elections the conduct of the Member who uttered the words which allegedly would have offended another Member of the House.

What we have to conclude, I submit, is the seriousness of the alleged offence in order to decide whether or not there is a question of privilege. The honourable Member said that the statement made by the honourable Minister of National Defence impugned his very honour and integrity. I have some doubt about this. I suggest to the honourable Member that this is really the whole point; do the words spoken by the honourable Minister of National Defence in fact carry such a serious import or serious connotation that the very honour and integrity of the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona is impugned or that his integrity and his honour have been placed in question. He may feel they have, and some honourable Members may feel his honour and integrity have been placed in jeopardy. But it is the judgment of the Chair that has to be considered, and I must say that in my judgment the honourable Minister's words—in spite of the fact that the honourable Member may have been aggrieved and in spite of the fact that he may have a very serious grievance against the Minister for the words which were spoken as reported in the Ottawa Journal—did not impute an offence to him.

I suggest the offence is not so serious that it could be considered by this House as impugning the integrity and honesty of the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona to the extent that the Minister of National Defence should be asked to explain his conduct and explain his words before the Committee on Privileges and Elections. I understand from precedents that it is only on very rare occasions that words spoken either in debate or outside the House by a Member of this honourable House were investigated by the Committee on Privileges and Elections. I understand this may have happened only perhaps two or three times in some 20 or 25 years.

In all objectivity and in all fairness to the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona, to the Minister, and to Members of this House, I have looked at this matter, and to the best of my conscience I cannot see that these are words—recognizing the prima facie case of privilege—are such as would justify sending the matter to the Committee on Privileges and Elections. With regret for the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona and in a full appreciation of his difficult position, I must rule accordingly.

Mr. Macaluso, from the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications, presented the Eleventh Report of the said Committee, which was read as follows:

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. MacEachen, seconded by Mr. Pickersgill,—That Bill C-227, An Act to authorize the payment of contributions by Canada towards the cost of insured medical care services incurred by provinces pursuant to provincial medical care insurance plans, be now read a second time.

And on the proposed amendment thereto of Mr. Rynard, seconded by Mr. Dinsdale,—That all the words after “That” be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

“this House, while of the opinion that provision should be made for medical services to be available to all Canadians at an adequate level on a pre-paid basis, is nevertheless of the further opinion that no legislation for the provision of insured medical care services in Canada will be satisfactory unless it:

(a) secures co-operation of the governments of the provinces of Canada;

(c) makes adequate prior provision for sufficient medical research, the training of adequate numbers of doctors and other medical personnel; and

(d) immediately provides for those persons who are unable, for financial reasons, to provide medical services for themselves.”

And debate continuing;

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to “Motions”.

And after some time;

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL REVENUE

Customs and Excise Division

3. Full payment of duties under Customs Act

The Committee noted the action taken by the Department concerning the licensing and taxing of a coastal vessel which action was contrary to provisions of the Customs Act and the Canada Shipping Act.

In expressing its disapproval of the methods followed in this case and in particular the action of the Department in penalizing its own Collector for its failure to collect the duty in full and then causing the penalty to be remitted, the Committee considers that such action was irregular and undesirable in principle. The Committee is of the opinion that if departmental action of this kind is to be countenanced, then any section of any Act with respect to which there is a penalty within the meaning of section 22 of the Financial Administration Act could be circumvented simply by using the device of having a public officer deliberately contravene any such section and then remitting the penalty incurred by his unlawful act.

4. Departmental practices which lack statutory sanction

The Committee considers that a government department should not initiate or take any action that is not authorized by Parliament even though it contemplates that Parliament may eventually take action to provide that authority. It considers that the actions of government departments must be limited at all times to the legislative authority existing at the time the action is taken. When circumstances require that action be taken by Parliament, the steps necessary to initiate such action should be taken promptly.

In its Eighth Report 1964 the Committee recommended that four practices being followed by the Customs and Excise Division should receive statutory sanction if they are to be continued. The Committee is pleased to note that two of these practices, namely release of goods under customs collector's permission and duties and taxes on surplus United States Government property sold in Canada, were given statutory sanction by amendments to the Customs Act approved by the House in 1965.

The Committee is most disturbed that no attention has been paid to its 1964 recommendations and reiterates the following recommendations which were included in its Eighth Report 1964:

(i) Sales of goods unclaimed at Customs—

That the practice of the Department in waiving all or part of whatever storage charges are applicable in order that at least the duties may be recovered be given statutory sanction by means of an appropriate amendment to section 23 of the Customs Act.

(ii) Determination of 'sale price' for sales tax purposes—

That an amendment be made to the Excise Tax Act designed to give statutory sanction to the existing scheme of valuation followed by the Department of National Revenue in authorizing manufacturers by regulation to compute the sales tax on less than the actual sale price.

The Committee's attention was drawn to yet another practice of the Department which lacked statutory sanction. This involves the refund of duty paid on goods diverted to use other than that for which they were imported and the Committee was informed that it was the practice of the Department to consider the original payment as "duty paid in error". The Committee agree with the view of the Auditor General that the authority conferred by section 43 of the Customs Act is not intended to be used with respect to the deliberate diversion of imported goods to use other than that declared at the time of their entry. The Committee recommends that an amendment be made to the Customs Act to give statutory sanction to the practice of the Department of granting refunds of duty in cases where goods were entered under an item of the tariff, upon payment of duty at the rate applicable to such goods, and subsequently diverted to a use which would have entitled them to entry under a different tariff item had they then been imported.

5. Possible loss of revenue when goods lose tax-exempt status

The Committee noted the manner in which the Customs and Excise Division places on owners and importers the onus for reporting any duty or tax which might become payable on non-tax paid equipment or goods. The Department maintains no control on such goods and consequently it is possible for equipment or goods to lose tax-exempt status without this coming to the attention of the Department, in which case there would be a loss of revenue to the Crown.

The Committee urges the Department to strengthen its procedures wherever possible so as to minimize any possible loss of revenue to the Crown.

6. Drawback paid on goods destroyed after release from Customs

The Committee was concerned to note that it had been the practice of the Department to recommend to the Governor-in-Council that duty, drawbacks or remissions be made on goods "destroyed in Canada at the expense of the owner under Customs supervision" when section 22(6) of the Financial Administration Act, as amended, directs: "No tax paid to Her Majesty on any goods shall be remitted by reason only that after the payment of the tax and after release from the control of customs or excise officers, the goods were lost or destroyed."

The Governor-in-Council has since revoked the Department's regulation in the case which was discussed on June 2, 1966 where a refund of $2,525 was made by the Department, representing a 90% drawback of customs duty paid on imported machinery which, after duties were paid and after release from Customs but before actual use, was damaged beyond repair by fire in the warehouse of the importer. The Committee is of the opinion that the Department should adopt a stricter attitude towards request for refunds and remissions based on circumstances which lie outside of normal business practice.

7. Loss on disposal of Crown-owned properties

The Committee was concerned to note that the Department disposed of various Crown-owned properties costing $143,000 in 1950-54 at Pigeon River, Ontario, for $8,145 in 1963 and that houses built at Coutts, Alberta, in 1953 at a cost of $61,000 were sold for $16,200 in 1964-65.

In the case of the houses at Pigeon River, the Committee is convinced that the requirement that the houses be moved was a factor contributing to the low price obtained. The Committee was not impressed with the reasons given by the Department for declaring the houses surplus and retaining the land to be declared surplus after the houses had been sold for removal. It is the opinion of the Committee that the Department should have declared both houses and land surplus at the same time.

The Department advised the Committee that the dwellings at Coutts were declared surplus to requirements because of the policy expressed in Treasury Board letter of May 9, 1964 (T.B. 626000) that where government employees are no longer required to live at sites where there are government houses, "these dwellings are now surplus to requirements and should be disposed of since the Crown has no business in competing with private landlords in the rental business and the costs of administration and maintenance often exceed the low rentals collected."

The Committee does not consider that this policy directive contemplated or necessitated a 70% capital loss being taken by the Department. That there was no urgency is evident from the fact that two of the four houses were purchased by customs officers employed at the Port of Coutts and who had previously rented houses from the Department. The Committee intends to pursue this matter with Crown Assets Disposal Corporation.

8. Tax exemptions for particular groups

Parliament from time to time grants exemptions from sales tax and/or other taxes to institutions such as hospitals or schools and groups of consumers such as loggers, farmers, etc. In the course of discussion with departmental officers and the Auditor General, there were indications that in some cases the benefits of such tax exemptions are enjoyed by those whom Parliament had not intended to assist. The Committee is aware that special exemptions increase the complexities of administering the tax law but, nevertheless, it feels that the laws must be administered so as to ensure that exemptions granted by Parliament are applied only in the way Parliament intended.

The Committee urges the Department in its administration of special exemptions always to see to it that the benefits from these exemptions go to, and only to, those for whom Parliament intended them.

9. Customs and Excise laboratory

The Committee discussed with departmental officers the adoption of a tariff of fees to be charged for professional services rendered to importers and exporters by the Customs and Excise laboratory.

The Department expressed the view that as the laboratory was required for the work of the Department it did not consider that charges should be made even though exporters and importers did benefit from its work.

The Committee agrees with the statement made by the Treasury Board in its Management Improvement Policy circular No. MI-4-66 of April 28, 1966 that it should be departmental policy wherever economically and administratively feasible to charge for all goods supplied or services rendered to the public, including those now supplied free, unless there are provisions for specific exemption. The Committee feels that in the case of appeals the Department should follow the usual practice of requiring that an appeal be accompanied by a fee to be returned if the appeal is sustained.

The Committee recommends that the Department review its laboratory operations in line with the Treasury Board's objective of promoting the earning of non-tax revenue and that it institute a tariff of fees for services rendered for the benefit of exporters and/or importers designed to cover the cost of providing those services. If the Department, after reviewing its laboratory activities, is still of the opinion that establishment of a tariff of fees is not warranted, the Committee recommends that it lay the facts before the Treasury Board seeking the Board's approval for the continuation of the laboratory as a free service.

10. Sight entries

In paragraph 98 of his 1965 Report the Auditor General drew the attention of the House of Commons to section 24 of the Customs Act, R.S., c.58, and expressed the opinion that the requirements of this section were not being carried out in that the Department was granting importers extensions of time in which to complete custom entries after the time originally granted for this purpose had expired.

When asked to comment on the Auditor General's observation a departmental officer present informed the Committee that the Department of Justice had been consulted and had expressed the opinion that the Deputy Minister of National Revenue can authorize extensions either before the expiration of the time limit or after its expiration. This was the first indication that the Auditor General had had that there had been any legal opinion given with respect to this matter and as the Department did not make an opinion available, the Committee had to leave the matter unresolved.

At a later meeting the Auditor General explained to the Committee that there was in fact no written opinion of the Department of Justice and that the statement had been made by the departmental officer on the strength of a verbal opinion expressed by an officer of the Department of Justice to departmental appraisers.

The time of the Committee is wasted when conflicting or inaccurate information is given to it. In this case it considers the Department to have been at fault in not having advised the Auditor General that it had legal advice supporting the practice being followed and in leading the Committee to believe that a formal opinion of the Department of Justice was available when in fact this was not so.

The Committee requests all departments concerned with comments in the Auditor General's Report to see to it that the Auditor General is provided with full information concerning any matter reported on by him.

At the request of the Auditor General a written opinion of the Department of Justice has since been obtained, which has confirmed the Auditor General's view that the Act precludes any extension of the time appointed by the Collector after that time has expired. The Committee understands that the departmental practice has now been discontinued.

11. Loss of excise tax

The Committee noted how, two years after repeal of the excise tax on automobiles in 1961, press reports had disclosed how an automobile dealer, who had received refund of tax based on certification of his car inventories, had in fact overstated his car inventories in order to deceive the car manufacturer who was financing the inventories.

The Committee was concerned to note that, when these disclosures became public knowledge, the Department made no attempt to recover the excise tax refunded on the cars which the dealer had fictitiously reported as being in his inventories at the time the refund was made. The Committee was unanimous, that this failure to act cannot be condoned and that in future the officials responsible should be called to account.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 12 and 13) is appended.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 26 to the Journals).

HOUSE OF COMMONS

PRAYERS.

STATEMENT BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: On Thursday last the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona (Mr. Nugent) rose on what he termed a question of personal privilege which he said affected not only himself but other honourable Members, arising out of an article published in Le Droit on October 14 last. The honourable Member said that the article imputes an improper motive to himself and that it is a gross distortion of the facts. He then gave notice of a motion that Mr. Marcel Pepin be called before the Bar of this House to be dealt with as having breached our privileges.

As honourable Members know, the article in question was read into the record by the Clerk of the House, after which I asked the House to give me an opportunity to analyze the article in question and to study the motion proposed by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona.

(The English translation of the said article in "Le Droit" being as follows):

SOME ADMIRALS WANT TO PRESERVE THE ANGLO-PROTESTANT CHARACTER OF THE NAVY

By MARCEL PEPIN

Certain retired admirals have vowed that the navy would remain what it has always been, that is, British and Protestant. The Conservative outburst of passion against Mr. Paul Hellyer, Minister of National Defence is the work of two retired admirals who have not swallowed the appointment of General Jean-V. Allard as head of the integrated forces, with full authority over the navy.

That explanation was given to us by no other than an English-speaking military man, well aware of the situation.

The two rebels are Rear Admiral William Landymore, dismissed by Mr. Hellyer for insubordination, and his predecessor, Admiral Brock.

The latter directed from the public gallery the attack of the Conservative member Terry Nugent against the hon. Mr. Hellyer, Wednesday.

Not only did he make signs to the member, but he also sent him messages during the debate. Witnesses have stated that Admiral Brock, who has been retired for three years, made a negative sign when Mr. Hellyer called on Mr. Nugent to put his seat at stake by making a specific charge of improper conduct.

Our informant maintains that half a dozen superior navy officers have been plotting at the Chester Club in Halifax since the appointment of General Allard.

The Chester Club, a classical WASP (White Anglo-Saxon Protestant) style institution, groups retired admirals or other officers of the navy whose mission it is to keep the navy British in character.

The appointment of General Allard and the replacement of Rear-Admiral Landymore by Rear-Admiral O'Brien, an Irish Catholic, has angered the defenders of the bastion.

The counter-revolution finally reached the House of Commons. Messrs. Landymore and Brock have been haunting the corridors of parliament for the last two days, and they spend their evenings with Conservative members of parliament, engaged in perfecting a strategy to make the government retreat.

Even if it is sometimes painful to change at a single stroke the spirit of a body as closed as the Royal Canadian Navy, the Department of National Defence is quite determined to win the battle.

Heretofore, no French Canadian could make his way in the navy, but nobody ever decreed that the naval defence of this country was the exclusive privilege of Anglo-Saxons, explained our informant.

"It is not by voting resolutions recognizing the equality between the two groups that Canada will come out of the current crisis uninjured, but by crushing reactionary forces in facts. We in the Defence Department are ready to do our part," concluded our informant.

As far as I have been able to ascertain, there have been only two cases in the history of the Canadian House of Commons when journalists, whose conduct has been complained of by honourable Members, have actually been brought to the Bar. The first case arose in 1873 and is referred to in the Journals of the House of Commons for that year at page 133. The second case is the well-known attack on a Member of this House by Mr. E. E. Cinq-Mars in 1906.

A cursory consideration of the facts in both these precedents shows that they were cases of flagrantly libelous allusions to Members of the House.

Earlier today in my chambers I discussed with the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona this aspect of his motion and I brought to his attention the following annotation contained at page 466, volume 28 of Halsbury's Laws of England, third edition, which reads as follows: "It is now the usual practice of the House of Commons to refer complaint of breach of privilege or contempt to the Committee of Privileges for investigation and report before summoning an offender to the Bar."

And later on: "a flagrant and obvious contempt would still however be considered by the House itself without reference to the Committee of Privileges."

In the light of all the circumstances the honourable Member has agreed that perhaps the motion might be changed, and since a motion can be amended by an honourable Member at any time before it is formally put to the House, I suggest there is no procedural obstacle to the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona being allowed to alter the proposed motion, the one of which he gave notice last week, and I suggest to honourable Members that he might be given an opportunity of doing this now.

Whereupon the Honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona (Mr. Nugent) proposed to move,—That the question of breach of privilege raised on Thursday, October 20, 1966, by the Hon. Member for Edmonton-Strathcona, dealing with an article in Le Droit, Ottawa, Friday, October 14, 1966, under the by-line of Marcel Pepin, (English Hansard page 8890) be referred to the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections for investigation and report.

And a point of order having been raised and considered as to the admissibility of the said proposed motion;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

MR. SPEAKER: I thank honourable Members for the comments they have made to assist the Chair in reaching a decision. It is obvious from the comments we have heard there is a difference of opinion between the Members, and this justifies in my mind the difficulty I have had in reaching a decision. The Minister of Public Works has pointed to a difficulty when he says that there should be something perhaps specific in the motion from the article complained of. My understanding of the honourable Member's complaint, on the basis of his motion, is that it is a question of personal privilege. The privilege is based on these sentences in the article:

(Translation)

The latter directed from the public gallery the attack of the Conservative member Terry Nugent against the hon. Mr. Hellyer, Wednesday.

Not only did he make signs to the member, but he also sent him messages during the debate. Witnesses have stated that Admiral Brock, who has been retired for three years, made a negative sign when Mr. Hellyer called on Mr. Nugent to put his seat at stake by making a specific charge of improper conduct.

The honourable Member's contention is that his personal privileges are adversely affected when the suggestion is made that he is not speaking on his own behalf but he is being directed by someone outside the House in the charges he was making at the time he proposed his original question of privilege. I might add that the precedent to which the honourable Member for Edmonton West has referred, that is the 1962 case to which I will allude in a few minutes, concluded by a reference of not only certain parts of the article but the whole article to the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections.

The motion presented by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona has now been changed. I read it into the record a moment ago. Although it has not been put formally to the House, it purports to have the matter complained of referred to the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections. I should like to quote from Beauchesne's fourth edition, citation 104(5): "As a motion taken at the time for matters of privilege is thereby given precedence over the prearranged program of public business, the Speaker requires to be satisfied, both that there is a prima facie case that a breach of privilege has been committed, and also that the matter is being raised at the earliest opportunity."

The above citation will also be found in May's seventeenth edition, page 377. At page 248 of the same edition of May, we read the following: "Under usage when a complaint of breach of privilege is raised he [this refers to Mr. Speaker] has to decide whether a prima facie case has been made out which would justify such proceedings taking precedence over the other business of the House."

The Speaker's function is not to decide whether a breach of privilege has been committed because this question can only be decided by the House itself.

The role of the Speaker is limited—and this has been pointed out by the honourable Member for Edmonton West—to deciding, on a question of order raised, whether (a) the complaint has been raised early enough, and (b) if it can reasonably be held to be of the nature of a breach of privilege so as to give priority to the matter.

Has the matter been raised at the earliest opportunity? The article was published on Friday, October 14 and the question of privilege was raised only on the following Thursday, October 20. Some may hold the view—although this objection was not taken in the course of the argument that we had earlier today—that the matter was not raised at the first opportunity. However, I have taken into account the explanation and the reasons for such delay, given by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona last Thursday and I do not think that his complaint should be set aside on that particular ground.

The matter remaining to be decided by the Chair is not, I insist again, whether a breach of privilege has been committed or whether there is a prima facie case that can reasonably be submitted to the House for adjudication. In citation 113 of his fourth edition, Beauchesne refers to libels upon Members and aspersions upon them in relation to Parliament as breaches of the privileges of the Members. At page 303 of Bourinot's fourth edition we read as follows: "In the Canadian House, questions of privilege take a wide range, but it may be stated in general terms that they refer to all matters affecting the rights and immunities of the House collectively, or to the position and conduct of Members in their representative character."

He places in this category reflections or libels in books and newspapers on the House or Members thereof.

May deals with breaches of privilege or contempt in chapter VIII of his seventeenth edition. At page 124 he specifically refers to reflections on Members in the following terms: "Analogous to molestation of Members on account of their behaviour in Parliament are speeches and writings reflecting upon their conduct as Members."

If we look for relevant precedents with special reference to the action or remedy now proposed by the aggrieved Member in the revised motion to which he has spoken today, we must consider two recent cases where the conduct of journalists was questioned by way of privilege. The first one, to which the honourable Member for Edmonton West has alluded and in which he took a very active part at the time, was when on November 29, 1962, the honourable Member for Mégantic raised a question of privilege relative to a newspaper article critical of a parliamentary delegation. Mr. Speaker Lambert, after taking the motion under advisement, ruled as reported at page 2132 of Hansard: "the Chair has come to the opinion that there is a prima facie case of privilege. It is then up to the House, under the circumstances, to determine what shall be done."

Then on June 18, 1964 a question of privilege was raised by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona in respect to a complaint about an article in the Ottawa Citizen which he represented contained what he termed wholesale attacks on all Members of the House. In his ruling my immediate predecessor, Mr. Speaker Macnaughton, expressed the following view, as reported at page 4434 of Hansard: "It seems to me that if this editorial referred in general terms to Members of Parliament none of us, I suppose, would be so thin-skinned that we could not accept some rather healthy criticism, but this editorial does cite the name of one honourable Member once or twice, together with someone who is not a Member. In other words it focuses attention on a certain Member, and to that degree in a not very favourable light."

Later on: "it is for the House to decide whether there is a breach of privilege but it is for me to decide whether there is a prima facie case".

In both instances the Speaker allowed the motion to be put to the House.

Taking into account the opinion of the authority I have quoted, and in the light of the precedents to which I have just referred, is the question of privilege which was raised last Thursday by the honourable Member for Edmonton-Strathcona a prima facie case of privilege? It may be held that the article complained of contains certain imputations and reflections. If so, are these imputations and reflections of such a nature that the Speaker is justified in deciding that a prima facie case of privilege exists?

Doubts arise in my mind as to whether or not that is so. In considering this matter I ask myself: What is the duty of the Speaker in cases of doubt? If we take into consideration that at the moment the Speaker is not asked to render a decision as to whether or not the article complained of constitutes a breach of privilege—a responsibility which rests with the House alone—but rather that he has to decide on a mere point of order, and considering also that the Speaker is the guardian of the rules, rights and privileges of the House and of its Members and that he cannot deprive them of such privileges when there is uncertainty in his mind—more especially when the motion presented to him would have the effect of seeking some clarification—I think that at this preliminary stage of the proceedings the doubt which I have in my mind should be interpreted to the benefit of the Member. For these reasons I think I should accept the motion.

Whereupon, Mr. Nugent, seconded by Mr. Jorgenson, moved,—That the question of breach of privilege raised on Thursday, October 20, 1966, by the Hon. Member for Edmonton-Strathcona, dealing with an article in Le Droit, Ottawa, Friday, October 14, 1966, under the by-line of Marcel Pepin, (English Hansard page 8890) be referred to the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections for investigation and report.

After debate thereon, the question being put on the said motion, it was negatived on the following division:

Mr. Hales, from the Standing Committee on Public Accounts, presented the Sixth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

1. The following is a further report on the work done by your Committee and relates to the meetings held on June 9 and June 14, 1966 at which the following officers were in attendance:

from the Department of National Defence:

Mr. E. B. Armstrong, Deputy Minister
 Brigadier W. J. Lawson, Judge Advocate General
 Lieut. Colonel L. L. England, Judge Advocate General's Office
 Mr. O. D. Turner, Assistant Director of Finance—Domestic from the Department of Defence Production:

Mr. G. W. Hunter, Deputy Minister
 Mr. S. I. Comach, Deputy Director, Electrical and Electronics Branch
 Mr. S. A. Radley, Electrical and Electronics Branch
 Mr. E. O. Smith, Control Systems
 Mr. R. W. Andrews, Ammunition Division, Machinery Branch
 Mr. E. P. Loveridge, Mechanical Transport Branch from Defence Construction (1951) Limited:

Mr. A. G. Bland, President

Mr. A. M. Henderson, Auditor General
 Mr. George Long, Assistant Auditor General
 Mr. J. R. Douglas, Audit Director
 Mr. H. E. Hayes
 Mr. J. M. Laroche
 Mr. H. B. Rider

2. In the course of its meetings your Committee gave consideration to:

- (a) the action, or lack of action, by departments as a result of previous recommendations made by the Committee;
- (b) the following paragraphs in the Reports of the Auditor General relating to the Department of National Defence:

	For the fiscal year ended
	March 31, 1964	March 31, 1965
Comments on Expenditure and Revenue Transactions	56, 60 to 66 inc. 92(1)	75, 77, 83 to 86 inc., 140
Non-Productive Payments	Appendix 2, Nos. 2 to 9

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL DEFENCE

3. Failure to collect moneys owing to the Crown

The Committee was concerned to note the circumstances under which medical fees totalling $4,053 were improperly retained in 1961 and 1962 by an Air Force medical officer. Although the officer was found guilty of conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, reprimanded and fined in March, 1963, no action was taken by the Department at that time to recover the amount improperly retained. Neither was this attempted by the Department six months later when the officer asked for and was given his discharge. The Committee noted that the matter was not referred to the Department of Justice until August, 1964 which led to $2,500 being collected from the ex-officer in settlement of his liability under the case.

Based on its examination of the circumstances involved in this case, the Committee is of the opinion that the Department failed to take prompt administrative action in protecting the Crown's interest. It trusts that the example of this case will result in more expeditious action in the future.

4. Pension awards effective at early age

In view of the potential savings of public money involved, the Committee gave consideration to this problem in 1963 when it asked the Department of National Defence to consider the advisability of introducing deferred pensions for servicemen similar to those available to civilian employees.

The Minister of National Defence advised the Committee in 1965 that "no decision has been taken on possible amendments to the Canadian Forces Superannuation Act pending the completion of studies undertaken following the decision to integrate the Forces which will have a bearing on those decisions". The Deputy Minister advised the Committee on June 9, 1966 that while the studies are almost complete, it will take considerable time to examine them and to come to conclusions, after which decisions will be taken on what changes, if any, would be desirable in the pension arrangements.

The Committee requests the Auditor General to continue to keep the Members of the House informed on the progress being made in the introduction of deferred pension benefits for servicemen retiring at the comparatively early ages now in effect.

5. Discretionary awards of Service pensions

The Committee continues to be concerned regarding the considerations and criteria employed by the Department in establishing reason for release of servicemen and for the making of discretionary awards of Service pensions.

The Deputy Minister advised the Committee on June 9, 1966 that a study had been instituted as to the need for the Pension Board to review the cases and determine reasons for retirement. He said that the study had been stopped when it became evident that the Department might have to review the whole of its pension arrangements following integration. However, he indicated that it is planned to review the matter further.

The Committee remains of the opinion that it is desirable that entitlement to all pensions be specific and requests the Auditor General to continue to keep the Members of the House informed of the progress being made by the Department toward revising the present system.

6. Expenditure for which little or no value received

At its meetings on June 9th and June 14th, the Committee considered eleven specific cases of expenditure where little or no value was received by the Crown for the funds expended which together amounted to a figure in excess of $17 million. The Committee discussed the eleven cases individually with witnesses from the Department of National Defence, the Department of Defence Production and from Defence Construction (1951) Limited.

It is not the wish of the Committee to single out any specific case, although in the matter of the Bomb Toss Computer it does recognize how equipment of this type can become obsolete even before it is ever put into use. The Committee does, however, wish to record that some of these cases demonstrate weakness in financial management. In some, the non-productive costs were the result of improper specifications having been received from other military authorities. Such costs also resulted from changes in policy and in other cases from changes in design following the award of a contract or during the course of construction. An example of non-productive costs incurred due to improper specifications is that of the signal flares which the Department of Defence Production wished to have produced in Canada. Drawings and specifications were obtained from the United States and it gradually became evident that design changes must have been authorized to the United States manufacturer and that the United States drawings had not been corrected to remove the inaccuracies. The Canadian contractor lost over 530 working days due to the processing of some 27 design changes and the associated testing of materials and components. This resulted in the quantity ordered being reduced from 7,500 to 4,920 flares and payment to the contractor of $28,868 more than the initial firm price of $54,304 quoted for the production of 7,500 flares.

In a number of cases where claims were made by contractors for charges over and above the agreed upon price, officers of the departments have not demonstrated the resistance that the Committee believes the taxpayers of Canada have a right to expect from their public servants. The Committee is of the opinion that the Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence relating to these cases should be closely studied by officials of the departments and the Treasury Board in order to find ways in which financial management can be improved and costly delays avoided.

The Committee reiterates the request it made to the Auditor General a number of years ago concerning this type of loss, namely that in his future annual Reports to the House of Commons the Auditor General continue to include listings of all non-productive payments coming to his notice in the course of his audit. It expresses the hope that the Auditor General can continue the practice introduced in 1965 of furnishing the underlying reasons in the major cases, particularly where the circumstances of the non-productive payment appeared to be beyond the control of the department or agency against whose appropriation it was charged. In the opinion of the Committee, this should enable closer study to be given to the individual cases both by those responsible and by the Members of the House and of the Public Accounts Committee.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 14 and 15) is appended.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 28 to the Journals).

The following Notices of Motions having been called were transferred to Government Orders for consideration later this day or at the next sitting of the House pursuant to Standing Order 21(2):

That the Standing Committee on Privileges and Elections be empowered to study the Canada Elections Act and to report to the House such proposals as the Committee may deem advisable.—The Secretary of State.

That the White Paper on Broadcasting (1966) tabled on July fourth last be referred to the Standing Committee on Broadcasting, Films and Assistance to the Arts.—The Secretary of State.

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. MacEachen, seconded by Mr. Pickersgill,—That Bill C-227, An Act to authorize the payment of contributions by Canada towards the cost of insured medical care services incurred by provinces pursuant to provincial medical care insurance plans, be now read a second time.

And debate continuing;

By unanimous consent, at 7.00 o'clock p.m. the sitting was suspended until 8.00 o'clock p.m. this day.

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1966.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Gray, from the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs, presented the Fourteenth Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

In accordance with its Order of Reference of March 22, 1966, your Committee has considered the items listed in the Main Estimates for 1966-67 relating to the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Your Committee has held nine meetings from May 17 to July 5, 1966, and has heard the following witnesses: The Honourable Robert H. Winters, Minister of Trade and Commerce; Mr. J. C. Cantin, Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister; Messrs. J. H. Warren, Deputy Minister; T. R. G. Fletcher and Dennis Harvey, Assistant Deputy Ministers; L. J. Rodger, Comptroller-Secretary; R. E. Latimer, Director, Office of Trade Relations; V. J. Macklin, Director, Economics Branch; Dan Wallace, Director, Canadian Government Travel Bureau; R. W. McLean, Director, and G. E. Anderson, Assistant Director, Standards Branch, all of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Your Committee has noted with concern Canada's imbalance on current external transactions and the strong likelihood from the evidence given that not only will this imbalance not diminish in the near future but that the deficit may further increase. Your Committee therefore recommends that government and industry make every effort to stimulate exports and to bring about a lesser reliance on imports through the development of the Canadian economy.

Your Committee has noted with approval a continuing high level of activity by Canada's trade commissioner service to stimulate external trade and commends the plans of the department to continue an aggressive programme of export promotion.

On May 31, 1966, in accordance with its Order of Reference of May 26, 1966, your Committee travelled to Montreal for the purpose of visiting the site and examining officials of Expo 67, and heard as its chief witnesses the following officials of the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition: R. F. Shaw, Deputy Commissioner and Vice-President; A. G. Kniewasser, General Manager; J. C. Delorme, Secretary and General Counsel; Yves Jasmin, Public Relations; G. F. G. Hughes, Business Development Bureau; P. de Gaspé Beaubien, Director of Operations; G. D. Redikér, Director, Finance and Administration; E. Fiset, Chief Architect; R. Letendre, Exhibitors' Department; B. Bowen, Installations Department; and T. Wood, Creative Director, Canadian Government Pavilion.

Your Committee, from the evidence given at the time of its visit, was impressed with the general efficiency of administration of Expo 67; at the same time, it recommends that the government should be prepared to give additional financial support where it is demonstrated that such support is necessary to ensure the success of Expo 67.

On June 30 and July 5, 1966, your Committee studied the estimates of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and heard as witnesses Messrs. Walter E. Duffett, Dominion Statistician; H. L. Allen, Assistant Dominion Statistician (Administration); D. L. Ralston, Census Division; V. R. Berlinguette, Director, Industry Division; F. F. Harris, Director, Health and Welfare Division; and D. A. Traquair, Administrator, Corporations and Labour Unions Returns Act.

In connection with the latter Act, your Committee noted certain statutory difficulties being encountered in obtaining the type of information required from labour unions. Your Committee recommends that an appropriate amendment to the Act be introduced in order to permit the Bureau to obtain the required returns from locals or branches of the labour unions as well as from the parent bodies.

Your Committee commends to the House for its approval the Main Estimates, 1966-67, of the Department of Trade and Commerce (including Canadian Government Participation in the 1967 World Exhibition), and those of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 6 to 11 inclusive and Nos. 13 and 15) is appended.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 29 to the Journals).

The foregoing Items of the Estimates stand referred to the Committee of Supply pursuant to Standing Order 57.

Mr. Gray, from the Standing Committee on Finance, Trade and Economic Affairs, presented the Fifteenth Report of the said Committee which is as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

3. Loans and advances representing grants to Crown corporations

The Committee gave consideration to loans and advances made to Crown corporations which do not have the means to repay them or to pay interest on them unless Parliament appropriates funds for them to use for these purposes. It noted that such amounts are treated and described as loans and advances to Crown corporations, i.e., revenue-producing assets, on the Statement of Assets and Liabilities of Canada.

In its Fourth Report 1963 and Sixth Report 1964 the Committee had expressed the view that since outlays on properties such as those held by the National Capital Commission are expenditures of the Crown rather than income-producing investments, it would be more realistic were Parliament asked to appropriate the funds in the years in which properties, which are not specifically held for resale, are to be acquired, instead of leaving the expenditure involved in the repayment of loans to be absorbed in future years. It requested the Department of Finance to review the existing practice with the National Capital Commission with a view to placing the financing on a more realistic basis.

The Committee is disturbed to learn that not only was no such review undertaken by the Department of Finance in the case of the National Capital Commission but that the practice criticized by the Committee was continued and further extended by the Department in 1965 when the House was asked to approve loans aggregating $14,250,000 to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to finance capital requirements which in the past were financed by grants charged to budgetary expenditure. The Committee noted that in the estimates submitted to Parliament for the operating requirements of this Corporation, funds to pay interest and repay principal on these loans are also included. As a consequence, Parliament is being asked to vote money twice for the same purpose.

In the opinion of the Committee, expenditures of this type are not loans or advances which can or should be regarded as revenue-producing assets but are in fact grants and should be charged directly to budgetary expenditure in the Public Accounts of Canada. The Committee is glad to note the undertaking of the Department of Finance to review and discuss the accounting treatment involved with the Auditor General and will expect the latter's report thereon in due course.

4. Advances to Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition

The Committee took note of the circumstances under which the Government of Canada is purchasing securities issued by the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition and guaranteed by Canada and by Quebec. It noted that since the initial grants of $40 million, of which $20 million was provided by Canada under the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition Corporation Act, were fully paid over to the Corporation in 1965, the Corporation's needs have been financed almost exclusively by issuance of these securities, all of which have been purchased by Canada.

The Committee recommends that amendments to the existing legislation be placed before Parliament and the Legislature of the Province of Quebec so that the additional grants required can be made by the parties concerned, namely Canada, Quebec and the City of Montreal. The Committee directs the attention of the House to the fact that unless these additional grants are provided, the Corporation's presently estimated total requirement of $143 million (less $40 million already provided by Canada, Quebec and Montreal) will have been financed by loans from Canada and the Corporation will be burdened with the cost of additional interest and at the conclusion of the Exhibition will not have the cash resources necessary for payment of its indebtedness to Canada.

5. Indirect compensation to chartered banks

In its Fourth Report 1963 and Sixth Report 1964 the Committee advised the House that the arrangement existing between the chartered banks and the Government of Canada constitutes indirect compensation to the chartered banks and that this may be construed as being contrary to the intent of section 93(1) of the Bank Act.

The Committee again reiterates its belief that if the banks are to be compensated for services provided to the Crown, consideration should be given to the most equitable manner in which this may be done, with statutory sanction being given by means of an appropriate amendment to the Bank Act.

The Committee has noted that notwithstanding this recommendation, Bill C-222, An Act respecting Banks and Banking, given first reading on July 7, 1966, includes a provision under subclause (2) of clause 93 designed to permit the continuation of the practice of compensating the banks indirectly for services provided to the Crown by keeping non-interest bearing funds (currently an aggregate of $100 million) on deposit with them.

In the opinion of the Committee the proposed amendment does not meet the recommendation of the Committee and it requests the Department of Finance to provide to the Committee an explanation as to why it considers that an amount of $100 million should be left on deposit with the chartered banks free of interest, and why, if it considers that the chartered banks should be compensated for the service provided by them to the Government, it has not recommended that subsection (1) of section 93 of the Bank Act be amended to permit this, and also what other means of compensating the banks for services rendered were considered and the reasons why they are being discarded.

6. Errors in Public Service Superannuation Account pension and contribution calculations

In its Sixth Report 1964 the Committee again expressed concern that this matter (first drawn to the attention of the Department of Finance by the Auditor General seven years ago in 1959) which it regards as being very serious, was taking so long to be corrected.

The Committee was advised by the Comptroller of the Treasury that immediate steps were being taken to provide that the internal auditing procedures of the Superannuation Branch include an examination of the employee's contributions in relation to his salary and the documents on file along the lines recommended by the Auditor General.

The Committee understands that the introduction of this particular check should eliminate the majority of the errors and requests the Auditor General to continue to keep it fully informed on this matter.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

7. Prairie Farm Emergency Fund

The Committee noted the findings and recommendations of the Auditor General arising from his examination of the transactions under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act in 1964 and 1965 and that they generally commend themselves to the Prairie Farm Assistance Administration.

The Committee believes it is important that the matters referred to by the Auditor General be rectified and recommends that appropriate legislation be introduced as soon as possible. It requests the Auditor General to keep the matter before the House and the Committee.

8. Security for recoverable grants

The Committee noted that where a portion of a grant or subsidy paid for construction purposes is repayable to the Crown under certain conditions, it has not been the practice of the Department of Agriculture to protect the Crown's equity by means of a mortgage on the property or by security in any other form.

The Committee recommends that the Crown obtain security for the recoverable portion of such grants, preferably in the form of a first mortgage. The members were pleased to learn from the Deputy Minister of Agriculture that he concurs in the desirability of such an arrangement and that he will see that this is done in future.

9. Agricultural Commodities Stabilization Account

The Committee noted that although an amount of $57.1 million, representing losses in the Agricultural Commodities Stabilization Account, was charged to a Department of Agriculture supplementary appropriation in 1964-65, there remained in the Account at March 31, 1965 an additional $1.3 million representing additional losses which must be charged to an appropriation in a subsequent year.

The Committee is of the opinion that losses should be charged to appropriations of the year in which they occur and recommends that the Department include a sufficient amount in its estimates each year for this to be done.

A copy of the relevant Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence (Issues Nos. 16 and 17) is appended.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 31 to the Journals).

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORT

3. Financial consequence of faulty ship design

The Committee was concerned to learn that although a mistake made by a naval architect had resulted in a number of structural changes in the construction of a vessel, as a consequence of which the vessel was to cost an additional $500,000, the architect was nevertheless paid his full fee of $117,000. No attempt had been made to seek damages from the architect apparently because of difficulty in establishing proof of loss to the Crown resulting from the mistake.

The Committee was pleased to hear that naval architects are now required to insure themselves for errors and omissions and would urge that this policy be strictly adhered to.

4. Repairs and alterations to Canadian Coast Guard ships

The Auditor General, in paragraph 85 of his 1964 Report, drew attention to an instance where a ship repairer commenced operations under a contract involving a consideration of $43,346 but the work actually performed under the contract amounted to $130,851 before the ship was returned to service.

The Committee appreciates the problem faced by the Department when ships for which certain repairs have been contracted for require additional repairs, the need for which is not evident until the ship is opened up.

The Committee also appreciates the danger pointed out by the Auditor General that a shipyard could deliberately bid too low for the repairs specified in order to get the ship into its yard, and then recoup any loss sustained by including excessive profits in charges for the carrying out of the additional work that is found to be required after the ship has been opened up. The Committee feels that everything possible should be done to assure the Canadian taxpayer that the tender system in the case of ship repairs is working to ensure that costs of these repairs are not excessive, and it discussed with departmental officers various ways in which this continuing problem might be overcome.

The Committee recommends that in addition to all other methods which the Department might be able to employ in controlling the cost of extras, ship repair contracts be drawn up to provide that when extras are involved they shall be undertaken on a cost-plus or modified cost-plus basis, the profit to be limited to the percentage of profit realized on the original contract price, with a proviso that no loss be suffered on the extras and with the entire contract subject to cost audit by Government auditors.

5. Defalcation at Gander International Airport

Members of the Committee were most concerned to learn that misappropriations ultimately resulting in a loss to the Crown of $42,800 had taken place without detection over a period of twelve years at the Gander International Airport.

Officers of the Department were queried as to what internal audit was in effect and why this would not have revealed the defalcation at an earlier date. The Committee was surprised to learn that the misappropriations had not been discovered despite audits made locally on an annual basis by staff of the Comptroller of the Treasury, or the Department, and on two occasions by the Auditor General.

The departmental officers agreed that financial control procedures had been faulty and assured the Committee that changes had been made which they felt were adequate to ensure that such an unsatisfactory situation could not again develop.

6. Cost of salvaging sunken vessel

The Committee considered the circumstances surrounding an expenditure of up to $455,000 which the Department of Transport had been required to undertake in order to recover a sunken vessel that had been abandoned by its owners, the oil cargo of which was a threat to waterfowl, marine life and coastal property.

The Committee recalled that Private Member's Bill C-202, which was given first reading in the House on June 17, 1966, sought to place the responsibility for such costs in future on the owner of the vessel, and it was interested to learn that the Department intended recommending that the responsibility for such costs be clearly established by statute when next the Canada Shipping Act is up for amendment.

The Committee is of the opinion that such costs should be the responsibility of the owner of the vessel and recommends that the Department take immediate steps to introduce the necessary legislation so that the Crown may be protected from such costs in future.

7. Cost of abandoned design plans for ferry vessel

The Committee discussed with officers of the Department of Transport and the Canadian National Railways the additional payment of $20,000 which had to be made to the architects who were preparing plans for a ferry vessel to operate between Newfoundland and the mainland.

In the opinion of the Committee this additional expenditure resulted because the Department and the C.N.R. had not come to an agreement as to whether the ferry vessel was to be a full icebreaker or simply an ice-strengthened ship, and emphatically states that the Department should ensure in future that agreement is reached before architects are asked to proceed with the preparation of plans.

Although the Treasury Board had approved payment to the architects of the final amount of $130,000 for the preparation of these plans, the Board had not been advised that this represented an increase of $20,000 over the amount which the architects had originally agreed to accept for the assignment.

The Committee feels very strongly that the Treasury Board must be given all facts when it is being requested to approve of contracts, and it urges the Department to see that future submissions to the Board are complete in this respect.

The Committee, recognizing that the ferries operated by the Canadian National Railways on behalf of the Department of Transport are in effect rail links, recommends that consideration be given to the assuming by the Railways of responsibility for the procurement of ferry vessels as is done with respect to rolling stock requirements.

8. Purchase and conversion of ferry vessel

The Committee heard from Department of Transport officers a summary of events leading up to the purchase from a Sorel shipyard in May, 1964, for the sum of $1,513,000 Canadian funds, of a ferry vessel which had been on the market for several years.

The Sorel shipyard had an option to purchase the vessel for $1,200,000 in United States funds and it exercised this option only after the Treasury Board had approved of the purchase of the vessel from the shipyard. At the time of authorizing the purchase, the Treasury Board had been informed that it was estimated that repairs and conversion would cost $750,000. In actual fact the final cost of this work carried out by the same shipyard amounted to $2,447,000.

The members of the Committee are concerned that a Canadian organization should make a substantial profit through exercising an option to acquire a ship after it was known that the Crown intended to purchase it and they wish to record the Committee's extreme displeasure with this transaction.

9. Cost of faulty planning in ferry design

A non-productive payment of $55,000 resulted when the architects working on the design of a new ferry vessel were told that provision would have to be made for rail car weights in excess of those contemplated in the original planning.

The Committee closely questioned witnesses from the Department of Transport and the Canadian National Railways in an attempt to ascertain why the proper specifications had not been established before the architects were asked to commence work. There is no question in the minds of the members of the Committee that liaison between the Department and the Railways was not as good as it should have been, but due to somewhat conflicting evidence it was not possible to establish definitely with which organization the responsibility lay.

The Committee requests the Department to see to it that in future, as directed by the Treasury Board, basic data be completely verified prior to placing it in the hands of architects for the preparation of plans and specifications.

10. Cost of "dead-freight"

The Committee heard explanations from officials of the Department of Transport and the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources concerning a charge of $44,000 against the appropriations of the Department of Transport representing the non-productive cost resulting from the short-shipment of 1,115 tons on a vessel chartered to carry equipment and supplies to the North in the summer of 1964.

The Committee was informed that the shipping space was not used because of the failure of supplies to arrive in Montreal before sailing time. The Committee was also informed by officers of the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources that to the extent possible that Department inserts penalty clauses in contracts in order to discourage tardy deliveries. In other instances, however, the time between the placing of a contract and northern shipping dates is so limited that penalty provisions will not be accepted by suppliers. The Committee urges that a more intensive effort be made to assess requirements sufficiently in advance of shipment to ensure that the safeguard of a penalty clause can be inserted in contracts.

The Committee also found that in actual fact the short-shipment resulted in additional loss because when the goods did arrive in Montreal they were sent to the North on another ship at approximately twice the cost of shipping goods on the Arctic resupply operation.

In the opinion of the Committee the cost and responsibility of this "dead-freight" should have been borne by the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources rather than the Department of Transport.

11. Subsidy for the construction of a floating fish processing plant, Liverpool, N.S.

In paragraph 137 of his 1965 Report the Auditor General explained how a subsidy of $191,000 had been paid in connection with the construction of a floating fish processing plant and he raised the question as to whether the subsidy program was intended to provide assistance for such a project.

Members of the Committee recalled that a statement on the Government's program to assist the shipbuilding industry, issued on January 17, 1966, made it clear that floating structures which are not considered to be vessels in the orthodox sense would not be eligible for subsidy in future. The Committee agrees with this policy and presumes that under it there can be no recurrence of the situation described by the Auditor General in his Report.

DEPARTMENT OF NORTHERN AFFAIRS AND NATIONAL RESOURCES

In paragraph 103 of his 1965 Report the Auditor General outlined eight serious deficiencies in the Department's financial control procedures at Fort Smith, N.W.T. The Committee was informed by the Deputy Minister of the Department that the situation had been as stated by the Auditor General. He ascribed it primarily to the fact that the Department had experienced great difficulty in recruiting clerks and accountants for Fort Smith, partially because the level of classification was not sufficiently high. The situation had been aggravated by the fact that in 1962-63 the Treasury Board had not permitted departments to fill vacancies until strength fell to 85% of the establishment previously authorized by the Board. Furthermore, the Department had concentrated on staffing its programs in the fields of education, welfare and engineering without sufficient personnel in the supporting services.

Although the Deputy Minister felt that the system of financial control set up by the Department would have proved satisfactory if its requirements had been met, nevertheless he agreed that at the administrative level there had been inadequacies. The Committee was pleased to learn that the Department had been strengthened by a reorganization of its total administration, including the introduction of positions for financial and management advisers. The Committee suggests that the reorganization extend to the establishment of an internal audit group with as little delay as possible.

13. Inadequate control of stores at northern locations

The Deputy Minister of the Department explained to the Committee that the unsatisfactory situation insofar as stores at northern locations are concerned, as described by the Auditor General, was due for the most part to lack of adequate staff during the austerity period in 1962 and 1963 and also to the difficulty which the Department had had in obtaining authority to employ personnel at a high enough level to provide the competence which was required. The difficulties which the Department was experiencing due to these factors were compounded by the sudden withdrawal of the United States Strategic Air Command from Frobisher Bay leaving the Department with substantial additional facilities and stores to look after.

The Deputy Minister indicated to the Committee that he was very much aware of the seriousness of the situation and stated that substantial progress has already been made in overcoming the problems he had mentioned.

The Committee regards this matter as being of the utmost importance and urges the Department to establish adequate controls on all stores in the North with the least possible delay.

The Committee appreciates the willingness and frankness of the witnesses in answering questions and offering other information when appearing before the Committee.

And a point of order having been raised;

RULING BY MR. SPEAKER

Mr. SPEAKER: I am grateful to honourable Members for the learned advice they have given the Chair and for their comments. I may say, however, that I am perhaps a little more confused now than I was 45 minutes ago when the discussion started.

When the points were raised originally I was under the impression that there was a more important obstacle or objection to the motion moved by the honourable Member for Grey-Bruce (Mr. Winkler) because there had been a disposition of at least one aspect of this matter during the course of the current session.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre (Mr. Knowles) and the Right Honourable Leader of the Opposition (Mr. Diefenbaker) disposed of this objection at least to some extent by pointing out that we have dealt with eligibility in respect of age and quantum of pensions and that this particular amendment would deal with the application of some kind of test. This is a valid argument which I might be prepared to accept. In any event I feel I should not rule on this point because it is in my opinion easier to rule on the second point.

I wish I were as sure of the opinion I am going to express now as the Right Honourable Leader of the Opposition was when he argued in support of this amendment. The objection I have in mind is the one brought to my attention by the honourable Member for Medicine Hat (Mr. Olson) and the Minister of National Health and Welfare (Mr. MacEachen) regarding the rule of anticipation which is referred to in citation 234(1) of Beauchesne's fourth edition. This has been referred to and quoted by honourable Members so I will not read it again. It is as well known to honourable Members as it is to me.

The honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre presented a very interesting argument when he claimed that perhaps this rule of anticipation is limited in its application and does not apply unless a certain stage has been reached in respect of a particular case. For my guidance he quoted a decision in which he had been involved in his capacity as a Member of Parliament. This was a ruling of the then Speaker of the House.

It seems there is a distinction in this regard because that ruling dealt with the case of two bills. The essence of the ruling of the then Speaker was to the effect that there is nothing in the rules which would prevent two or more similar bills being on the Order Paper at the same time and only one of them being discussed. In other words, one cannot raise the objection that a bill cannot be discussed because there is a similar bill on the Order Paper. The purport of the decision of Mr. Speaker Michener was that if no decision had been taken on one bill it was open to the House to discuss the other which happened to be before the House at the time. I am sure the honourable Member for Winnipeg North Centre will agree that there is a distinction between the two situations.

The reference to citation 131 by the honourable Minister of National Health and Welfare is very important. It is my belief that citation 234 should be read along with citation 131 and I will bring it again to the attention of honourable Members. Citation 131 reads in part as follows: "In applying the anticipation rule, preference is given to the discussions which lead to the most effective result, and this has established a descending scale of values for discussions—bills, motions, amendments, etc. Thus a bill must not be anticipated by...discussion of a motion, amendment, or subject raised on another motion.”

There is a precedent which I suggest to honourable Members is analogous or close to the situation we have at hand. I refer to a ruling of a Speaker as reported in the Journals of the House of Commons for 1955 at page 120. The Speaker reminded the House of the rule of anticipation and said: “In applying the anticipation rule preference is given to the discussion which leads to the most effective result, and this has established a descending scale of values for discussions—bills, motions, amendments, etc.”

In other words in my view there is a motion on the Order Paper proposed by the Minister of National Health and Welfare. Honourable Members have argued, and perhaps there is some merit to this argument, that there is some distinction between the two. However, in my mind it is basically the same subject matter and the same proposal.

What the honourable Member for Grey-Bruce is now proposing is that we should decide by way of an amendment what might be decided later when the House enters a discussion of a motion of the honourable Minister of National Health and Welfare. It has been suggested that by refusing this amendment we would preclude any possibility for discussing the proposal advanced by the honourable Member for Grey-Bruce. I suppose with some ingenuity an amendment could be moved on second reading of the Bill which will follow the resolution introduced by the Minister of National Health and Welfare.

I say by way of parenthesis that there will be other opportunities to discuss, consider and decide the very point raised by the honourable Member for Grey-Bruce in his amendment. I realize how important this matter is to that honourable Member who has been an advocate of the proposal outlined in his amendment. I know how anxious honourable Members are to consider this problem, but unless there is unanimous agreement in the House to go ahead with that discussion I think it is not open to the Chair to accept this amendment. Because of the procedural obstacles which I see to the amendment I regret very much that the Chair cannot accept it.

And debate continuing on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Mr. McIlraith,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply;

Mr. Douglas, seconded by Mr. Lewis, moved in amendment thereto,—That all the words after the word “That” be struck out and that the following words be substituted therefor:

“since the income of wage and salary earners has remained approximately the same and farm income has fallen as a proportion of the total national income over a period of years, this House regrets the failure of the government to introduce policies designed to produce an equitable distribution of rising productivity and national income among all groups in Canada, particularly in view of the rising cost of living.”

And debate arising thereon, by unanimous consent, the said debate was interrupted.

On motion of Mr. Cardin, seconded by Mr. McIlraith, it was resolved,—That a Joint Committee of both Houses of Parliament be appointed to enquire into and report on the expediency of presenting an address to His Excellency praying for the removal of Mr. Justice Leo Landreville from the Supreme Court of Ontario, in view of the facts, considerations and conclusions contained in the report of the Honourable Ivan C. Rand concerning the said Mr. Justice Leo Landreville, dated the 11th day of August, 1966 and tabled in the House of Commons on the 29th day of August, 1966;

That 12 Members of the House of Commons, to be designated later, be members of the Joint Committee on the part of this House;

That the Committee have power to appoint, from among its members, such sub-committees as may be deemed advisable or necessary; to call for persons, papers and records and to engage counsel, to sit while the House is sitting and to report from time to time;

That the Committee have power to print such papers and evidence from day to day as may be ordered by the Committee for its use and for the use of Parliament; and that Standing Order 66 of the House of Commons be suspended in relation thereto;

And that a message be sent to the Senate requesting that House to unite with this House for the above purpose and to select, if the Senate deems advisable, some of its Members to act on the proposed Joint Committee.

At 6.02 o'clock p.m., by unanimous consent, the sitting was suspended until 8.00 o'clock p.m.

Debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Mr. McIlraith,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply;

And on the proposed amendment thereto of Mr. Douglas, seconded by Mr. Lewis,—That all the words after the word "That" be struck out and that the following words be substituted therefor:

"since the income of wage and salary earners has remained approximately the same and farm income has fallen as a proportion of the total national income over a period of years, this House regrets the failure of the government to introduce policies designed to produce an equitable distribution of rising productivity and national income among all groups in Canada, particularly in view of the rising cost of living."

And debate continuing;

By unanimous consent, the House reverted to "Motions".

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. McNulty, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Hopkins be substituted for that of Mr. Comtois on the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications.

On motion of Mr. Pilon, seconded by Mr. McNulty, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Orlikow be substituted for that of Mr. Schreyer on the Special Joint Committee on Immigration; and

That a Message be sent to the Senate to acquaint Their Honours thereof.

(Proceedings on Adjournment Motion)

At 10.02 o'clock p.m., the question "That this House do now adjourn" was deemed to have been proposed pursuant to provisional Standing Order 39-A;

After debate thereon, the said question was deemed to have been adopted.

At 10.20 o'clock p.m., the House adjourned until tomorrow at 2.30 o'clock p.m.

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1966.

2.30 o'clock p.m.

PRAYERS.

Mr. Speaker, laid before the House,—Report of the Joint Committee on the Library of Parliament, which met on Thursday, November 17, 1966, concerning certain salary revisions in the Library of Parliament, which is as follows:

In order to bring the rates of pay of professional and non-professional classes in the Library of Parliament in line with the recently revised salaries paid for comparable positions in the Civil Service and those recently announced for the House of Commons classified staff, we recommend that employees of the Library of Parliament in the classifications listed hereunder be paid at the rate shown immediately below the rate paid on the effective date, and if appointed after such effective date or dates, the rate shown immediately below the rate paid on the date of appointment.

It is further recommended that said revision is to apply to employees and former employees of the Library of Parliament in the same manner as though they had been included in section 2B of the Retroactive Remuneration Regulations.

Some classes in the non-professional group received only interim salary revisions in 1965 and are further revised effective October 1, 1965. Where three salary ranges are shown for one class, the first range is the present salary, the second range marked A is the revised salary effective October 1, 1965 and the third range noted as B is the salary effective July 1, 1966. Where two salary ranges are shown, the revised rate will be effective July 1, 1966.

(1) Salaries and wages of positions in the Library of Parliament will be kept under continuing review but will from now on normally be revised once per year, effective July 1.

(2) It is recommended that Mr. Clyde Boehmer, Library Supervising Clerk, be paid at the rate of $7,900 per annum effective July 1, 1966.

Mr. Badanai, from the Standing Committee on Northern Affairs and National Resources, presented the Third Report of the said Committee, which is as follows:

1. Pursuant to its Order of Reference of Wednesday, July 13, 1966, your Committee utilized the authority granted to it relating to matters and projects dealing with northern development. Your Committee adjourned from place to place over the period July 28, 1966, to August 8, 1966, holding informal discussions with leaders and members of the communities visited and examining pertinent places and projects, in both the east and west of northern Canada.

2. The communities visited were, in order: Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island; Coral Harbour on Southampton Island; Cambridge Bay on Victoria Island; Inuvik, Fort McPherson, Arctic Red River, Tuktoyaktuk and Aklavik, all in the District of Mackenzie; Whitehorse, Dawson City and Clinton Creek, all in the Yukon Territory; Pine Point, Fort Smith, Hay River and Yellowknife, all in the District of Mackenzie; Churchill, Manitoba.

3. Following upon the valuable experience afforded by the tour, your Committee is of the opinion that it is now in a significantly improved position to consider matters which may be referred to it in the future in relation to Canada's north. Furthermore, it is recommended that consideration be given to empowering this Committee periodically, say once every two or three years, to adjourn from place to place within Canada on the matter of northern development, in order that its members may keep informed of problems and progress.

(a) Northwest Territories

4. While much progress has been made in the Northwest Territories in dealing with the basic needs of health, welfare, housing, education, many problems remain in both the areas of human and physical development.

5. Health: The Department of National Health and Welfare provides a reasonably adequate program, although at some isolated communities in the higher Arctic, there is a need for preventative medical inspection services and it is recommended that they be flown in at regular intervals to complement the flying ambulance service which is provided only after illness has developed.

6. Housing: Housing in the north varies from reasonably good to completely inadequate. While housing programs have been organized over recent years, the level of housing for Indian and Eskimo people is below reasonable southern standards. There is an urgent need for improvement at Tuktoyaktuk, Aklavik, and Churchill, although in Aklavik a workshop had been established during this past summer for the purpose of prefabricating housing for erection in communities in the area. The Committee regrets that it was unable to see the initial result of the new Eskimo housing program; this was not possible as the sealift in the Eastern Arctic arrived after the Committee's visit to that area. In any case, your Committee recommends that the government consider increasing that part of the adult education program designed to improve the use and repair of housing by indigenous peoples.

7. Utilidor in Inuvik: During a meeting in Inuvik, N.W.T., some private residents and some representing business requested extension of the utilidor system to serve them in that community's west end. Your Committee recommends that the government give immediate consideration to their request.

8. Game Regulation: Your Committee heard evidence that, in the eastern and central arctic, migratory game fowl leave the Northwest Territories by the time the hunting season opens on September 1st. Your Committee therefore recommends that the Canadian government enter into negotiations with the United States and Mexican governments with a view to advancing the opening day of the migratory bird season in the areas of the Northwest Territories where this is necessary.

9. In some Communities your Committee received requests from long term non indigenous residents that they be allowed hunting privileges. Your Committee recommends that the Northwest Territories Council review the possibility of granting hunting licences to non indigenous residents of the Northwest Territories who have been residents, of the particular regions in which they reside, for a period of at least 5 years. The granting of such hunting privileges should, in all instances, be limited to species in adequate supply and should not be granted in any region where such hunting might adversely affect the livelihood of the indigenous peoples of that region.

10. Radio: In various communities, your Committee received requests for extension of radio services, for improved quality of broadcasts in some places, in other places for extension of coverage over greater distances. Your Committee appreciates the importance of radio to life in the isolated northern communities, and recommends that the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation consider making it possible for Canadians in the north to be better served by radio.

11. Education: Remarkable progress has been made in the field of education. In 1955, only fifteen per cent of the young people of the Northwest Territories was in school. Now almost eighty-five per cent is attending.

12. In many communities, concern was expressed that the policy of housing younger school children in residential hostels, in major communities away from home, was having a harmful effect on the family and the community. Recognizing that younger children whose parents live from the land are the ones affected, it is recommended that consideration be given to accelerating the local hostel program so that children at the elementary school level can stay in hostels in their home communities.

13. With regard to the hostel type of program for high school students, there were complaints that the high school curriculum was not sufficiently geared to the needs of the north. There is an urgent need for training programs related to employment opportunities that will provide northern young people with both the skills and motivations necessary to obtain and retain employment.

14. Your Committee is convinced of the mining potential of the Northwest Territories and is equally convinced that mining exploration, prospecting and other mining trades and technologies are the most promising area of future employment for the indigenous people. Your Committee urges the government to widen its program, in co-operation with the mining industry, for the training of Indian and Eskimo manpower in the mining trades, including mining trade schools located in northern mining centres and including subsidized on-the-site training.

15. Older residents expressed concern about the lack of adult education facilities. Your Committee recommends that adult education be more fully developed to assist in community cohesion and development.

16. Employment of Indigenous Peoples: Your Committee heard evidence that not all government departments, crown corporations and private companies under contract with the government were making adequate efforts to employ the local indigenous people. The Committee heard particular evidence at Tuktoyaktuk that the Northern Transportation Company, a Crown Corporation, was not employing as many local people as it could. Your Committee therefore recommends that the government exert direct pressure for adoption of a hiring policy favouring the employment of permanent residents of the Northwest Territories.

17. Your Committee urges that the government undertake a census of unemployed Indians and Eskimos in order to provide a basis for the application of the government's designated area program to areas presently not designated, because unemployed Eskimos, Indians and Metis are not registered with the National Employment Service.

18. In many communities, your Committee heard evidence that fur prices were subject to severe fluctuations to the detriment of those dependent upon trapping for a livelihood. Your Committee therefore urges the government to consider undertaking a study of more orderly marketing procedures.

19. Standards of Living: Not only did your Committee observe differences in standards of living between whites and indigenous peoples, reflecting varying levels of income, but also, your Committee heard complaints about differences in standards of living between employees of equivalent rank in different government departments. This latter situation is a cause of discontent among administrators and your Committee recommends that the government consider bringing the lower standard up to the higher standard as soon as possible.

20. Social Contacts: Due to language, historic and present-day differences, there are problems in social mixing of the indigenous peoples with whites where they live together in communities. The lack of communication between the indigenous and white peoples in Inuvik, Fort Smith and Hay River was markedly apparent to your Committee. In other communities, such as Frobisher Bay, Cambridge Bay and Tuktoyaktuk, this situation was not as apparent. Individual Committee members heard many comments about this matter and it is your Committee's impression that the government could give more leadership by placing greater emphasis on orientation of civil servants before posting to the north and more emphasis on community development in northern communities.

21. Self Government: There is a growing demand in all parts of the Northwest Territories for a greater degree of self determination and self government. Local Advisory Councils placed this issue as a number one priority.

22. Many northerners expressed an interest in the then unpublished Report of the Advisory Commission on the Development of Government in the Northwest Territories ("The Carrothers Report"). Your Committee is of the opinion that it should now hear the views of the Northwest Territories Council and then review the Report in the light of the Council's views.

(b) Yukon Territory

23. The Yukon has its problems, but it is in a generally more advanced stage of community life and government.

24. Local spokesmen felt that the time had come to give more executive responsibility to the Yukon Territorial Council. In this regard, it is recommended that the government give consideration to advancing firm proposals at the earliest date in consultation with Yukon people.

25. Your Committee noted some serious substandard housing conditions in the city of Whitehorse and recommends to the federal government, the Territorial Council and the Whitehorse City Council, a National Housing Act low-rent housing program. Your Committee also recommends that adult education similar to that in the Northwest Territories be introduced in the Yukon for indigenous people, in the use and repair of housing.

(c) Economic Development—Northwest and Yukon Territories

26. Vital to the viability of the north is the future of its economy and your Committee is of the opinion that every feasible means should be used to encourage private industry and commerce to establish and expand in northern Canada.

27. Your Committee notes with approval such programs, developed in recent years, as Roads to Resources, the Northern Roads Program, the Resource Airport and Airport Development Programs, the Northern Mineral Assistance Grants, and education and housing programs having indirect and valuable effects. Your Committee urges the government to persist in these measures and to consider implementing additional programs which may be useful, particularly in the fields of minerals, petroleum, forests and tourism.

28. Your Committee is of the opinion that the growth of the economies of the Yukon and Northwest Territories is inhibited by high transportation costs and therefore recommends that the government consider implementing measures to reduce such costs, to bring them more in line with those prevailing in other areas of the country. Your Committee notes with approval the recent federal government announcement of a study into alternate transportation routes in the Yukon.

29. Your Committee found an important undeveloped potential for tourism throughout the north and urges expansion of existing programs, including parks, campsites and recreational areas. Your Committee also suggests to the government that a feasibility study be undertaken for insect control at these tourist areas, in the Northwest Territories and in the Yukon Territory.

30. Your Committee extends its appreciation to all persons who assisted in arranging its tour of the north and to all those in the north who extended their hospitality to the Committee.

31. One of the Committee's relevant Proceedings, Issue No. 16, includes a Post-Trip Summary which provides a day-to-day account of the Committee's activities and of the many matters discussed with the peoples of Canada's north.

32. A copy of the relevant Proceedings (Issues Nos. 16 to 18) is appended.

(The Minutes of Proceedings and Evidence accompanying the said Report recorded as Appendix No. 33 to the Journals).

On motion of Mr. McNulty, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Byrne be substituted for that of Mr. Jamieson on the Standing Committee on Transport and Communications.

On motion of Mr. McNulty, seconded by Mr. Deachman, it was ordered,—That the name of Mr. Kindt be substituted for that of Mr. Cadieu (Meadow Lake) on the Standing Committee on Northern Affairs and National Resources.

The House resumed debate on the motion of Mr. Sharp, seconded by Mr. McIlraith,—That Mr. Speaker do now leave the Chair for the House to resolve itself into Committee of Supply;

And on the motion of Mr. Douglas, seconded by Mr. Lewis, in amendment thereto,—That all the words after the word "That" be struck out and that the following words be substituted therefor:

"since the income of wage and salary earners has remained approximately the same and farm income has fallen as a proportion of the total national income over a period of years, this House regrets the failure of the government to introduce policies designed to produce an equitable distribution of rising productivity and national income among all groups in Canada, particularly in view of the rising cost of living."

And debate continuing;

A Message was received from the Senate informing this House that the Senate had passed Bill C-241, An Act to amend the National Housing Act, 1954, without amendment.
